LIVINGSTON DEFIES MAYOR KLINE

Today

This Old, Old Earth.
The Smallest Light.
A G. M. of the Air.
Unlike Salome.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1928.)

HOW long has this earth been whirling around the sun, following a spiral path through endless space?

Profs. Camp and Vanderhoff, of California University, don't know exactly. But in New Mexico they have found fossils going back 75,000,000 years. Some "as recent as 7,000,000 years ago."

NATIVES employed to dig the fossils "are deeply religious. They castigate themselves with whips, wear cactus in their sandals as penance for their sins."

If they knew how old the earth was, and knew that it would keep on rolling for at least 1,000 million years longer, they would postpone the cactus.

THE University of Pittsburgh has developed a point of light so small that only a microscope can detect it.

The light comes from the point of a quartz pencil finer than the point of a needle. Ultra-violet light applied to the big end of the pencil produces the world's tiniest light, that will be used under the microscope "to pick up single cells."

With this quartz pencil, ultraviolet rays may be introduced directly into individual diseased cells, not wasting their energy in penetrating outside tissues.

THE most important airplane news concerns the organization of a "General Motors of the Air," under the wing of New York's National City Bank.

A few weeks ago, Charles E. Mitchell, president of the bank, and his friends in aviation, acquired the Boeing Airplane Company of Seattle, which runs air lines from Chicago to San Francisco and Seattle.

NOW the National City crowd takes in the Pratt and Whitney Company that manufactures the "Wasp" and "Hornet" air-cooled engines, and the very successful Vought Company.

That air unit now amounts to $150,000,000 and will grow. Watch it. But don't gamble in airplane stocks. They are dangerous.

"WHITEY" SHEPHARD, sentenced to die in Georgia yesterday, demanded that Duvie Braswell, witness against him in his trial, and now a prisoner at Milledgeville prison, should witness his execution.

"I want her to see the current going through my body. Then she will take back her lies," says "Whitey." Miss Duvie is understood to have said, "I am too much of a lady to watch any gentleman die."

Salome, who danced the "seven veils" for the pleasure of having a man beheaded, was a different kind of lady.

EXPERIMENTS with a short wave of the new "beam wireless" show that two or three telegraphic messages and a talking voice could all go over the interesting beam at the same time.

Singing from a distant town, and two Morse telegraph messages came over the same aerial, receiving on the same apparatus. The world of science is getting complicated.

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., wants to know why Mrs. Brown moved to Mr. Heidelberger's farm to be housekeeper, while Mrs. Heidelberger moved to Mr. Brown's farm to be housekeeper, each taking her children with her.

The horrified community calls it "a case of two wives swapping husbands." That very thing is done, less informally, in high society, after a trip to Paris or Reno.

AFTER a month's desperate illness, King George still continues his courageous fight for life. No better Christmas present could come to the British people than news of the King's recovery. If he does recover it will be due, largely, to his wise and temperate living since boyhood.

FIVE MILLION DOLLARS' worth of habit-forming drugs, cocaine, etc., were taken in one New York seizure on Tuesday.

How much "light beer and wine" would it take to do as much harm as $5,000,000 worth of drugs can do?

EARNEST prohibitionists will say "we don't want beer and wine OR drugs."

Unfortunately, a choice between the two appears to be compulsory. Where you can't have one, you have the other.

SENATOR DURANT, of Connecticut, having made arrangements with an air company, will fly every week to spend Sunday at his winter home in Palm Beach, Fla. He finds he can make the trip comfortably in 10 hours. That will seem slow in a year or two.

S. R. CAPPS, geologist, and Gerald Fitzgerald, topographic engineer, made an exploring trip in Alaska by airplane. Ordinarily, a pack train takes three weeks for that trip through the mountains. The airplane made it in one hour and a quarter. That is why the airplane is coming.

KILLING PROBERS SEIZE NEW "MRS. HELDMAN"

ARTHUR C. GOEBEL

Arthur C. Goebel, holder of flying records and one of the outstanding pilots in the country, after an operation in Wichita (Kan.) Hospital for appendicitis, is reported today in "satisfactory condition."

KING BELIEVED BEYOND DANGER

By HARRY FLORY.
International News Service.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—King George's progress towards recovery is now established "on a firmer basis," the attending physicians announced at Buckingham Palace late this afternoon. The King's heart action is stronger.

This bulletin, which was issued after a consultation by five of the royal physicians, says:

"A consultation has taken place in order to make a comprehensive survey of His Majesty's present progress, and to discuss lines along which treatment in the immediate future can best proceed.

"The condition of the right side of the chest is improved, and there is evidence of a more normal respiratory function.

"Healing of the empyema with its severe local infection, though satisfactory, must of necessity be a lengthy process. The heart is slowly gaining power and, while exhaustion remains profound, a slight access of general strength is noticeable.

"The further course of the illness must, from its nature, be slow and not without difficulty, but we are happy to state that the King's progress is established on a firmer basis."

Black Eye Gilda's Gift to Husband

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Gil Boag, sued for divorce in Wisconsin by Gilda Gray of the movies, has a "shiner"—a big black eye he describes as a Christmas card from Gilda. He says two men beat him up and told him the beating was a Christmas present from Gilda.

SUSPECT IN FEARN CASE

International News Service.

AKRON, O., Dec. 20.—Maude Radcliffe, 35, said to have been living under the name of Maude Heldman, was taken into custody here today by Deputy Sheriff Harvey Schwartz, of Canton, who immediately returned her to that city for questioning in connection with the Fearn-Heldman case.

She is said to have told the deputy that she was the common-law wife of Wilbur O. Heldman, and lived with him for a number of years before his marriage, 15 months ago, to Margaret Horner.

Heldman, who says his wife, Margaret, confessed to him that she murdered Vernard Fearn, a week ago, and then killed herself as he was taking her to the sheriff, is in jail at Canton, as a coroner's witness. Authorities there are investigating his past.

Boy Kiss Slayer Gets Long Sentence

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(INS.)—Vincent Rice, 17, high school boy who pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the midst of his trial for strangling Alice Joost, 15, his sweetheart, on November 2, was sentenced to serve from 20 years to life in state prison today.

The girl was struck and then strangled with an electric cord, Rice said, after she had tried to kiss him.

G. P. Hedricks, Head Of Painters, Dies

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—George P. Hedricks, 64, of this city, for the last 20 years international president of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers, died late last night at Dunville, Ont. He was en route from Albany to the brotherhood's headquarters in Lafayette, Ind., when he was stricken with heart disease.

Letter Threatens Kidnap Trial Judge

MELLON SCORES GARNER AS GARBLER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—The charge made by Representative Garner (Dem.), Texas, in the House, that Secretary Mellon had misrepresented the condition of the Treasury in Congress, drew from the Secretary a retort today that Garner had employed "wrong figures which do not fit the facts."

"The Treasury makes a statement and has the responsibility for it," Mr. Mellon said. "Mr. Garner makes a statement and has no responsibility."

Under Secretary Mills joined the discussion by declaring that there would be no deficit in government funds in 1929 "unless Congress spends more money."

ATTACKS TREASURER

Garner, in the course of a general attack on Mellon and the Treasury yesterday, had declared the Secretary had sent to Congress conflicting estimates as to possible surpluses and deficits. Secretary Mellon said

Myers Quits Trade Commission Job

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(INS.)—Abraham Myers, whose appointment to the Federal Trade Commission was fought by Senate progressives, tendered his resignation to President Coolidge today. He will enter the employ of motion picture interests. The president is hopeful Myers will remain on the job until the commission has concluded some of its pending investigations. Myers formerly was with the Department of Justice.

'WON'T WED HIM' GIRL CRIES

BERKELEY, Cal., Dec. 20.—"I won't marry him! I won't, I won't!"

In these words, uttered on the Overland Limited as the train drew near Berkeley today, Ruth McConnell, beautiful 26-year-old heiress of New York, shed some light upon the reason for the dramatic pursuit of her across the continent.

Close in pursuit an airplane was reported piloted by Francis D. Bowham bearing Dr. O. D. Meeker, of Rochester, N. Y., bent upon catching up with the fleeing heiress.

"UNCLE" WAITS IN EAST

Back in New York, Kenneth E. Coulter, treasurer of the Carolina Southern Railway, said to be an uncle of the girl, is said to be watching the race with interest, but refusing to reveal the reasons behind it.

F. E. Lane, pullman conductor, said the young woman had confided that she was coming West for a vacation and to avoid marrying Coulter, whom, he declared, the girl said was not her uncle, but was an acquaintance who had sought her hand in marriage.

In Rochester today Coulter, Clifton Springs dairy owner, said that Meeker had followed Miss McConnell by train and airplane because he heared that due to recent illness she was unfitted to make the journey to her California home alone. He said the girl was his niece and Meeker a friend of long standing.

PITTSBURGHER HURT ON SHIP

Adolph Edlis, former city treasurer, is in the American Hospital in Paris recovering from a fracture of the knee suffered in an accident on the steamship Aquitania, he notified his son, Jerome Edlis, of Pittsburgh, today.

The president of the Edlis Barber Supply Company, Inc., wrote that during a storm at sea he was thrown to the deck of the liner.

Edlis lives at 1416 Euclid avenue. He sailed for Europe on December 5, planning to spend three months there.

Coolidge to Pose For New Picture

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—President Coolidge consented to have his portrait painted for the new building of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society. Clarence W. Bowen, president of the society, who was presented at the White House by Senator Bingham, of Connecticut, made the request.

Canada-Cuba Flier Hops Off for Tulsa

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Leonard Flo, of Ann Arbor, Mich., who recently was forced down in Florida on a non-stop flight from Canada to Cuba, hopped off for Tulsa, Okla., at 10:45 a. m. today after spending the night here. His plane developed motor trouble yesterday afternoon and he brought it down here for repairs.

JURY SPURNS SNIFTERS, ASKS QUART OF EVIDENCE

A half dozen "snifters" was not sufficient for a jury to decide the guilt or innocence of Edward W. Johnson, proprietor of a pharmacy at 1665 Broadway, Beechview. He was tried before Judge Nelson McVicar in Federal Court today on a charge of possessing 495 counterfeit strip whisky stamps.

The jury asked for and obtained a full quart, alleged to have been seized with the stamps.

When the jury retired they took with them four or five bottles, each containing a small amount of whisky, but before they reached their room to deliberate they sent Messenger William Allen to Judge McVicar for a full quart. Their request was granted. They later found a verdict of not guilty.

LONDON SHAKEN BY BLASTS

LONDON, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—West and Central London were given a startling reminder of war-time air raids today when exploding gas mains caused a miniature earthquake that heaved up long stretches of streets and caved in shop fronts.

Soon after mid-day another explosion took place some distance from the original trouble. Flames enveloped two six-story buildings which roared away simultaneously with the flaming gas in the road. The occupants were able to get out unharmed.

The first explosion was followed by a series of shocks along the street, flinging curbstones into the air, knocking down pedestrians and shattering shop windows.

Seventeen persons were injured seriously enough to be sent to hospitals while many suffered minor hurts, being treated at the scene or returning to their homes.

Shaftsbury avenue, New Oxford street and streets in Bloomsbury were the principal ones affected and the damage extended over more than a mile of pavement.

Strong 'Quake Shock Hits Palermo, Sicily

PALERMO, Sicily, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—A strong earthquake shock lasting several seconds woke up the city at 12:35 a. m. today. There was no damage. The shock was of an undulatory character.

GIRL FLIER SETS NEW RECORD

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Miss Viola Gentry came down out of the rain-filled skies at 1:51 o'clock this afternoon after establishing an endurance solo flight record for women of eight hours, six minutes and 37 seconds. She made a perfect landing despite the heavy rain and showed no fatigue from her hours in the air.

Miss Gentry is a native of North Carolina, and a former member of the office staff of the Roosevelt Field Flying School. The former record for women, seven hours and thirty-seven minutes, was held by Lady Heath, the English aviatrix.

Bank Bandits Snatch $1,210, Miss $10,000

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Three bandits who held up a suburban branch of the Los Angeles First National Bank yesterday, escaped with $1,210, but overlooked $10,000 in bills originally believed to have been stolen, a check-up by bank officials showed.

The robbers, a Negro and two white men, were unmasked. They entered the bank after firing a bullet through a plate glass window to intimidate employes. Three tellers were lined up against the wall by one of the gang while the other two bandits scooped up the cash.

DEMANDS SPECIFIC CAUSE OF "FIRING"

Terming Mayor Charles H. Kline's "good of the service" reason for his discharge as "vague and evasive," Murray Livingston, who was suspended as chief inspector of weights and measures, today demanded the Mayor furnish explicit reasons for the dismissal. The demand was made in a letter addressed to the Mayor.

Livingston was suspended shortly after his testimony before the Civil Service Commission resulted in the reinstatement of A. L. Nolan as an inspector in the bureau of weights and measures.

POLITICS BLAMED

Livingston testified Nolan had been discharged by Mayor Kline for political reasons.

In his letter today Livingston stated he had filled the position for many years, and still was able in every way to continue to do so. He demanded from the Mayor a written statement of more specific reasons.

If the Mayor's reply is not satisfactory to Livingston, the latter may appeal within five days for a public hearing before the Civil Service Commission.

LETTER TO MAYOR

Livingston's letter to Mayor Kline read:

"I have your letter of December, 15, 1928, which is as follows:

"'This is to notify you that you are hereby suspended from your duties as chief inspector of the division of weights, and measures for the following reason: For the good of the service.

"'If within five days you fail to make satisfactory answer, you will be permanently discharged from the service of the City of Pittsburgh.

"'Sincerely yours,
"'CHARLES H. KLINE,
"'Mayor.'

"This letter was delivered to me on December 15, 1928.

"I hereby protest against the action you have already taken and your contemplated action permanently to discharge me from the service of the City of Pittsburgh, and demand that you furnish me with a written statement of the reasons for such action.

"The reason assigned by you for my suspension and for my contemplated discharge 'for the good of the service' is vague, indefinite, uncertain and evasive, and does not set forth any reason for my suspension or for my contemplated discharge. I deny that my suspension or my discharge is proper or based upon any valid reason, and that neither is proper or required 'for the good of the service.'

"I have been continuously in the employ of the city for approximately 27 years. I entered the service of the City of Pittsburgh as ordinance officer in the Department of Public Safety in the year 1903, continuing in that capacity until during the year 1911, when I was appointed by the Honorable William A. Magee to the position of chief inspector of weights and measures. I have continued as chief inspector of weights and measures since that time.

"I have always performed my

SNOW, COLDER TO BRING CHRISTMAS TINGE HERE

Snow flurries accompanied by a drop in temperature will lend a Christmas aspect to the holiday shopping season, it was announced at the weather bureau today.

No heavy snowfall is anticipated, however, the district south of the Great Lakes apparently escaping the heavy fall, which swept eastward. Buffalo, with four inches of snow, was the only city to report real Christmas weather.

Winter comes in reality tomorrow, the shortest day of the year. The official beginning of winter is set at 9:04 p. m., and by that time it is expected there will be, quite appropriately, a further drop in temperature.

The freezing mark was reached this morning here, while in Columbus and Indianapolis the mercury was down to 24. Points farther west recorded still lower temperatures. This high-pressure area is moving eastward and should bring a temperature of 24 tomorrow.

WILKINS SOLVES ANTARCTIC GEOGRAPHICAL MYSTERY

ANNOUNCES DISCOVERY OF STRAIT

By CAPT. SIR HUBERT WILKINS
(Commander of the Wilkins-Hearst Antarctic Expedition.

DECEPTION ISLAND (Antarctica), Dec. 20.—(Via Whaler Hektoria and KUP, San Francisco Examiner Wireless Station)—Graham Land is separated from the great polar continent by an ice-filled channel!

The question that has puzzled geographers for ages was solved by us today.

A flight in the Lockheed monoplane "San Francisco" beyond the volcanic mountains of Graham Land, enabling us to see 650 miles south of here over the Antarctic continent, proved conclusively that the range does not extend uninterruptedly. It previously has been the belief of science that the mountains, extending in Graham Land south of Cape Horn, went on into the great southmost continent towards the Pole, and perhaps beyond.

DISCOVERY IMPORTANT

A fortunate set of circumstances enabled us today to disprove that and to gain a most important insight into the geographical formation of the little known land of ice.

Had our flight total been made from the Ross barrier it would have enabled us to see the vicinity of the pole. But we are extremely happy over the important discovery the day brought us.

OVER ICE-STREWN WATER

Once off the ground, we believed our greatest difficulty was over, but there faced us the hazard of a 100-mile flight over ice-strewn water and onward over mountains mostly covered with hundreds of feet of ice and on which the recently fallen snow lay deep and soft.

A landing anywhere on the trip would had meant nothing less than a wrecked machine and a journey back on foot—that is, if, after the crash, we could use our feet.

Tomorrow I will tell how we came to a channel in the mountain chain and then another and then a wide strait separating the mountains from the Polar continent. Tonight, after having had no sleep for 40 hours, and after a flight of 1,200 miles in nine hours and 25 minutes we are tired and weary, but our successful flight has enabled us to prove that our luck still holds.

duties honestly, intelligently and faithfully, and I submit that my services in my said position have always been satisfactory, that my behavior has been good and that I have been guilty of no act or omission of any kind that could in any sense be construed a detriment to the service. I allege in support of my denial, that I am fitted physically, mentally and otherwise to perform the duties of chief inspector of weights and measures, and cite in support of this claim the fact that I have been continued by several successive administrations in said position. I also claim that nothing has developed since my retention in your administration to change the circumstances as above stated."

he could not enter into a debate with Mr. Garner, but he observed that budget estimates submitted to Congress were prepared by the budget bureau and not the Treasury. Garner had charged also that the United States Steel Corporation would receive $65,000,000 through tax refunds agreed upon through settlements with the Treasury, and Mellon reiterated his declaration that Garner's figures did not fit facts in the tax refund cases.

"As far as the Treasury is concerned," he said, "our figures are correct and we haven't made any mistakes."

Mr. Mellon said that tax refunds needed for each fiscal year were estimated by the internal revenue bureau and while they could not estimate exactly the amount that would be allowed by court decisions and agreements settling claims, that they were "remarkably close."

Official Ends Life, Run Closes Bank

AMHERST, O., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—The Amhest Savings and Banking Company was closed this morning by State Superintendent of Banks E. H. CHARLEROI, Pa., Dec. 20.—Complaints that local pool rooms were remaining open all night and were being frequented by boys resulted in Burgess S. L. Woodward issuing an order that all pool rooms must be closed by midnight.

EX-PITTSBURGH WOMAN FEARED LOST IN CANYON

Bessie Haley Hyde, 23, a former Pittsburgher, and her husband, Glenn Hyde, are believed lost, if not drowned, on the Colorado River in the Grand Canyon, Arizona.

Two Army aviators, flying over the canyon yesterday, reported seeing a stranded boat, believed the one in which the young couple left Green River, Utah, last October 22, for a vacation trip to Needles, Cal. The boat was described as a double-bottomed affair made of two-by-four planks of 20-feet length.

The aviators said the boat contained bedding and camping supplies.

Mrs. Hyde is a niece of M. U. Haley, of the Fairfax Apartments. She attended Pittsburgh schools until a few years ago. She moved to Parkersburg with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Haley.

In one of her letters Mrs. Hyde said she was making the trip for a thrill. Since 1869 only 10 successful trips have been made by boat through the Grand Canyon.

Flying Parson Gets Mail Pilot Permit

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—The Rev. Theophilus Lee, Jr., a Methodist preacher, became a full fledged airmail pilot today when Postmaster General New approved his application to fly with the mail between Los Angeles and Seattle. The Rev. Mr. Lee already had the right to call himself a flying parson, having a transport license from the Department of Commerce and a flying record of more than 800 hours in the air. He recently has been pastor of Wesley Church in San Francisco and has taught school in Hawaii.

Wreck Fatal to 4 Laid to Quarrel Of Dispatchers

WARSAW, Poland, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—An argument between two train dispatchers as to which should have the right of way for a freight from his station caused a wreck at Wielen in which four trainmen lost their lives, an official investigation has developed. The trains, traveling from opposite stations, met with such force that 33 cars were smashed.

ICE FLOES HOLD BYRD SHIP

LONDON, Dec. 20.—(INS.)—Heavy seas and thick ice floes are delaying the Antarctic expedition of Commander R. E. Byrd, said advices from Dunedin, N. Z., today.

The steamship Eleanor Bolling has returned to Dunedin after an unsuccessful attempt to tow the supply ship City of New York further South. Heavy seas caused the tow line to break twice. The ice pack is the thickest in 13 years. The ship was docked to enable the crew to fit a new propeller.

The Eleanor Bolling will shortly leave for the South with an airplane and other supplies.

NEW AIR-LINE PLANE BUILT

KEYPORT, N. J., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—An all-metal monoplane built to carry 20 passengers was completed today and put aboard a barge for the Newark Air Field.

The ship was made for P. W. Chapman, of New York and Chicago, under the name Sky Lines, Inc., to fly between New York and Chicago in six hours or less. It has an estimated high speed of 175 miles an hour.

The outstanding new feature of the plane is the width of the fuselage, 11 feet, nearly twice the usual width. This makes possible the installation of two engines in the nose of the fuselage.

Test flights are expected to be made at Newark field under direction of Leigh Wade, one of the United States Army round-the-world fliers.

S-4 TESTS HELD SUCCESS

NEW LONDON, Dec. 20.—The submarine S-4 reached its home port here last night after being "rescued" from the bottom of the sea. It had been submerged 49 hours.

The submarine was sunk deliberately Monday morning in the first of a series of tests to determine the value of the new safety devices for under-sea craft. A year ago 40 men lost their lives when the S-4 was rammed and sunk off Provinceton, Mass.

The experiment was pronounced a success. Divers worked for two days to attach chains to the huge "eyes" recently installed on both sides of the craft. At first efforts to raise the S-4 failed, but it was finally shot to the surface by pumping air into the submarine from the diving ship Falcon.

HOOVER TO REST IN FLORIDA

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(INS.)—President-elect Herbert Hoover plans "a protracted stay" at Miami Beach., Fla., upon his return from his South American cruise about January 7, it was learned here today.

Mr. Hoover has accepted the offer of J. C. Penney, chain store magnate, to occupy his palatial residence on Belle Isle, which connects with the beach via a causeway. The adjoining residence of Joseph Adams, an oil man, will be used for offices.

Arrangements for Mr. Hoover's stay in Florida have just been completed by Lawrence Richey, confidential secretary, who returned to Washington today from the South.

Mr. Hoover is the second incoming President to choose Florida as a sanctuary from which to escape the politicians and select his cabinet. The late President Harding made headquarters at St. Augustine in 1920 while he selected his official family.

FACES RIO STORM

RIO JANEIRO, Brazil, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—With Brazilian forts and battleships firing 21 gun salutes in honor of President-elect Hoover, and the Utah replying in kind, wether prophets in Rio Janeiro are wondering whether the distinguished American guests may not step ashore in the midst of one of Rio's tropical downpours tomorrow.

The Utah will sail on the last lap of the journey home at noon Sunday and the Hoover party will spend Christmas Day aboard ship.

Safe-Crackers Miss Fortune in Bonds

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 20.—Yeggs who cracked the big steel safe in the Shinnston Wholesale Company's house at Shinnston early this morning got $434 in cash, but in their haste overlooked a batch of several thousand dollars worth of Italian government coupon bonds.

WITCHCRAFT BLAMED AS BABY DIES

LEBANON, Pa., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Another entry has been added to the list of innocent victims of witchcraft and the prevalence of "pow-wowing" in Pennsylvania German communities with the death near here of a 3-month-old infant.

Verling John Davis, infant son of Mrs. Verna Davis, 19, of Fredericksburg, a suburb, died after having been given two "pow-wow" treatments by a "doctor" living in Berks county, J. Herbert Manbeck, Lebanon county coroner said yesterday, after an investigation into the cause of death. The baby was found dead in bed from malnutrition.

His death was due, Coroner Manbeck said, not to the kind of treatment he received from the witch doctor, but rather from a lack of medical attention.

MRS. COOLIDGE AT MOTHER'S BEDSIDE

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—For the seventh time in the little more than a year that her mother has been confined to the Dickinson Hospital here, Mrs. Calvin Coolidge was in this city today to visit at the bedside of the aged sufferer.

She arrived from Washington last night, accompanied by a secret service operative, and went directly to the home of Mrs. R. B. Hills, an old friend.

The mother of the President's wife, Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, has been reported to be growing steadily weaker but there has been no sudden change in her condition.

Mrs. Collidge's last visit was on election day when she and the President cast their ballots here.

'WILL NOT WED,' SOBS GIRL

DON'T LOVE HIM

And—She does not love him.

The girl was near collapse when the Oveland left Benecia this morning on the last lap of the race. At one time she was given restoratives by the train crew.

SLIPS ACROSS BAY

With her went a woman companion.

Twenty minutes later she reappeared at the Southern Pacific mole and borded a ferry for San Francisco.

From the moment she alighted from the taxi she kept her face covered by the collar of the heavy fur coat she wore. Her form shook with sobs as her companion led her to the ferry.

She was reported to be well supplied with money and passports, but her plans on reaching San Francisco she declined to reveal.

Miss McConnell was reported to have evaded a nurse and two detectives in Omaha. There is no accusation against her and no one has the right to detain her, she told railroad officials. Dr. Meeker's purpose is to persuade her to return, but this she has no intention of doing, she said.

WEST'S FRIENDS ASK APPROVAL AT ONCE

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—A drive to get Secretary of the Interior Roy O. West out of the Senate's nonconfirmation trenches before Christmas was launched today by administration leaders.

Backed by a 7 to 3 favorable report from the Public Lands Committee, they hoped to overcome the stiff opposition to West's confirmation before the week is out, but admittedly they face a hard task.

NORRIS HOLDS BACK

The opposition votes in committee were cast by Senators Walsh (Dem.), of Montana; Wagner (Dem.), of New York, and Nye (Rep.), of North Dakota. In the Senate proper such a sanguine fighter as Senator Norris (Rep.), of Nebraska, is waiting to present his reasons why West should not be confirmed.

Opposition to West is based entirely upon his long association with the Samuel Insull utility interests, which now have 10 applications for power permits pending before the Department of the Interior. West already has sat in the hearing on one of Insull's applications, the Cumberland (Ky.) project known as "The Niagara of the South."

PROMISES FAIRNESS

Called before the committee late yesterday, West offered to abstain from sitting in any case where Insull interests are involved. He furthermore asserted he would be "absolutely fair and judicial in these matters."

"There is no question here raised as to the moral fitness or general qualifications of Mr. West," Senator Nye said. "But remembering that the Federal Power Commission not only has the power to grant leases upon power sites in our great streams, but also has the power of fixing valuations of power development, it is extremely hard for me, in view of Mr. West's connections and background, to feel that the public interest can be secure in the hands of Mr. West."

A vote is expected in the Senate either tomorrow or Saturday.

WALL STREET TO ENJOY VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS

It is estimated that brokers' commissions will re-establish a new high record for all time this year, it being placed at above $360,000,000 or more than $1,250 a day for each member. To that amount may be added an enormous sum representing the aggregate of extra dividends, paper profits converted into cash, increased salaries as the result of the busiest days in history, and above all, bonuses.

Bonus is almost a synonym for Christmas in Wall Street, and especially so this year when most good-hearted bosses will share their profits with their employes. The sharing began days ago and the stores in the streets have been somewhat hard pressed to change a plethora of brand new $50 and $100 bills presented by workers who ordinarily present a quarter or a dollar bill to the cashier.

The aggregate of bonuses alone will run into millions of dollars. Commission houses and other active organizations in the street have paid as bonuses from 10 to 80 per cent of the year's salary. There have been a few cases where employes, usually those of long service, have received as a bonus a full year's pay.

Maid's Spree Ends In Reformatory

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Dorothy Bakkers is going into seclusion for the next 90 days. The gay trail which led her from Chicago to New York, with expensive clothes and high-priced hotels, and included a $234 taxi ride from New York to Niagara Falls, ended yesterday in the house of correction.

Dorothy was arrested in New York because Mrs. Nellie Bauer, for whom she had worked as a maid, wanted an accounting for $2,000 in cash, a fur coat and a new dress which disappeared along with Dorothy. She had only $100 left.

JAWORSKI'S KIN SEEKS TO BALK DEATH CHAIR

Gov. John S. Fisher has been asked to stay the electrocution December 31, of Paul Jaworski, condemned "Flathead" bandit leader. Mrs. Catherine Lucille Logan, of Detroit, sister of the payroll robber, and Attorney M. Barney Cohen, appointed by the court to defend the prisoner, yesterday made an appeal for a stay to enable tests of Jaworski's mental state.

Unless the stay is granted, Jaworski will die in the electric chair on December 31.

In the appeal to the Governor, it is stated that a bullet which struck Jaworski in the head, during the fight that preceded his capture in Cleveland several months ago, is believed to have affected his brain. Physicians say he cannot live long in any event, as paralysis has developed from the bullet wound, the appeal states.

Mrs. Logan is expected to go to Harrisburg within a few days to make a personal plea to the Governor for time to examine her brother's sanity. At present Mrs. Logan is in Detroit seeking to raise bail for Tom Pallas, her younger brother being held in the county jail on a perjury charge.

Should a stay be granted and a sanity commission appointed, the report would be used by the sister in asking for commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment.

'Adairs Acquitted Of Fraud Charges

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—A United States District Court jury of 11 men last night acquitted four former officials of the defunct Adair Realty and Trust Company, of Atlanta, of charges of using the mails to defraud.

Forrest Adair, Sr., Forrest Adair, Jr., Frank Adair and Evans A. Erwin were tried on three indictments charging misrepresentation through the mails in connection with the sale of bonds for the construction of hotels in Birmingham, Ala.; Knoxville, Tenn., and Little Rock, Ark. The hotels were not completed when the Adair company was forced into bankruptcy March 31, 1927, with liabilities of more than $40,000,000.

"Woman Scorned" Betrays Bandit

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20.—(INS.)—A. J. Anderson, whose real name is believed to be Herbert Maass, changed sweethearts. All the deposed one got when she remonstrated was a good pummeling, so she went to the police station today and told detectives Anderson was the bandit who several months ago robbed a bank here of $1,100.

Although denying the accusation after his arrest, detectives say Anderson told them he is wanted in Florida for embezzling an auto and defrauding two banks of $3,600.

Pope Celebrates Golden Jubilee

ROME, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—The prize scholars of the oratory of St. Peter, founded by the Knights of Columbus of America, had a privilege unique among the Catholic youth of the world today. The priest who administered their first communion to them was Pope Pius XI, who on this date entered the fiftieth year of his ministry.

Later today there will be a solemn ceremony at San Carlo al Corso Church, where the Pope, as the Rev Achilee Ratti, said his first mass.

SPLIT VERDICT IN WHITAKER POLICE CASE

Michael Fedor, Whitaker policeman, was convicted of violating the state motor vehicle laws and acquitted, but ordered to pay costs, on a charge of attempted extortion by a jury in Criminal Court today, in a retrial of his case.

The Pittsburgh Motor Club was prosecutor. Fedor was charged with arresting and detaining Nicolo Marazzi, of 68 Millbridge street, last May 30, following a slight collision in Whitaker and refusing to release him on a written promise to appear, as provided in the state automobile laws. He also was alleged to have tried to obtain $25 from Marazzi. Fedor, originally convicted on both charges, obtained a new trial.

PLANE FUELED IN AIR

HOW ONE PLANE FUELS ANOTHER IN FLIGHT

Flying across the country in easy stages are two Army airplanes, bound for Los Angeles to attempt the most pretentious endurance flight ever tried. A plane carrying five pilots is to be kept aloft if possible as long as its motors will run and it will be fueled while in flight. Here is illustrated the manner in which Army pilots fueled one plane from another over Washington, D. C., in final tests. Capt. Ross G. Hoyt shows the flexible pipe dropped from one plane to another.

AIR MUSEUM TO HONOR 7 LOST IN DOLE FLIGHT

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—A museum of art and aeronautics is to be established in Oakland commemorating the bravery of six men and one woman who lost their lives as participants of the Dole air derby to the Hawaiian Islands in August, 1927, it was stated in articles of incorporation filed with Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan by the Dole Flight Memorial Association yesterday.

The purpose of the non-profiting Oakland organization is to "establish and build by public subscription a museum of art and aeronautics as a memorial to the Dole fliers and all men and women who have dedicated their lives to aviation."

The fliers who disappeared after flying from Oakland Airport toward Hawaii were Miss Mildred Doran and Auggie Pedlar, of Michigan; Lieut. Vilas Knope, San Diego; Jack Frost, New York; William Erwin, Dallas, Tex.; Gordon Scott, of Santa Monica, and Alvin Eichwaldt, of Hayward, Cal.

Trustees of the Dole Memorial Association were named as E. W. Grady and F. C. Lee, Oakland; M. F. Ryan, Piedmont, and James W. Chambers, of Berkeley.

3 Billions Found Annual Cost of Accidents

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—With a month remaining before totalling of figures for 1928 is begun, the National Safety Council estimates that accidents cost the American people $3,200,000,000 annually. Leading the loss comes industrial accidents, at a billion dollars annually; home accidents, $850,000,000; automotive accidents, $800,000,000, and fires, $550,000,000.

During 1927, the council reports, there were 95,000 fatal accidents, while 10,000,000 suffered non-fatal injuries. Industrial accidents almost cost 320,000,000 working days.

HILL NET TRAPS FOUR MEN

A drive against Hill district undesirables, inaugurated by Police Inspector James Hoey, last night resulted in the arrest of four men.

Patsy Coeangelo, county road employe; Michael Scarpino, Fred Grande and Frank Cherino, arrested at midnight at Fifth and Wylie avenues, were each sentenced to pay $50 or serve 30 days in the workhouse by Magistrate John W. Orie. They were charged with being suspicious persons.

Testifying against the prisoners, Inspector Hoey said all were undesirable residents and he wanted to keep them on the move. He said all have police records and were trouble makers. After the hearing the prisoners were photographed.

Coeangelo, when arrested, had a diamond and sapphire bracelet. He explained he had obtained it from a jeweler, intending to sell it to make extra money.

Dunbar Stone Plant Made Permanent

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 20.—Announcement was made by the New Castle Lime and Stone Company, operating the Dunbar bluestone quarry near here, that the plant will be made permanent with the installation of machinery costing $250,000. The force will be increased from 50 to 200 men.

22 MORE BOOZE PLACES GET PADLOCKS

A boozeless Christmas in 22 Pittsburgh and Allegheny County saloons, stores and confectioneries was assured today when Federal Judge R. M. Gibson granted preliminary padlock injunctions against the places, charged with violating the national prohibition act.

The injunctions were asked by the federal prohibition authorities. Pending final hearings next March 6, the proprietors and owners of the properties are restrained from permitting any further violations of the dry laws.

CALENDAR OF 13 MONTHS URGED AT HOUSE HEARING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Revision of the calendar to provide 13 months of 28 days each was favored by George Eastman, chairman of the national committee on calendar simplification, at the opening of hearings today on the Porter resolution before the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

The resolution would authorize the President to call an international conference on calendar simplification during 1929 with a view to putting the 13-month calendar in effect in 1933.

Mr. Eastman declared the world was fast realizing that the present calendar is impractical and that it was "only a question of time until all nations meet in conference to agree upon a change."

SENATE WARRIORS WAGE CRUISER-TREATY FIGHT

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The administration's plan to force action on the "big navy" bill, prior to ratification of the Kellogg anti-war treaty, today threatened to provoke a tumultuous parliamentary session in the Senate.

Leaders were trying today to work out an agreement whereby the cruiser bill and the Kellogg Treaty would be taken up together after the Christmas recess.

Under the compromise proposal the naval bill would be considered for a period each day and then the Senate would discuss the treaty.

An immediate decision as to priority for the two propositions was held up today, a hurricane relief bill for the South Atlantic states having the call in the Senate under a previous agreement.

HALE STUBBORN

Confident that he had the votes to make the naval bill the unfinished business immediately, Chairman Hale of the Naval Committee was not inclined to accept the compromise proposal, but a threat of stubborn fight against the bill still hung over the Senate as it resumed work today.

As the Senate assembled, the supporters and opponents of the naval measure planned a parliamentary race. The Navy men planned to sponsor a motion calling for immediate consideration of the new cruiser program, while the opposition hoped to get in first with a motion to consider the treaty.

Ohio Man Killed as He Resists Arrest

MARTINS FERRY, O., Dec. 20.—A policeman was wounded and a man he had tried to arrest was killed in a gun battle between the two here today. When Sergt. Peter Reddy, 49, went to the home of Homer Smith to arrest him on complaint of a woman neighbor, Smith shot him in the chest, police say. Reddy's answer was a bullet through Smith's head. Reddy was rushed to the hospital in a serious condition.

Life Underwriters Of Pittsburgh Meet

One hundred and fifty members of the Pittsburgh Life Underwriters' Association attended the December meeting of the association last night in the Fort Pitt Hotel. Lee D. Hemingway, president, was chairman. The speakers were Dr. Charles J. Rockwell, head of the Rockwell School of Life Insurance Salesmanship, and Milton A. Woodward, general agent for a western insurance company.

Maude Adams, leading a cloistered life since her retirement from the theater, will soon return to the stage to give readings from "Peter Pan" and other plays in which she starred, according to Broadway theatrical circles. C. L. Wagner, mentioned as her manager, says the project is not ready to be discussed further.

DRUG RING KEY MAN'S ARREST IMMINENT

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—By arresting a single man, the government today hoped to lay bare the globe-circling drug ring, supposedly financed by the slain Arnold Rothstein and credited with smuggling $50,000,000 worth of heroin, morphine and cocaine into New York since May.

United States Attorney Charles Tuttle expected this prince of dope smugglers, who arranged transit of the $5,000,000 worth of narcotics, seized here Tuesday, would be trapped within 24 hours.

UNGER CASE PROGRESSES

The government expects to complete its case this afternoon against Joseph Unger, alleged agent for an international drug ring believed to have been financed by Arnold Rothstein, slain gambler. Mrs. June Boyd, of Chicago, and "Crying Sammy" Lowe, of New York, said to have been tools of the ring, were to be called as the star witnesses.

OPERATIONS EXTENDED

Unger is alleged to have brought $2,000,000 worth of narcotics into this country. Another $1,000,000 worth was seized in Mrs. Boyd's apartment in Chicago, after Unger had been arrested near Buffalo.

He also is known as Joseph Klein and several of United States Attorney Charles T. Tuttle's assistants believe he is the J. Klein to whom was consigned the $5,000,000 narcotic shipment seized here on Tuesday after being smuggled into this country aboard the French liner Rochambeau.

PONZI VICTIMS GET DIVIDEND

BOSTON, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Creditors of Charles Ponzi, who is serving a state prison term as a result of the explosion of his get-rich-quick bubble here in 1920, will receive a final dividend of approximately $80,000, Henry V. Cunningham, trustee of the Ponzi estate, announced last night. Checks for the amount were in the mail, he said.

The final dividend is the fifth paid to the approximately 10,000 creditors. It represents 2 per cent of the liabilities of $4,000,000 and completes a total payment to creditors of 37 per cent, or approximately $1,500,000 in five years.

Chicago Cold Wave Nips Flu Epidemic

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—(INS.)—The cold wave has routed the "flu" epidemic, Health Commissioner Kegel declared today. Only 32 new cases and two deaths from flu were reported yesterday, with 18 new cases of pneumonia and one death. So far this month 2,425 cases of flu and 84 deaths have been reported, while 1,115 cases and 351 deaths from pneumonia are recorded.

Father of Baseball Stars, Jurist, Dies

PAWPAW, Mich., Dec. 20.—(INS.)—Probate Judge William Killefer, 82, oldest member of the Michigan probate bench, was dead today following a heart attack after a collapse in the courthouse.

He was the father of William Killefer, Jr., and Wade (Red) Killefer, nationally known baseball players.

GEM ROBBERS' CAR FOUND

The stolen automobile which the two jewelry bandits used to escape from the Unger store at 976 Liberty avenue with $75,000 in gems was recovered yesterday near New Eagle.

State police reported to city detectives that they found the car on a side road—and that a few hours earlier a new automobile had been stolen in a New Eagle street. All of which indicates that the bandits abandoned one stolen car for another.

Ontario Brewers Go After "Blind Pigs"

WINDSOR, Ont., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Ontario brewers have banded together in a war against "blind pigs" which have been selling beer originally destined for export at less than the government rates. Government officials estimate that the province has lost between $200,000 and $400,000 in revenue during the last year as a result of this beer being sold locally.

Dinosaur Babes, Elders, Found In China

BERLIN, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—The Berliner Tageblatt today printed a cable dispatch from Sir Sven Anders Hedin, Swedish explorer, saying that his Chinese collaborator, a geologist named Yuan, had discovered, in Western China, the remains of 30 fully developed dinosaurians, of the Jurassic period.

Also three newly born dinosaurian babies, 24 inches long and fresh from the egg, were found lying close to the mother animal. A dinosaurian egg was also found in the vicinity.

BOULDER DAM TO GET O. K. OF COOLIDGE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The Boulder Dam bill late yesterday found its way to the desk of President Coolidge and it was stated authoritatively he will sign it.

He will, however, ask for and have the approval of the Secretary of the Interior and the director of the Bureau of the Budget. For this reason a copy of the bill was forwarded to each for a careful study.

When it is returned to him, which may not be within the next 48 hours, he will affix his signature to it and officially authorize construction of one of the greatest engineering projects in the history of the United States. He may delay the ceremony until Saturday or Monday to allow those who are interested and who have worked so hard for it to be present when he signs. This has not been determined.

EXTORTION LAID TO CONSTABLE

Constable Herman Funk, of Braddock Township, was arrested today on a charge of extortion by county detectives.

Detective John J. Burke said that one of the complaints against Funk was that he had succeeded in having prohibition agents raid those violators who refused to pay him graft money and that the raids were subsequently "fixed" for cash.

The complaint against Funk was registered by Justice of the Peace Charles A. Balfour, of Braddock Township, and was supported, Burke said, by two affidavits and 13 statements by persons who had paid Funk extortion money for "permission" to sell booze.

Burke said that in one instance the extortion charge was $100 monthly.

Funk posted $1,000 bail with Alderman George J. Anderson for hearing on December 28. His address was given as Bereton road.

BROKE PAROLE, GETS YEAR

Thomas McCaffrey, 49, of Versailles township, was sentenced to serve one year in jail by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker Wednesday for having broken a one-year parole given him January 28, when he pleaded guilty to forging a government check. He was arrested Wednesday morning by East Pittsburgh police, who said he was abusing his wife and breaking up furniture in his home.

He had received the parole because of his family of six children, and a month later was arrested for an alleged attempt to enter a house in the borough. This resulted in a 30-day jail sentence, and upon his release he was directed to report to Federal Probation Officer George O'Brien.

The wife and children are in destitute circumstances, according to the government parole officer.

After Over-Indulgence In Food or Drink
Avoid Indigestion

"40 minutes after eating—Take Acidine for Health"

INDIGESTION is a danger signal of oncoming troubles. Head colds, sick headaches, biliousness, toxic poisoning, constipation, sour stomach, neuralgic pains, or worse, result from neglecting indigestion. It usually comes from over-eating, over-drinking, a chill, nervousness, or chronic acid conditions.

The instant you get the first signal—gas, sourness, dizziness—take ACIDINE at once. Prevent the toxic poisons from getting even a start in your blood stream. ACIDINE is nature's product, man's discovery, and may be used freely without fear of harm.

The moment ACIDINE enters your stomach, you can feel its quiet, soothing influence, and your troubles are relieved as though by magic. For your sake and your stomach's sake, keep a package of ACIDINE in home and office. It will save you many a heady day, an uncomfortable evening, a sleepless night. And remember, you can materially lessen the danger of head colds if you keep your body alkaline this winter by taking ACIDINE once or twice daily as a preventative.

Your druggist has it, knows its worth and will refund your money if you are not pleased with it.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

BUDGET EXCESS REDUCED TO $176,000

Council today made adjustments in the 1929 budget which about balanced reductions and additions, leaving the excess of expenditures over revenues at $176,000.

The addition was $25,000 to buy property adjoining Municipal Hospital to give the institution park frontage on Bigelow boulevard.

A tentative cut of $10,000 for new fire hose was made pending a requested report from the fire bureau on the condition of fire hose in all engine houses.

W. Y. English said the hose was practically new.

"I think we are up to snuff on this material and there may be some skullduggery going on," he declared.

Major adjustments yesterday included cuts of about $125,000 and additions of $160,000 to estimated revenues.

Cuts included $100,000 from the $1,700,000 requested for garbage disposal, and $25,000 from the $55,000 requested by the Transit Commission to continue studies of street car subway plans.

MOTORISTS LAG ON LICENSES

Because they have failed to heed the approach of the new year, 500,000 Pennsylvania motorists will not be able to use their machines legally after midnight, December 31, Paul C. Wolff, secretary of the Automobile Club of Pittsburgh, declared yesterday. Thus far 600,000 sets of license plates have been issued and even if the Bureau of Motor Vehicles runs at full speed during the remainder of the month, it will not be able to take care of all who desire plates.

Mr. Wolff urges every motorist to send in his filled-out renewal blank. If such a blank has not been received, one can be obtained at the club headquarters, 5905 Baum boulevard or 440 Oliver avenue.

MOTHER SAVES 8 IN FIRE

After rescuing eight of her 10 children during a fire in her home near Kirwin Heights yesterday, Mrs. Adam Johnson, a Negro, fainted in the burning building at the feet of her two children and was rescued with the tots, by a volunteer fireman, William Bennett, of Bridgeville.

The house, owned by the Pittsburgh Coal Company, caught fire during the absence of the woman's husband. It was virtually destroyed, with a loss of about $2,000. Firemen from Bridgeville and Kirwin Heights, who fought the blaze, were forced to lay 2,000 feet of hose to reach the scene of the fire.

Dr. McComb Heads Homeopathic Society

Dr. J. P. McComb was elected president of the Homeopathic Medical Society of Allegheny County at the annual business meeting of the society held last night in the Pittsburgh Country Club. Dr. R. M. Evans was elected vice president and Dr. W. I. Hamer was named secretary. Dr. Louis Williard was elected treasurer and Dr. K. S. Simpson and Dr. Frank Goering directors. Chairmen of the various committees read reports of the year's activities.

'MR. TELEVOX,' AUTO CZAR, HELPLESS WHEN BOY 'BOOS'

BURLINGAME, Cal., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—"Mr. Televox," an electro-mechanical traffic policeman here, may be scientifically perfect, but he has no judgment at all. And he can't do a thing with the children.

"Mr. Televox" stands at an intersection of the busy Peninsula highway. He is supposed to stand still and not interrupt the peninsula traffic unless a car approaches from the side and wishes to cross. He has a scientific ear which, when an automobile horn is blown along the lateral street, caused him to translate the sound into motion, throwing out his arms and winking his red eye at the highway traffic.

He was making good on the job until a small boy came along the intersecting street and yelled "a-boooooo-a" at him, whereupon he got rattled, threw up his hands and winked his red eye when he shouldn't have done so. Now he's the favorite policeman of the younger set hereabouts.

"Mr. Televox's" boss is going to do something about it.

SHOT REFUSING TO PAY $500

A search was being conducted today for a man who last night shot Walter Kumode, 34, of Creighton, who had laughed at an attempt to extort $500 from him. Although disarmed by Kumode, the man escaped while his victim ran for aid.

Kumode had gone to the cellar of a Creighton house to talk with the stranger about dogs. The man suddenly demanded $500 and a promise from Kumode that he would stay away from the stranger's wife and children.

Kumode laughed, whereupon the man drew a revolver and fired a shot, wounding Kumode in the hand. The two fought, and Kumode disarmed his attacker. When police arrived at the house no one was there.

Tarentum Man Dies When Auto Hits Pole

Thrown to the ground when his automobile struck a pole in the Freeport road near Harmarville last night, G. W. Blair, 35, of 508 East Tenth avenue, Tarentum, was fatally injured. He died a short time later in the Citizens' General Hospital at New Kensington. M. F. Byrne, a motorist, of Wampum, Pa., witnessed the accident and took Blair to the hospital. A fracture of the skull caused death, the report to the coroner states.

New Castle's Oldest Resident Dies at 95

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Dec. 20.—Mrs. Jane McCutcheon Blair, 95, oldest resident of this city, and widow of James Blair, former widely known resident, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. E. Powers. Mrs. Blair was born in Ireland and had been a resident of this city for 30 years. She was a member of the United Presbyterian church. She leaves her daughter, Mrs. Powers, one son, John J. Blair, of Yukon, Okla., two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Moore and Mrs. Rebecca Buchanan, of Cochranton, Pa.; 10 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

HEALTH COMMISSIONER TELLS PUBLIC HOW TO AVOID FLU

The influenza situation throughout the nation has become sufficiently serious for United States health authorities to warn the public regarding this dangerous disease, which now is epidemic in many places. According to reports from Washington, a health commissioner gives the following simple directions for avoiding influenza:

"Avoid coming in contact with persons who cough, sneeze or snuffle. Do not use unsterilized napkins, towels or eating utensils. Do not eat before washing hands. Get as much exercise in the open air as possible, and eat moderately of wholesome food. Avoid crowds, wear sensible clothing. Sleep at least seven hours, with windows open. Use plenty of clean water, inside and out."

Look after your general health. Persons who are weak, rundown or feel out of sorts naturally may become an easy prey of influenza, grip, or common colds. Perhaps the best preparation to improve one's general health is the famous herbal medicine, known as "Ten Herbs." Persons of any age, and children, too, who feel "under power," should take this compound. Its natural ingredients thoroughly cleanse the system of waste matter and impurities, and benefit and invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. With the whole system toned up, there is better health and greater vigor, and then one naturally has more power with which to resist influenza, la grippe, or other disease forces, and common colds.

"Ten Herbs" is sold at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, and at all other May Drug Stores in Pittsburgh.

OETTING LAUDS HEARST CAROL BROADCAST

The idea of a whole nation at one moment singing what is perhaps the most beautiful of all music—Christmas carols—planned in the Hearst Christmas Eve Concert, has impressed William H. Oetting, of the Pittsburgh Musical Institute.

"Not only is the program the Hearst papers will broadcast over KDKA fine, but the people, all the people, have an intense feeling for Christmas Carols and like to sing them. I know that many, many thousands will listen in and thrill to the music," Mr. Oetting said.

The Institute director expressed his compliments on the idea and the program, describing as "stimulating and unusual" the plan of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to publish the words of the carols so that when Father Finn's famous Paulist choir comes on the air at 11 o'clock Monday night, Christmas Eve, every home will be ready to join in.

Besides the Paulist Choir and the Mediaevalists, the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, former president of the Federal Council of Christ Churches of America will take part in the service. The Trinity Chimes will conclude the hour at midnight.

O'Herron Company, $1,945.40; reconstruction of intersection of Ridge and Allegheny avenues, $919.

U. S. to Sell $350,000 Land for $4,260 Tax

OWOSSO, Mich., Dec. 20.—(INS.)—Prairie Farm, consisting of 9,000 acres in Saginaw county and owned by the Owosso Sugar Company, has been seized by the Federal government for delinquent income taxes and will be sold at auction on January 18, it was announced today.

The taxes, which are for 1921, the only year the company is said to have made money, amount to $4,260. The assessed valuation of the land is $350,000.

Police Accuser Held In Slaying of Chief

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—When Alfred Soldomo, Chicago Heights, appeared in court as a complaining witness yesterday against five policemen, whom he accused of reckless use of firearms, he learned that he was wanted in connection with the recent slaying of Leroy Gilbert, South Chicago Heights police chief.

The charges against the police were dropped, and Soldomo was held for questioning.

Darrow and Hays In Textile Cases

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—The American Civil Liberties Union announced yesterday that Clarence Darrow and Arthur Garfield Hays would be "active" in the defense of leaders of the recent textile strike at New Bedford, Mass., when the defendants come to trial.

POLICE SUBMIT CONFESSION IN JONES TRIAL

BUTLER, Pa., Dec. 20.—A confession of the murder of his wife, said to have been made by Earl Jones, was read into the testimony of his murder trial today.

State police and county officers contend the confession was written by Jones and signed in their presence six days after bones of a woman, which the prosecution charges are those of Jones' wife, were found in a burned farmhouse six miles south of Butler. Jewelry identified as belonging to Mrs. Jones also was found in the ruins.

Counsel for Jones vigorously opposed reading of the purported confession by Sergt. M. J. Crowley, of the state police, but were overruled.

Jones, according to the alleged confession, admits he burned the body of his wife, but contends he did so after she had been killed by the accidental discharge of a revolver during a quarrel in their Butler home October 19.

Sergt. Crowley denied, during questions by Jones' attorneys, that third-degree methods had been used in obtaining a statement from Jones.

FATHER-IN-LAW STOLE SPOUSE, WIFE SAYS

BEAVER, Pa., Dec. 20.—Declaring that her husband had been enticed from her home by his father, Mrs. Alice C. Moore, 30, of Dutch Ridge road, today filed suit for $200 a month maintenance and $50,000 from an estate held in trust for her husband by his father.

The husband, Walton N. Moore, Jr., is son of Walton N. Moore, reputed millionaire, of San Francisco, where the father is head of the Walton N. Moore Dry Goods Company and a member of the Federal Reserve Board.

Mrs. Moore, a former Cleveland girl, was married to Moore in Cleveland, May 8, 1923, and moved to Beaver county March 1, 1926.

She left Moore March 15, 1928, after he had gone on a spree, she said.

He followed her to Cleveland, she asserted, and agreed to reform. They went to an attorney's office, Mrs. Moore's petition sets forth, where he signed an agreement to pay her $100 a month as maintenance, and, if he should fail to keep his promise of sobriety, to pay her $50,000 from an estate left him by his grandfather and held in voluntary trust by his father.

Moore soon "went on a spree," Mrs. Moore asserted, and she fled to neighbors.

While she was away, she asserted, her husband's father arrived and took him away.

College Asks Chimes Enter U. S. Duty-Free

AMES, Ia., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Congress will be asked to pass a special act to admit duty free from England 26 bells to add to the campanile at Iowa State College, Prof. Herman Knapp, business manager, announced.

The chimes were given to the college under terms of the will of the late Dean Edgar W. Stanton. Ten bells, now in place, were brought here duty free by act of Congress February 15, 1899.

Why not start the day right?

Healthful breakfasts can and should be the most appetizing

IF THE fiber foods are so important in our diet—and food authorities impress upon us that they are—why not start the day right by eating them for breakfast? They can be made into the most delicious and satisfying breakfasts imaginable.

Just think for a moment what foods it is that furnish the bulk and fiber that our bodies need so badly. They are: bran and cereals, and fruits and vegetables, all but the last being ideal for the first meal of the day. What is more tasteful and beneficial, for example, than cereal with milk and sugar? What is more delicious for breakfast than grapefruit, sweetened to taste, or apples or pears sweetened and baked? Nearly everyone enjoys apple sauce or stewed prunes or other dried fruit with the morning toast and coffee.

Note that sugar is mentioned in connection with each one of these healthful foods. Sugar is the ideal flavor that Nature has provided, thus enabling people to enjoy the kinds of foods that are best for them.

One fact cannot be stressed too much. All growing children should eat hearty breakfasts of bone and teeth building, body developing foods such as the cereals, milk and fruits. Proper sweetening makes children relish the foods that their growing bodies need so badly.

Eat varied healthful foods, so sweetened that they are delicious and enjoyable. The Sugar Institute.

BAY RUM IS ONLY BRAND ABOARD MODERN TRADER

BOSTON, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—A modern African trader, the three-masted schooner Marion L. Conrad, set sail from Boston yesterday on the course followed by the Yankee skippers of a century ago. She is bound for West African ports to trade with the Negroes. John Correa, of this city, is her captain.

Bay rum in her cargo replaces the Medford rum which was the staple of this trade when early American ships raced the British traders, but she will exchange her goods for ivory as did her predecessors.

The schooner also carries razors, clothing, paints and flour to barter with the natives for ivory, goatskins, cocoa beans, palm oil and wicker chairs. She has no motor.

The voyage will require four months.

Man Struck by Auto In Rankin Badly Hurt

Struck by an automobile in Second street, Rankin, last night, Joseph Rahay, 50, of 1106 Willow way, is in the Braddock General Hospital suffering from fractures of several ribs and body bruises. Police say that John Hoffman, of 1204 Penn avenue, Wilkinsburg, was the driver of the machine.

Kidnaped Woman Escapes by Leap

Kidnaped and held captive by a gang of Negroes, Evelyn Damon, 42, Negro, employed at the home of Mrs. C. H. Harris, 1260 North Negley avenue, escaped by leaping from a second-story window of a garage at Morewood avenue and Baywood street early today, she told police.

The woman said she was waiting for a street car at Center avenue and Francis street shortly after midnight when she was seized and dragged into an automobile by two Negroes.

Road Authorized

MERCER, Pa., Dec. 20.—County Commissioners authorized the building of a six-mile stretch of road between Clarks Mills and Sandy Lake.

BUGS BAER Says

ONE GOOD thing to remember about this joyful Yuletide, is that, no matter what you give, it will be exchanged.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

There is something abo the usual Christmas parcel that makes you treasure it until you can catch the first street car downtown.

It would be wonderful if the ladies could only handle the pure essence of giving without diluting it with a slight dash of retaliation.

But, at least, the sweet people have one shopping edge on the sterner sexes.

No matter how silly a necktie a woman person picks out—

She knows that it will always—

Match her husband.

She can't go wrong on that stuff. But when a husband goes shopping he is measuring progress and civilization with a two-foot yardstick.

A man is just as out of place in a crowded department store as a bootlegger in a pew.

The minute he steps in the revolving door he feels like a pickpocket with double-jointed fingers.

They push him around until his sense of direction goes insane and when he finds himself in the lingerie department he looketh neither to the right nor to the left, nor standeth upon the order of his going.

No man ever lived who could find the tobacco alcove in a department store without first stampeding through six or seven miles of aisles decorated with flaming, lacy haberdashery.

When a man goes into a department store he isn't shopping. He is running the gauntlet.

Boy, the sight of masterly floor-walker in a duplex coat is wonderful. But when you rush up to him in manly distress and inquire the location of the basement you discover that he doesn't even know where the store is.

Like Omar, you finally go out the same door through which you entered, no wiser and much weaker.

They have ladies' days in baseball parks and Turkish baths.

They should have gentlemen's days for shopping in the bi department stores.

Announcement
Extraordinary!

¶Owing to the prevalence of the influenza epidemic, we urge upon the Retail Druggists of this city and its environments, the necessity of having their orders reach us not later than, say, eleven o'clock of each day, thereby assisting us to assemble them intelligently and correctly.

¶Please telephone your order in daily or bring it in and effect your own delivery, as our physical and mechanical facilities are taxed to the utmost, our own force being greatly depleted on account of the disease.

¶Please do not delay your order for our salesman; we cannot guarantee that he will call; neither can we guarantee that we can reach you by telephone, either for your order or any addition thereto.

¶We have the goods and the facilities, and it is our desire to render you effective service, but we cannot function effectively without your support. Our paramount thought in the situation is to contribute to the relief of suffering humanity. We successfully coped with the situation ten years ago, and with your undivided support we can render the same efficient service: and by your support and assistance you will also be rendering valuable services to your customers and to the community, and to the physician who depends upon you for the intelligent compounding of his prescriptions.

¶The glory of this age is service—mutual service—which contributes to the better being of all.

Thank you.

Weather Conditions.

The low yesterday over the Lake region remained nearly stationary during the last 24 hours, although the trough which extended southwestward from this low to Texas, is now off the South Atlantic coast. Light snows, generally, fell over the Northern Plains states and the Lake region, while in the South heavy rains occurred along the West and Middle Gulf coast. Four inches of snow fell at Buffalo. The Plateau region high has increased in pressure to 30.80, at Boise, Idaho, and extends to the Lower Mississippi valley. Another low appears over the Canadian Northwest, 29.78, at Edmonton.

Temperatures are lower in the Lake region, Upper Mississippi and Lower Ohio valleys, while it is warmer in the Canadian Northwest and in Colorado, Nebraska and Kansas.

River Conditions.

No precipitation of consequence occurred over the watersheds during the last 24 hours, and the rivers are either stationary or falling slowly. Stage* at Pittsburgh, 14.4; Dam No. 2, 8.1, and Dam No. 6, 12.4 feet. The dams are down. The rivers will fall slowly.

LOUISE BULLENS

The Atlantic ocean played postman for Louise Bullens, Allston, Mass., when her fiance, Gunner's Mate Edmund Letourney, decided to send a letter in a different way. He dropped it overboard in a bottle from the U. S. S. Putnam, and the waves bore it to shore. It was carried to Miss Bullens.

FOR HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS
THE HEAD OF THE HOUSE

The days of feudal lords and landed princes may belong in the dim archives of a glorious past, but the idea survives, and the lord of the manor still persists in the masculine gender. He's a reasonable, lovable, generous, overlord, though—a democratic, thoughtful provider for the wants of his family. And because Christmas brings us all to a deeper appreciation of his importance we suggest a few of the gifts that will make His Royal Highness proud and happy.

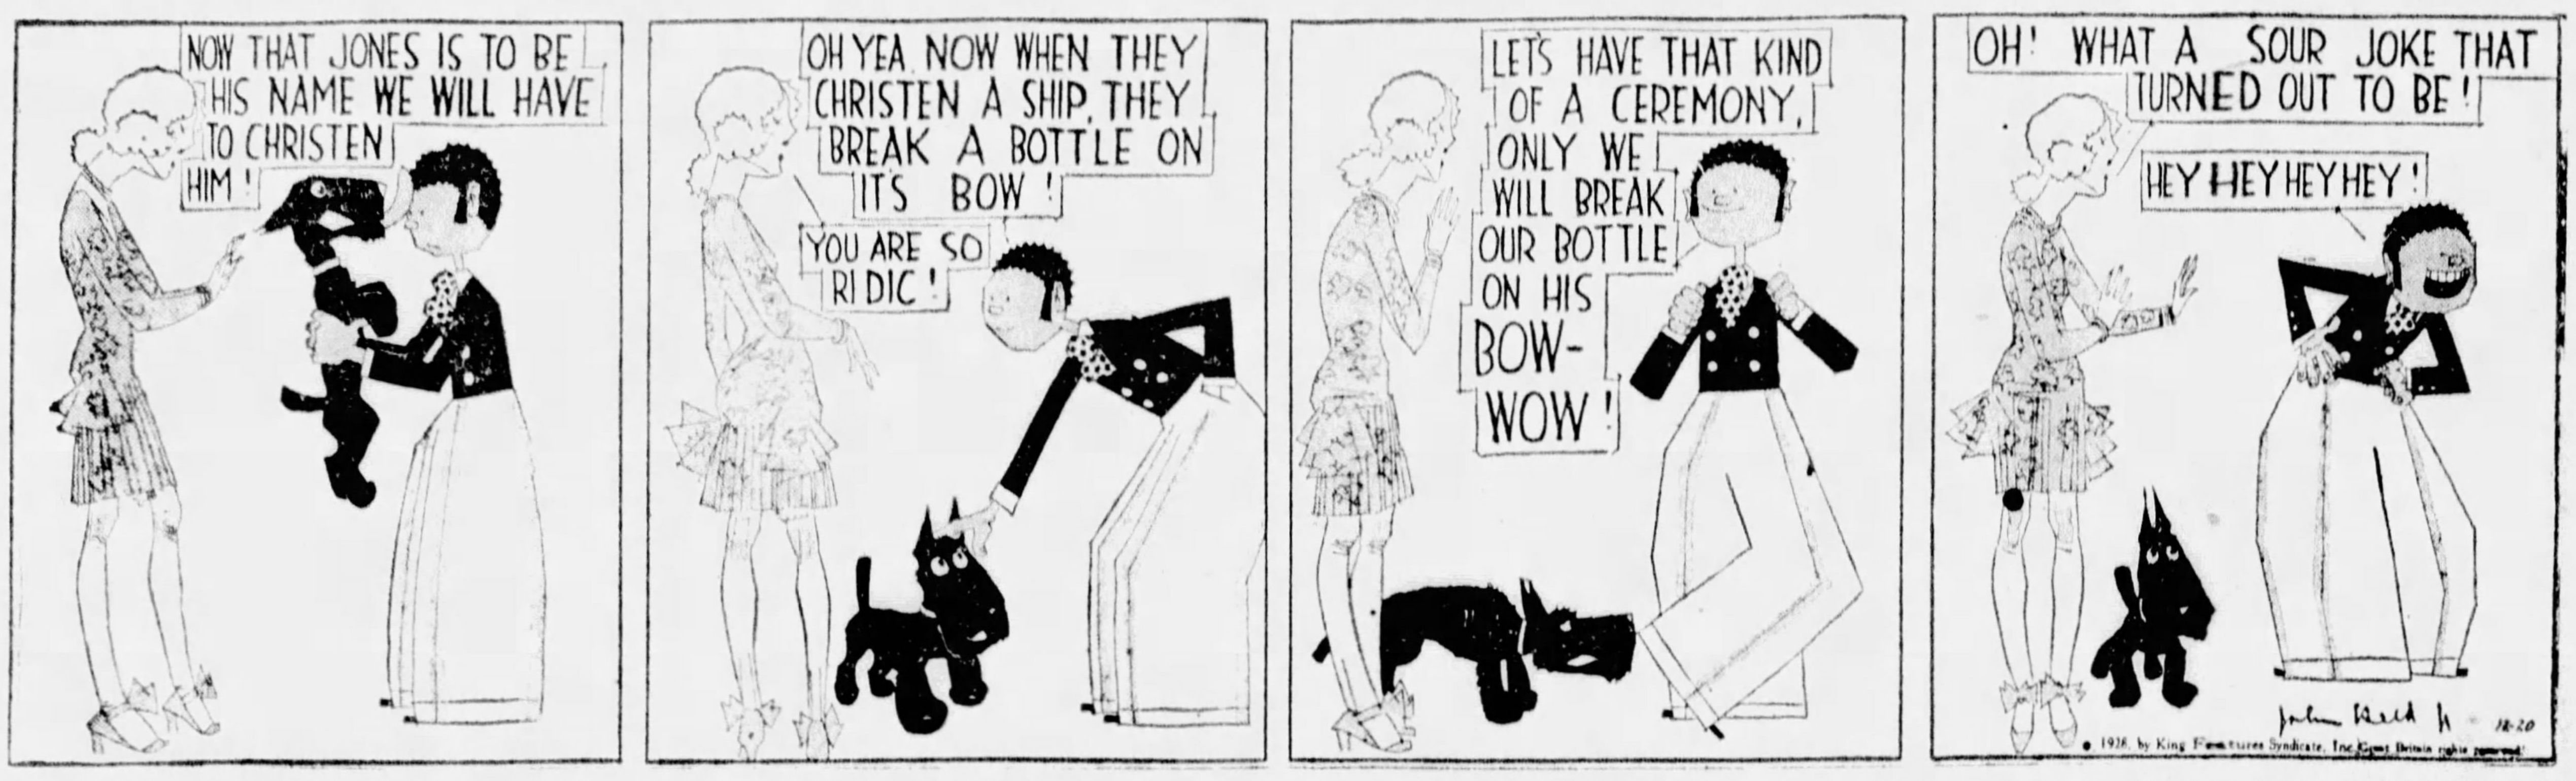
Merely Margy, An Awfully Sweet Girl

Story by Lloyd Mayer

By John Held, Jr.



NOW THAT JONES IS TO BE HIS NAME WE WILL HAVE TO CHRISTEN HIM!
OH YEA, NOW WHEN THEY CHRISTEN A SHIP, THEY BREAK A BOTTLE ON ITS BOW!
YOU ARE SO RIDIC!
LET'S HAVE THAT KIND OF A CEREMONY, ONLY WE WILL BREAK OUR BOTTLE ON HIS BOW-WOW!
HEY HEY HEY HEY!
John Held Jr 12-20

"My dear, I'm all hot and BOTHered—I mean I'm ACtually CRUSHED at this point because that PIPsqueak ARab thinks of the most POSitively weird things to DO, my dear! I mean what do you s'POSE the great oaf inSISTS on NOW, my dear? Well, not SATisfied with having supplied PUPsy-wups with a FRIGHTfully common NAME he's NOW madly consecrated on CHRISTening the poor darling with it like they christen a SHIP—can you BEAR it, my dear, I mean when they christen a SHIP, my dear, they break a BOTTLE of chamPAGNE or GRAPEjuice or something over its BOW, and ARab said that in the case of PUPsy-wups the only DIF'rence would be we'd break it over his BOW-WOW! Have you ever HEARD of a FOULer CRACK, my dear? ACtually, it LAID me an EGG because I mean it's just a PUN or something and that's the LOWest form of WIT, but I mean I simply CAN'T underSTAND Arab at ALL, my dear, because you'd ACtually have thought, the way he HOWLED, that he'd said something TERribly SCINtillating, but I mean he's TOO anNOYing because he'll ROAR with mirth at something like that when he says it HIMself, my dear, but HEAPS of times I've said things that were ACtually AWfully CLEVer to him and he never even SMILES, which I think just SHOWS you what a LOW order of inTELligence he's got, my dear—I mean I ACtually DO!"

AMOCO-GAS now holds ALL stock car records

Studebaker President averages 85.2 miles per hr. for 24 hours

Two fully equipped stock model Studebaker President roadsters have just completed a twenty-four-hour run over the Atlantic City Speedway -- in which the first to finish completed 2044.8 miles, averaging 85.2 miles per hour.

Today every official A.A.A. stock car record is a Studebaker record. And every Studebaker which made these records used AMOCO-GAS!

Today AMOCO-GAS holds every American stock car record for speed and endurance made under the supervision of the American Automobile Association -- 126 official American records in all!

Never before has any motor fuel occupied so dominating a position -- for today every stock car record on the A.A.A. books is an AMOCO-GAS record.

Damage Suits Follow Two Auto Accidents

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 20.—Automobile accidents resulted in the filing of two damage actions in court here for a total of $15,000. The Washington Transportation Company, which operates an express line between Pittsburgh and Wheeling, is sued for $10,000 by Dominick Spiller, of Chartiers township, for hurts received when a bus, alleged to have been on the wrong side, crashed into his car in Houston. Nettie Mendenhall, of Houston, has sued Elizabeth Shearn, of Canonsburg, for $5,000 for hurts suffered in a collision.

Parents Ask $46,000 For Wounding of Son

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 20.—Warren Columbia, of Bertha, near Burgettstown, is defendant in a $46,000 damage action instituted here by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Fennych, of Bertha, who claim that amount for wounds suffered by their son, Nicholas Fennych, 16, when he was hit in the chest by a bullet fired by Columbia. The defendant is charged with being negligent in handling the firearm. The youth, it is claimed, will be permanently crippled in the right shoulder.

School Directors Name New Officers

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 20.—School directors of Washington county ending their annual convention here elected the following officers: President, John R. McCreight, East Washington; first vice president, D. M. Campsey, Claysville; second vice president, Dr. D. L. McCarrell, Mt. Pleasant; secretary, Mrs. J. Howard Vankirk, North Franklin; treasurer, Robert R. Hays, Mt. Pleasant; auditor, Cassius Day, Morris; delegates to the state convention at Harrisburg, F. R. Baker, Amwell; Mrs. John S. Hunter, Hopewell; Garvin R. Wylie, Canton.

Dover Man Leader Of Aviation Club

DOVER, O., Dec. 20.—John Newland, Dover, was elected president of the Ace Aviation Club, a Tuscarawas county organization formed recently to purchase a student plane and hire an instructor. Lieut. John B. Garver, Strasburg, Tuscarawas county's only ace in the World War, is leading the movement.

Swift Justice Given Four Boys for Theft

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Dec. 20.—Swift justice was meted out to the four boys who broke into the general store of E. J. Sanders and stole money and goods to the amount of $200. The four appeared yesterday before Judge A. H. Sayers and entered pleas of guilty. The boys are John Ackley, 19, Samuel Morris, 18, both of Washington, Merle McClellan, 18, and Samuel Hewitt, 18, of Graysville. All four were sent to the industrial reformatory at Huntingdon, Pa.

BRIDE-TO-BE 'TOO GOOD,' HE ENDS LIFE ON WEDDING EVE

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 20.—Elizabeth Abbott, member of one of Buffalo's oldest and wealthiest families, who was to have been married tonight to Everett E. Mugler, 28, a prominent local businessman, was reported prostrated over the self-inflicted death of her fiance. Mugler shot himself in the head yesterday and died at a hospital late last night.

The wedding was to have been a high light of the social season in Buffalo. No motive for the suicide could be ascertained.

Police inclined to the theory he was a victim of an "inferiority complex." They gave no reasons for such a theory.

Mugler was said to have informed friends that Miss Abbott was "far too beautiful" and "too good" for him.

Two Attorneys Die Handling Same Divorce Suit

William Hoffmeister, McKeesport carpenter, had his troubles in obtaining legal counsel to represent him in his divorce case against Ida Mae Hofmeister, it developed in court today.

Hofmeister first engaged Attorney G. Nevin, of Elizabeth, who died.

He then engaged Attorney H. G. McAllister, of McKeesport, as counsel. McAllister also died.

Finally Attorney Samuel Milliken appeared today for Hofmeister, who charges his wife with desertion.

Six Arrested in Raid On Penn Avenue Club

Six men were arrested early today by police who raided the Good Luck Club, in Penn avenue. William Zeiman, of 118 Seventh street, was arrested on a charge of keeping a disorderly house, and the others were charged with being visitors. Acting Lieut. John J. Reilly made the raid.

WOMAN, 62, FREE AFTER DEFI TO JUDGE

Yuletide clemency today gave freedom to Mrs. Delia Hotten, 62, of 4320 Methyl street, jailed last Friday by Judge Richard W. Martin for contempt of court. The court signed an order releasing her, holding that she had been sufficiently punished.

Mrs. Hotten, defendant in a divorce action brought by Charles Hotten, same address, incurred the court's displeasute at a hearing of the case, by repeatedly crying out, "It's a lie," while her husband was testifying. She was committed after telling the court, "Go ahead and do it," when threatened with arrest. The Hottens have been married 40 years.

Baby Boy in Basket Abandoned in Hall

En route to work early today, Nick Karlis, roomer at 1337 Fifth avenue, discovered a six-month-old baby boy in a basket in the hallway. He removed the child to his room and notified police at the Center Avenue Police Station. The child was taken to the Rosella Foundling Home.

PITTSBURGHER LOSES $34,000 TAX APPEAL

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—F. G. Lamb, president and one of the two stockholders of the Pittsburgh and Bessemer Coal Company, must pay an added tax of $34,303.20 on his 1921 income, the United State Board of Tax Appeals ruled yesterday.

Lamb contended that four payments totaling $84,255.62 received from the company during that year were paid to him as an agent or trustee of funds, and as such were not dividends subject to the surtax on dividends. He further pointed out that no dividends had been declared by the company, and that the payments in question were not in proportion to stock holdings.

"We have heretofore held that earnings or profits may be distributed without the formality of a declaration of dividends, and that this is particularly true where the distribution is made with the unanimous consent of the stockholders," said the board in deciding for the government.

Robber Locks Woman Shopkeeper in Icebox

Mrs. Emanuel Guberman, who operates a butcher shop at 1727 Bedford avenue, was shoved into the refrigerator in the store yesterday by a Negro who later looted the cash register of $35, police at the Center avenue station were told. Customers who came into the store shortly after the robbery heard the woman's screams and released her.

Old Ladies' Home Confused With Beauty Shop

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 20.—(A.P.)—Because her beauty shop had the same telephone number as an old ladies' home, Miss Marie Livingston filed suit for $10,000 damages against the Wisconsin Telephone Company.

Hilltop Man Hurt In 3-Story Fall

Pate Stubinger, 35, of 397 Bailey avenue, is recovering in the South Side Hospital from injuries he suffered recently when he fell out of a third-story window. South Side police said Stubinger fell out of the window after he had been put to bed in the home of William E. Fielding, of 107 South Twelfth street, while under the influence of liquor.

NORTH BOROUGHS TAKEN OFF LINCOLN HIGHWAY

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

By HAVEY J. BOYLE

AS WARDEN of the Western Penitentiary Stanley Ashe has an opportunity to study the criminal. We were talking on a train the other day about crime and punishment and I told Warden Ashe about the lifer who had asked the judge to give him death instead. Warden Ashe said he did not believe the lifer was sincere in asking for death.

"I've never seen a man on his way to the electric chair who would not look on a life term as something sent from Heaven. There are lifers who say they would rather go to the chair, but there aren't any on their way to the chair who say they prefer death."

"If murderers must be executed," it was suggested to the warden, "why couldn't a means of self-destruction be placed in the way of the murderer—poison, for instance?"

"None would take it," opined the warden.

"But there is always great care taken to prevent the self-destruction so the condemned man will live until time to go to the chair?" "Yes," returned the warden, "but it is my belief that the rare exception is the condemned man who will try to die before the time set for his execution."

"DO MANY persons ask for a chance to see executions at Rockview?" the warden was asked. "No. In the case of a noted criminal we get quite a few requests. As a general rule curiosity is not great in this particular."

* * *

The law calls for so many witnesses, but there is no fee and the witnesses, by the way, must pay their own expenses. Warden Ashe said that for the coming Jaworski execution, which will occur as other people are throwing confetti, blowing horns and ringing bells to celebrate the New Year, has brought an extra large number of requests from persons who want to be witnesses.

WITH Warden Ashe was Bill Sankey, a lifelong Pittsburgher, a member of the prison board, and for an exciting period burgess of a suburb known as Carrick before its amalgamation with Greater Pittsburgh.

Burgess Sankey had one great defect as a burgess. He had no great ear for music. Perhaps that should be qualified. Burgess Sankey had no ear for the kind of music that the quartet of adolescent voices offered at Birmingham avenue and Brownsville road, especially when such offerings were made late at night to the discomfiture of neighbors who were silly enough to want to try to go to sleep as early as midnight.

ON TO BIRMINGHAM AVENUE !
YES SIR !

The former burgess on the train the other day recalled that often he had to send the Carrick gendarmes to Birmingham avenue to break up the nocturnal program. "You were a baritone in those days, weren't you?" asked Mr. Sankey on the train the other day. "At least I think that was the way the police complaint used to read as I remember it."

"By the way," said the former burgess, "you may be interested to know that the old equipment of the Carrick Volunteers is still doing duty at Rockview prison farm. I had it shipped up there when Carrick went into the city."

SO--THAT'S WHERE OL' NO. 42 IS ?
YEP !

"So that's where ole No. 42 is," I managed to say through a tear. What an ending for the old wagon the volunteers used to hitch onto a street car on the way to a jolly old fire.

* * *

WITH Warden Ashe and Burgess Sankey there was a third man, whose name escaped me in the introduction. I should like to use the name here, but being committed to the proposition that men who say after an introduction: "What's the name," should be executed I had to let the name slip away. I think at that he'd rather have his name omitted than to hear someone say: "What's the name?"

CHANGE ASKED IN N. S. STREET RAISING

City engineers today will be requested by Council to revise plans for raising North Side streets above flood level, as a result of a hearing granted yesterday to D. L. Clark, candy manufacturer.

Clark explained he originally had agreed to grade changes on Itasco, Corry, Reedsdale and Martindale streets and had waived claims for $80,000 damages. Later, the engineers proposed raising the grades still higher, to a point which would convert his first floor into a basement.

Clark declared he took bids for raising the building to conform to pending grades and found it would cost $480,000 in addition to causing a 15-months' suspension of his business. He would suffer a total loss of $2,475,000 in lost revenue and construction costs if the pending grades were established, Clark averred.

On motion of John S. Herron, the department of public works was asked to establish the grades on which Clark's waivers were based.

5 Building Permits Issued in Bellevue

Frederick Giffin, acting building inspector of Bellevue, reports issuing permits for three dwellings and two garages since December 1 as follows: Wolff Brothers, for a double brick veneer dwelling, 725 Shade avenue, estimated to cost $7,500; William McPherson, brick veneer dwelling, 92 Summer street, $7,000; Charles Calderaro, brick veneer dwelling, 26 Lincoln avenue, $5,000; E. H. Wicks, garage, 53 North Fremont avenue, $1,000; W. C. Armstrong, garage, 565 Orchard avenue, $500.

Married at 14, Now 23, Sues for Divorce

Nora John, 396 Maganza avenue, Scott Township, married at 14 to a barber, Louis John, wants a divorce. She told Judge Joseph M. Swearingen, who heard her troubles, that her husband got drunk, was out of work too much and stayed away nights. John finally deserted her in 1926 and she has been supporting herself and two children ever since. The plaintiff now is 23.

County Authorizes Links Corners Road

The commissioners yesterday authorized the improvement of one mile of road from Links Corners toward Enlow in Findlay township. The state, township and county will co-operate in improving the road, the county's share of the cost being [illegible]1,633, one-third of the total.

APPEALS TAKEN IN SHANNON AWARDS

Appeals from the awards of viewers on the part of some residents of Castle Shannon, involving assessments of benefits or damages to certain properties in Poplar and Willow avenues, have been filed in Common Pleas Court by Attorney Walter W. Riehl.

Charlotte B. Beltzhoover, George H. Beltzhoover, Thomas H. Beltzhoover and James E. Beltzhoover assert that property they own in Willow avenue has been damaged $10,000, whereas the county viewers awarded them only $1,800. Clarence Patterson and Catherine B. Patterson, his wife, declare they suffered damages of $3,000 and were allowed only $1,100 benefits. The Poplar avenue improvement cost $61,936, of which sum $10,448 was charged against the borough.

Some of the properties involved in the appeal were left considerably above the street and some below the street grades.

$15,000 Asked in Auto Accident

Struck by an automobile owned by Frank R. Miller, of Swissvale, and scarred about the face and body, James Poulos, North Braddock, has brought suit for $15,000 for personal injuries. In the bill of complaint filed by Attorney George S. Goldstein, Poulos claims that he was crossing the street at Bell avenue and Alten road, North Braddock, August 30, when the Miller car came along and ran into him.

Pastor to Present His Own Cantata

The Rev. Dr. John B. Magee, of Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church, will present "The Silent Shepherd," written by himself, at the night service next Sunday. A cantata, "The Christ Child," will be given by the church choir, Sunday night, December 30.

Deserted for Good After 30 Tries · Wife Says

After her husband had left her 30 or 40 times, he finally stayed away, and now Mrs. Nettie A. Spangler, Valley View avenue, Ross township, wants a divorce from Harry O. Spangler. The respondent was her husband by a second marriage, which took place in 1916. When Spangler left the last time he packed up his clothes, slammed the door as he left, ran up the hill, it was averred, and then decided to stay away for good.

HURT BY BUS, TWO ASK $30,000

Lulu Zeigler, 2130 Beechview bouelvard, injured internally when a White Star Line, Inc., bus ran into the automobile in which she was riding, has brought suit against the company for $30,000 damages. The bill of complaint was filed in Common Pleas Court by Attorney A. L. Avner, the wife asking $20,000 and the husband, Benjamin Zeigler, $10,000.

It is averred that the bus was responsible for the accident, owing to the manner in which it was being handled by the driver. The accident occurred July 15 last while Mr. and Mrs. Zeigler were driving in the Mt. Lebanon district.

EX-INSTRUCTOR ASKS DIVORCE

Her husband did not like to work, nagged her, choked her and when she insisted that he get a job he finally left, it was testified by Bertha V. Kaley, 31, former school teacher, 5123 Dearborn street, who wants a divorce from Harold J. Kaley. The respondent also threatened to throw Mrs. Kaley's mother down stairs, it is charged.

Mrs. Haley married but a few years, according to her story, told to Judge Joseph M. Swearingen, who heard the case, was ordered out of bed by her husband when she had the influenza and she was so ill she had to call in the neighbors. Treatment of her was such that on one occasion she called in the landlord, who found Mrs. Haley on the floor, where she had been knocked by her husband, it was testified.

She is asking a divorce on the ground of cruel and barbarous treatment.

Clothing Worth $150 Stolen from Home

Clothing valued at $150 was stolen early today from the home of Mrs. Lizzie Blum, of 200 Dinwiddie street, according to a report made to the city detective bureau. The woman arose early today and discovered that a rear door had been forced and the lower floor ransacked.

Church Holds Treat For Cradle Roll

More than 100 babies and their mothers were present this afternoon at the annual Christmas treat and reception given by the Cradle Roll Department of Trinity Lutheran Church, Avalon. Mrs. Samuel Slaney, superintendent, had charge.

Planks Slippery, Woman Falls, Sues City

Planks which ran lengthwise instead of crosswise and which became slippery when wet, causing her to fall and break a wrist, was made the basis of a damage suit filed against the City of Pittsburgh by Mary Sorg and her husband, Robert Sorg, who ask $25,000 for injuries to Mrs. Sorg. The accident happened in Cuthbert street, July 13, last. In the bill of complaint filed by Attorney Louis Rosenberg it is averred that the city was responsible because of improper construction.

PRESERVES SPECIMENS WITH WAX

STANLEY T. BROOKS SHOWS ANIMALS TO BE PRESERVED FOR STUDY

Stanley T. Brooks, custodian of recent invertebrates at Carnegie Museum, has discovered a process for keeping animals in their original forms. He uses, among other things, wax. The salamander in his hand is "going through" the process. Below are a pair of box turtles already waxed.

ANIMAL FORM RETAINED BY WAXING

A new process for preserving animals, from snails to humans, so that they retain their living form and likeness has been discovered by Stanley T. Brooks, custodian of recent invertebrates at Carnegie Museum.

Instead of the involved and expensive methods now used, such as pickling in alcohol, embalming, the wax method will permit scientists to wax their specimens and give, perhaps permanently, the natural form and other properties of the animals.

USED IN EUROPE

While waxing has been done in Europe within the last few months, few samples have been seen in the United States, and Brooks' process was worked out by himself. As yet it is in the embryonic state, and has only been applied to some snails and several turtles from his own collection.

That the process will revolutionize scientific treatment for exhibits, however, is very likely. Mr. Brooks hopes to present to the Pittsburgh public, within a year or so, a complete exhibit of waxed invertebrates—animals who are without backbones. Included in this group, he hopes, will be an octopus, snails, turtles, lobsters, crabs, squids, clams, scallops and oysters on the half shell. All of these, even the octopus, are edible.

The new process, which will likely displace the old, will even be an improvement on the old Egyptian plan of mummification, which, although its method is lost, preserved but lost the natural looks of its features and original form of its subject.

Hurled 30 Feet By Auto, Sues For $10,000

Helen Stewart, Mt. Washington, hurled 30 feet when struck by a truck and injured while crossing West Carson street, September 19, last, in front of the Duquesne Incline, has brought suit against Peter Blumling for $10,000 damages. It is alleged that the truck, which was being driven for the owner by Charles Chozpoko, of McKees Rocks, was being operated negligently. In the statement of claim filed by Alter, Wright & Barron for the girl's uncle, A. G. Overcashier, because of Miss Stewart being a minor, it is averred the latter suffered contusions and bruises.

VERONA SEEKS NEW BRIDGE

The request of Verona council for the construction of a new bridge over the Allegheny River was held over by the County Commissioners until the construction of the Allegheny River boulevard is completed. The Verona officials desire a new structure between the Hulton Bridge and the bridge joining Sharpsburg and Highland Park. These structures are seven miles apart and a new one north of the Blaw Knox plant is suggested.

Cruelty Is Charged In Divorce Libel

Eleanor A. DeRocco, 509 Union avenue, charges Joseph DeRocco with cruel and barbarous treatment in a libel in divorce filed in Common Pleas Court. The couple were married in 1926.

CRAFTON ASKS MINE FIRE HELP

Another coal mine fire was brought to the attention of the commissioners yesterday when Robert E. Chess, solicitor for the borough of Crafton, informed them of a blaze in an old mining operation on the property of the McShane heirs, Baldwin road.

The fire, Chess wrote, has been burning some time and apparently has reached dangerous proportions. For several months the commissioners have been studying plans for extinguishing a coal mine fire in Mifflin township.

The Baldwin road fire, as well as the Mifflin township blaze, will be brought to the attention of the state in an effort to secure a legislative appropriation for fighting both.

FETE PLANNED BY 28TH WARD

The Twenty-eighth Ward will have its second Christmas community tree, it was announced by the Chartiers Board of Trade yesterday. The board which sponsors the movement promises a bigger and better celebration than last year. Carol singing will be the main feature.

A committee was appointed by that body to advise with the Metropolitan Plan Commission and to attend the dinner tendered by the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce on January 10 to that commission.

The following officers were elected recently to serve for the ensuing year: M. H. Black, president; Robert C. Smith, vice president; J. J. Dennehy, secretary; J. J. Pannabaker, treasurer. The directors of the Chartiers Board of Trade who will take office are: Harry Bastow, R. E. McKibben, George L. McClure, J. A. McCartney and C. W. Dickenson.

West View Church To Hold Pageant

A Christmas entertainment and treat will be given by the West View United Presbyterian Church tomorrow night. A pageant, "The Nativity," will be presented along with a varied program by the younger children under direction of Miss Theresa Lippert, church visitor.

Membership Gone, Court Dissolves Old Church

The passing of the old Twelfth United Presbyterian Church, Manhattan street, North Side, was made a matter of legal record yesterday, when Judge Joseph M. Swearingen handed down a decree of dissolution.

Formerly a flourishing congregation, changes in the district caused members gradually to move away. The edifice was damaged by the Manchester gas tank blast, November, 1927, and soon afterward the members voted to turn the church property over to the Pittsburgh Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church, which is utilizing the building as a city mission.

ANDY BRUNSKI SARA WISE

These young players of Springfield Public School, Thirty-first and Smallman streets, have displayed talent in class productions. Today, with other students of Springfield School and students of McKee School, Thirty-fourth and Ligonier streets, they are feasting on ice cream, cake and candy. Miss Louisa D. Seif, principal of both schools, is the hostess, assisted by business firms and individuals who made the feast possible. She is also distributing 50 baskets, filled with foodstuffs and fruits solicited through Lawrenceville benefactors, to poor families of the district. Shoes and clothing for the poor have also been obtained.

CHANGE WEST OF CITY MADE

The old Lincoln highway of Pittsburgh, through Bellevue, Avalon, Ben Avon, Emsworth and Sewickley to Rochester, is no more, according to an announcement this morning by the Automobile Club of Pittsburgh.

Early today a squad of men from the State Highway Department, under the direction of J. L. Herber, district engineer, began the task of taking these towns off the main transcontinental highway for the first time since the route was laid out, by starting to remove the signs that designated the route.

NEW SIGNS PLACED

At the same time another squad began erecting signs bearing the new Lincoln highway number along the new Lincoln highway, the road through Crafton, Imperial and Clinton, to Chester, W. Va., and East Liverpool, O. This is now United States Route 30, and has been so marked by the highway departments of both West Virginia and Ohio for some time.

This change being made today completes the rerouting of the Lincoln Highway between Pittsburgh and Canton, O. The earlier route went through Beaver Falls, Columbiana, Salem and Alliance to Canton. Now the road is through East Liverpool and enters Canton another way to pick up the old Lincoln way.

ONE DETOUR REMAINS

One detour remains on the new route, on which construction will be suspended for the winter on December 28. This detour is between Crafton and Moon Run, an inconsiderable stretch that is in splendid condition. Improvement of this small stretch will be resumed in the spring.

The new road does away with a lot of confusion for tourists. Strangers passing through always encountered a great deal of trouble on the road through the North Boroughs and beyond, but with the new markings through travelers can follow the Lincoln Highway clear through to Chicago without any difficulty.

SEVEN MENACED BY MAD DOG

Seven persons are under medical care today as a result of the discovery that a pet dog owned by A. P. Griffith, of 7716 Edgerton avenue, was suffering from rabies. Griffith, his wife and two children went to a physician for treatment Tuesday night, as did W. Gregg Wharry, his wife and a roomer, in their home in Highland avenue, Bellevue.

The dog was killed by police yesterday.

EDWARD M. FRANK

Edward M. Frank, appointed plainclothesman in the city in 1898, was made a special county detective in 1917. He is completing his 30 years of service with an "office assignment," which means when any emergency is phoned or an unexpected raid ordered he is one of the first to go.

PLANS FOR BLVD. IN BELLEVUE SPEEDED

Bellevue council in special session Tuesday night passed on first and second reading ordinances fixing the route and grades of the Ohio River boulevard through that borough. The measures will come up for final passage in 30 days.

The boulevard, under provisions of the ordinances, will enter Bellevue from the city by means of a bridge 800 feet long, spanning Jack's Run about 60 feet north of the edge of the bluff paralleling the river. The new highway will follow the line of an unopened portion of Riverview avenue thence to an opened but unimproved stretch of the same street, which will be widened to 60 feet.

Another viaduct will carry the boulevard over the South Fremont street hollow. From that point the new highway will continue through private property along the river bluff to the Bellevue-Avalon line, a third bridge being necessary to span the West Bellevue road.

Construction of the boulevard in Bellevue will require confiscation or moving six dwellings, according to county engineers. In most instances there is sufficient vacant property to permit moving the houses if the owners do not wish to give up their homes, engineers say.

Opportunity to affected property owners to be heard will be given before final passage of the ordinances.

ROSS TOWNSHIP APPEALS ANNEXATION RULING

Attorney John E. Winner, representing Ross township, has taken an appeal to the Superior Court from the decision of the local courts permitting annexation to Pittsburgh of a portion of the township in the vicinity of Ivory stop, adjoining the city on the north.

The appeal, which will be argued in April, acts as a stay on the proposed merger.

The township contends the act of 1874 under which annexation proceedings were begun is unconstitutional and that it has been repealed by the act of 1903. Three-fifths of the taxables signed a petition for annexation. The City Council passed an ordinance approving the step July 20 and it was approved by the Mayor. A plan of lots embracing about 40 acres and with a population of 600 is involved.

Hulton Road Curve To Be Eliminated

The County Commissioners yesterday authorized the elimination of a 90-degree curve on the Hulton road at Milltown. The complaint against the curve was filed by H. S. Glenn. Its elimination will require the building of 350 feet of new road and the condemnation of a quarter acre of private property.

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.

Well, they finally stopped us from sending Marines to every war we could hear of. They are having one in Afghanistan. The thing will be over before Congress can pronounce it, much less find out where it is located.

It seems the king over there thought he was adopting modern ideas by limiting his subjects to one wife per each. No wonder they threw him out.

He was just old fashioned and didn't know it. He wasn't modern. He was just queer.

Yours, WILL.

(Polyphonic Choir with Organ)

The Pittsburgh Polyphonic Choir, under the direction of Father Carlo Rossini, gave its Christmas-tide concert in Carnegie Music Hall last night. Instead of the accustomed cantata, the program was made up of miscellaneous secular music and some of the loveliest old church motets ever written.

It was in these classic hymns, sung without accompaniment, that the chorus scored. In the Victoria "Ave Maria" there were a variety of tonal effects that the chorus had never before shown. The Viadana "Exultate" was no less successful, and the ancient Russian chant "Pomilui" had to be repeated in response to the cordial applause.

Ralph Federer, a very young and gifted pianist, played two Liszt Italian souvenirs. He was well received and responded with a pleasing arrangement of Kreisler's "Caprice Viennois." Ada Malaspina-Tchirkow, soprano, gave dramatic readings of the popular "Tosca" and "Andrea Chenier" airs. The accompanists were Mrs. Robert Minardi and John Sedlacek.

LIE COSTS MAN CITIZENSHIP

The American citizenship of Antonio Amadio, an Italian, of Wilpen, Westmoreland county, was declared void Wednesday in Federal Court, because he perjured himself in obtaining his naturalization. The certificate was issued April 28, 1927, in the Common Pleas Court of Westmoreland county. In addition to the cancellation, he was fined $100.

Amadio pleaded guilty before Judge R. M. Gibson to the perjury charge. At the time of his naturalization he said he had never been arrested or charged with violation of the law. The indictment to which he pleaded yesterday recorded him having been arrested February 7, 1927, for selling intoxicating liquor and gambling and having served 30 days in jail.

Spray the Nose and Throat

Prevent Attacks of Colds and "Flu"

USE

NOZOL

To Keep the Nostrils Clear and Healthy

"Spray the nostrils and throat with an oil to keep them lubricant. 'Flu' and grippe germs cannot take hold in membranes that are well lubricated" ... such is the advice being given out by leading health authorities.

And for this purpose all urge the use of a highly effective preparation... NOZOL.

Spray or drop a little Nozol in each nostril and the throat two or three times a day. The antiseptic oils cling to the linings, protecting you against the germs.

Nozol costs but little and you should get a bottle today at your druggist. Take no chances, particularly with the present prevalence of flu.

FINE 15 LIQUOR DISPENSERS

Fifteen defendants in United States Court Wednesday pleading guilty to violating the National Prohibition law were fined as follows: Frank Carriara and William J. Denny, Jr., $125 each; James Ferracano, Sam Douglas, Tony Giansanti, Stanley Schelecki, Leo Moore, Howard Clark, Earl Long, Edgar R. Doerr, James D'Angelo, Paul Sandore and George Wetzel, $100 each; John Adzja, $50, and Jake D'Angelo, $25. Thomas Worrell, of East Pittsburgh, against whom there was a previous conviction, was sentenced to serve 60 days in jail.

With the consent of the District Attorney, the court signed an order for suppression of evidence against Dominick Calabrese, whose home at 1019 Bluff street was unlawfully searched November 4, 1927, by prohibition agents.

Michael Grieves When He Discovers Madge Has Deserted Him

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Madge Sayre, pretty and young, craves luxuries of life. She meets handsome Carroll Dudley, artist and aviator and "man about town," at a party given by Frances Storrs, a friend. Frances warns Madge against Dudley's professions of love. She dines in his luxurious studio apartment, takes midnight air rides in his plane and accepts his suggestion to pose for him in the nude. After professing his love for her, which she accepts, it develops that he is already married. She is struck by the automobile of Michael Winchester, who falls in love with her. They are married. The event is one of startling magnificence. Madge had previously described to Michael her affair with Dudley. Later a barrier of misunderstanding which neither is able to surmount arises. Michael receives a cable to go to his sister in England. He fails to ask Madge to accompany him. Shortly after in a darkened theater a man takes the seat next to her. "Ecstacy! Ecstacy!" he whispers. It is Dudley's pet name for her. Refusing to be jilted by her coldness, Dudley forces her to ride with him through the park. An agreement is reached based solely on "friendship." She invites him to dinner.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

THAT Sunday, Henry and Martha took them in their car about the country, driving slowly through byroads and shaded lanes, so that Madge gasped at the sheer beauty of it all. Carroll was to fly back to Pittsburgh that night, and after supper again Madge and he walked to her favorite seat by the waterfall.

"Delight," he said, "I haven't got any conventions. I couldn't see that it made such a difference—once Winchester knew. I look on you as my wife already, just much as though you were divorced and married to me. But I've no right to expect you to think the same way. Your don't love me a tenth as much as I love you, or would not let convention hold you back from giving freely. But I don't blame you for that," he concluded sadly. "What on earth should you see in me to love as I worship and adore you?"

Madge's hand went out impulsively to take his. What he had said had touched her deeply.

She loved him . . .

What did convention matter? Why must prudery always hold her back from giving when she wanted to overwhelm him with her love? Besides, not one person on earth would believe that she had maintained platonic relationships with Carroll since she had run away with him! Michael would not believe it, and besides and apart from all this, she loved Carroll . . . loved him utterly and completely.

So she was whispering to him, and he, kneeling by her, was looking up at her, covering her hands with kisses while he was swearing by his very love for her that never, never should she regret. She was whispering to him that now he was to fly away, but that when he returned the following week-end, he should find her waiting for him, ready to be all that he wanted her to be. . . .

The huge liner—almost a thing alive and not a mere mass of painted steel and wood—slipped importantly into her dock as though proud of her achievement of having yet again mastered the great Atlantic.

Among the first-class passengers, Michael Winchester was leaning over the side, peering anxiously at the groups of people gathered to meet their friends. His heart ached with longing as he searched those upturned faces, eagerly watching for the one he loved so dearly.

It was with a sense of desolation that he realized that Madge was not there.

His car was waiting for him, and the chauffeur touched his cap.

"Glad to see you back, sir!"

He answered idly. Why had Madge not come to meet him? Perhaps she had preferred to greet him in a setting of her own! So he took comfort, but his nerves did compel him to call to the chauffeur for speed, and yet more speed.

He realized that things must be adjusted between his beautiful wife and himself. Suppressed desires racked him, and he knew that this could not go on.

As the car sped over the cement of the Long Island roads, Michael began to wonder if he had not made a mistake in his relations with Madge. Women were funny creatures! Perhaps if he had been more ardent . . . But his love for her had been so understanding.

He had feared to intrude lest he offend her. Still, he had heard of other cases where the ardor of married love had removed all memory of a previous infatuation.

At last the long drive was over, and he leapt from the car and hurried up the steps that led to the front door. Why, Madge was not even at the door to greet him! Was she ill? Had her father's death prostrated her?

He turned with a sharp inquiry to the butler.

A note in the library!

Cold fear gripped Michael's heart. Could it . . . But why . . . She would not . . . .

He strode into the big book-lined room, closed the door on any prying eyes. There was the note, and Michael's hand trembled as he opened it.

"I am going away, Michael, with Carroll Dudley . . . . . ."

Winchester sat down and the note dropped from nerveless fingers. She was going away—She was gone. Madge was gone.

Up and down his room he walked. He had lost with appalling suddenness the only woman he had ever loved. Agony was his, too poignant to be described.

After an hour—two—for he had lost count of time, Michael perceived the door of the library open. Through pain-tortured eyes he saw his butler stand aside and announce someone. He was just about to protest that he could see no one when the well-loved figure of his old tutor came into the room.

"I had to come to New York on business, and thought I would surprise you," the old man began gayly. Then he saw Michael's expression, and his smile left him. He closed the door and came over to where Michael had sat down again at his desk. "It seems, my boy, providential that I did come. What is it?" He placed a fatherly hand on Michael's shoulder.

"Nothing's the matter," Michael heard his voice almost without recognizing it as his own. "The world is full of truth and beauty, Padre! There is no such thing as dishonor!" He laughed wildly. He stooped and picked up Madge's letter that had fallen to the floor. "Read this!"

Wonderingly the old man adjusted his glasses and his mouth took a firmer line as he read what Madge had written.

"My boy!"

There was silence between them for a long five minutes, and it was Michael who broke that silence.

"Sorry to have been dramatic, Padre. A blow like that makes a coward of a man—makes him forget that other men have suffered the same way. I've got hold of myself now, Padre, but I can't pretend that it doesn't hurt. You see—you see, I loved her rather more than even I knew."

"How can I comfort you with words?" the Padre faltered. "You know my heart bleeds with you. Are you sure it's too late for us to do anything?"

"She left on Tuesday," Michael answered shortly. "Besides, she always had this fellow in her consciousness! Blind fool that I was—why, Padre, it's almost funny if it were not so tragic! I thought, fool that I was, that I could make her forget that fellow—and then wondered at her coldness to me! It was an insane experiment."

"What will you do, my boy?" Padre asked, a little helplessly.

"Do? Divorce her—naturally!"

Michael got up and again he paced the room. It was some time before he replied. Then he looked at his old friend, straight in the face.

"I have my honor to consider. She has done the one thing that removes her beyond the pale. There is no solution but divorce. Any man of honor would say the same thing, as you will agree."

Dr. Borden sighed. "I suppose so." He paused, and then went on: "I hope there won't be a great deal of publicity."

"There must be publicity," Michael almost groaned. "How could a Winchester escape it? But nothing shall get out until the case actually breaks in court. The only people to know the truth will be you and my lawyers." He broke off. Then went on: "Funny thing, but going over to Europe, June Wilson was on board. She confided in me in her mad, modern way—and, of course, this is for you alone, Padre—that she was desperately in love with a titled Englishman, a married man. Asked my advice. I did not take up the morals of the case except to ask her if the man's wife loved him, and on getting her reluctant admission that she did, I pointed out that June would be a thief, apart from any other angle."

He laughed grimly.

"And while I was doing this, my wife and that blackguard were scheming to rob me! I don't imagine that they thought much about me, though."

"What will you do?" the Padre asked anxiously. "I don't mean about the divorce, Michael—but what will you do in the immediate future? Don't stay here. You have a thousand things to wound you in this house—things that will remind you of your loss. Don't stay here."

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

Drawn by Dorothy Flack

DAYS full of happy hurrying! Last minute gifts that simply must be bought somewhere, somehow! Laughing, scurrying good-natured crowds jostling and pushing each other around, and yet each considerate of the other in the rush to bring Christmas happiness.

The most wonderful season of all. The season when Love rides on each happy shoulder, prompting the buying, guiding the timorous, making the selections for those who are in doubt.

Oh, it's a wonderful time! Happy lovers arm in arm saunter along wishing they could buy each other the most gorgeous things! Yet content to select the dear, happy, intimate gift that carries so much with it!

Don't, I beg of you, let avarice creep into your Christmas shopping! Make of it a happy, joyous, loving thing that will bring happiness and joy to all.

Keep the Spirit of Christmas before you! Let it guide you through this holiest, happiest of all seasons! And may you all sense that peace and good-will toward men that was the theme of the angels' song two thousand years ago!

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Season's Greetings

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Your helpful advice would be appreciated on how to sign and address properly a season's greeting card to a pastor of a church and his family from Mrs. J. C. White and son (young man).

J. C. W.

LET'S suppose that the pastor and his wife have two unmarried daughters and one son in the household. Then, if you wish to send only one card to "the family" it is better to address the envelope (instead of to "The Rev. Charles and Mrs. Blake and family," which is never correct) as follows:

The Rev. Charles and Mrs. Blake
The Misses Blake
Mr. John Blake
5 Rectory Street
Home Town
New York

If the card is informal, the signature would not be "Mr. and Mrs. J. C. White," but the informal signature:

The Season's Greetings from Mary Marshall Howard
John Howard
Henry Howard.

What to Serve

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

A boy friend of mine is coming to visit me for the first time. How shall I introduce him to mother?

2. Is it proper to serve anything? What shall I serve?

P. K.

MOTHER, may I present Mr. Robert West?" Or, "Mother, this is Bob West," or "Bob, this is my mother."

2. It is not necessary to serve anything, but, if you are extra hospitable, you may, and with propriety. It always lends a warmth to the hospitality to have some attractive tidbit to nibble on while one talks. A punch, for instance, with a ginger ale "base," and the addition of some fruit juices and fruits, or a combination of ginger ale and grapejuice. And with this some very small, dainty sandwiches, very slim. Or some small cakes of interesting variety.

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Edith Fairfax Is Brought Into the Domestic Situation

I REALLY feared that Dicky would choke as he heard me say that I must decline to have him turn over the decision of my personal affairs to Edith Fairfax.

"What's that?" he snarled at last. "What about Ede? What are you bringing her into this thing for?"

"Only because she brought herself in," I returned airily. "She telephoned while you were gone—wants you to call her up—I haven't had a chance to tell you before—and she took great pains to inform me that as of course I was going to stay out here all winter, there wasn't the slightest use of your remaining here."

"Well! I'll be—" Dicky began, but I gave him no opportunity to finish the exclamation.

"I believe her chief grievance is that you have been playing nursemaid all summer, first to Harry, then to Junior. She admonished me to be sure not to break an arm or anything like that. I would have told her that in no case would any injury of mine keep you from your work with her, but unfortunately I had to hurry to Junior's room and could not reassure her upon that point. But I am sure that when you telephone her, you will be able to set her mind at rest."

I stopped talking with outward nonchalance which hid a choice assortment of tremors. I expected another explosion from my temperamental husband, and braced myself to meet a storm of objurgation. But I should have known from my years of experience with my volatile Peter Pan that he often does the absolutely unexpected thing. His anger and his laughter are both set on such hair triggers that one frequently gives way to the other. What it was in my speech that had pleased and calmed him, instead of adding to his irritation I did not know, but he suddenly threw back his head and laughed heartily.

"From women and their vagaries, good Lord, deliver us!" he said. "That ought to be added to the Litany. Oh don't look so Puritanically shocked. You've probably said it yourself, only substituting the word 'men' for 'women.' But between you and Ede, I know I shall be led to a nicely cushioned cell in the crazy house before I'm much older. At that, though, I can understand that you wouldn't care much for Ede's advice upon the subject of your plans for next year. She is a bit officious, I'll admit, but she means all right. I'll drop her a hint to curb her yen for attending to our family affairs."

From underneath my eyelashes I sent a keen glance at his face and discovered a distinct if faint smirk upon it. In his voice also there was a suspicion of smug pleasure, and I puzzled no longer over the reason for his unexpected mirthful reaction to the speech which in self-defense I purposely had made as irritating as I could.

He had jumped to the conclusion that Edith's telephone conversation had aroused my jealousy—I refused to admit even to myself how accurate was his premise—and—as always—the idea of my being jealous of him had put him in such good humor that he had no room in his soul for anger.

But I read something else also in his face, and that was the tacit acknowledgment of my victory in the question of my keeping up with my work. He might have persisted in his own determination that I should give it up and stay at the farmhouse during the winter, but Edith's eager suggestion to that effect had made it impossible for him to press the question. He knew that I could read but one conclusion from their joint advice—that they did not wish me in the city for reasons of their own, and though in my soul I exculpated him of anything but a genuine desire for Junior's pleasure, yet I resolved to hold fast to the victory I had won.

Cleaning Furs

To clean furs, first beat them with a length of rubber hose to remove all dust. Then rub well into the fur hot bran or corn meal; lay away for a few days, then brush thoroughly.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, December 21

THERE are signs of many worthwhile opportunities for stable growth and advancement seen in this day's astral operations. Persistent effort and calm application are assured compensation in responsible position, sound respect and esteem, as well as substantial business and monetary gain. There is a possibility of all these benefices being defeated and nullified by an indulgence in enmity, strife litigation and rash emotions. With calmness seek new contracts and advantages from large corporations and persons of position and authority.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year of excellent opportunity for substantial growth, good position and popular favor and fortune if they will not defeat themselves by quarrels, impetuosity, rash acts and litigation.

A child born on this day may have many excellent traits and possess great versatility, fitting it for success in many positions, but it should not jeopardize these by its tendency to ill-governed words and actions.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

Next!

INSTANTANEOUS divorce is at last a fact, in Russia. A loving pair came back 20 minutes after the wedding ceremony, asked for a divorce—and GOT it! I call that "service!"

* * *

But why all this breathless haste to exchange mates before you have discovered the real color of each other's eyes? Why not stay married long enough, at least, to carry out a few of your friends' dire predictions?

* * *

No sooner does a woman get a man's digestion straightened out, these days, and his socks all darned up than her "time limit" with this husband is up and she has to move on to the "next."

HELEN ROWLAND

No sooner does she succeed in teaching the children to call her current husband "Daddy," than the lawyer informs her that her case "will be called in January," and she has to begin training them all over again.

* * *

No sooner does she get acquainted with one set of in-laws, than she has to face the problem of conciliating another set.

No sooner has a woman adapted herself to a husband who prowls around half the night and has to be pried out of bed in the morning, than the "bell rings" on this round, and she has to get in condition to do battle with a husband who goes to bed with the birdies and is up with the lark.

* * *

No sooner has she induced her current husband to brush his hair another way, and stop throwing lighted matches on the floor, than the clock strikes midnight, and she has to look around for another man to "reform."

* * *

No sooner has she weeded out a man's old shoes, college sweaters and cravats and bachelor cronies, than the barometer hits zero on this matrimonial venture, and she is faced with the necessity of "breaking in" another unknown.

* * *

No sooner has she resigned herself to her current husband's hobbies and habits, or trained him to turn off the radio at 10 o'clock and to stop leaving his shoes under the piano, than she is "let out" of this job, and has to look for another.

* * *

No sooner has she accustomed herself to one man's brand of tobacco and alibis, taught him to hang up his pajamas, and thrown away all the photographs of his old sweeties, than the curtain is rung down on this domestic scene—and the next act finds her playing up to a new leading man.

* * *

The trouble with modern marriage is that nobody has the patience to read beyond the first chapter. If that is not thrilling and exciting, the book is shut with a bang—and they're calling for the "next" and looking for a brand new set of problems and troubles!

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Rheumatic Fever Not a Hereditary Disease

WHEN a disease is due to a known germ and runs a definite course, we speak of it as an infectious disease. Examples of such diseases are the contagious diseases of childhood and pneumonia and influenza. In the same list is found rheumatic fever.

"Rheumatic fever" is given other names in certain localities. It is the same as "acute rheumatism." "Inflammatory rheumatism" is the same disease.

Undoubtedly this condition is due to one or more of the variety of germs called the "streptococcus." All the streptococci are bad germs. Some germs, even though they are capable of causing disease, do not produce serious disease. But the streptococcus is a germ we would gladly dodge, because it does real harm whenever it acts.

There are a lot of other factors that have something to do with rheumatic fever. It may be well that exposure to cold and dampness may lower the resistance and leave the body in condition to be attacked successfully by the germs of disease.

I doubt if red meat and heredity have anything to do with the disease. Excessive fatigue and lack of nourishing food may prepare the way. I have known several doctors who have worn themselves out during an epidemic and who have gone without proper food. The penalty they have paid was rheumatic fever.

A sore throat may be the final symptom of trouble. Fewer, definite pain in one or two joints and then redness, swelling and tenderness of several joints may be noted.

The acute variety of rheumatic fever lasts for a month or two. In a favorable case it may terminate in three weeks. The chronic type lasts for months, perhaps for a year and a half. When once it comes, it may reappear.

The victim of this disease must go to bed and keep absolutely quiet. Fresh air and frequent baths are indicated.

The sore joints are so painful that the weight of the bed clothes hurts. A support must be devised to keep the blankets from the sore places.

Warm cotton wrapped about the joints and gentle bandaging will promote the comfort. The joints should be fixed to avoid movement.

Hot applications, rubbing the affected parts with oil of wintergreen, alcohol or chloroform linament may help.

The family doctor will prescribe remedies which will help to control the disease and at the same time relieve the dreadful pain.

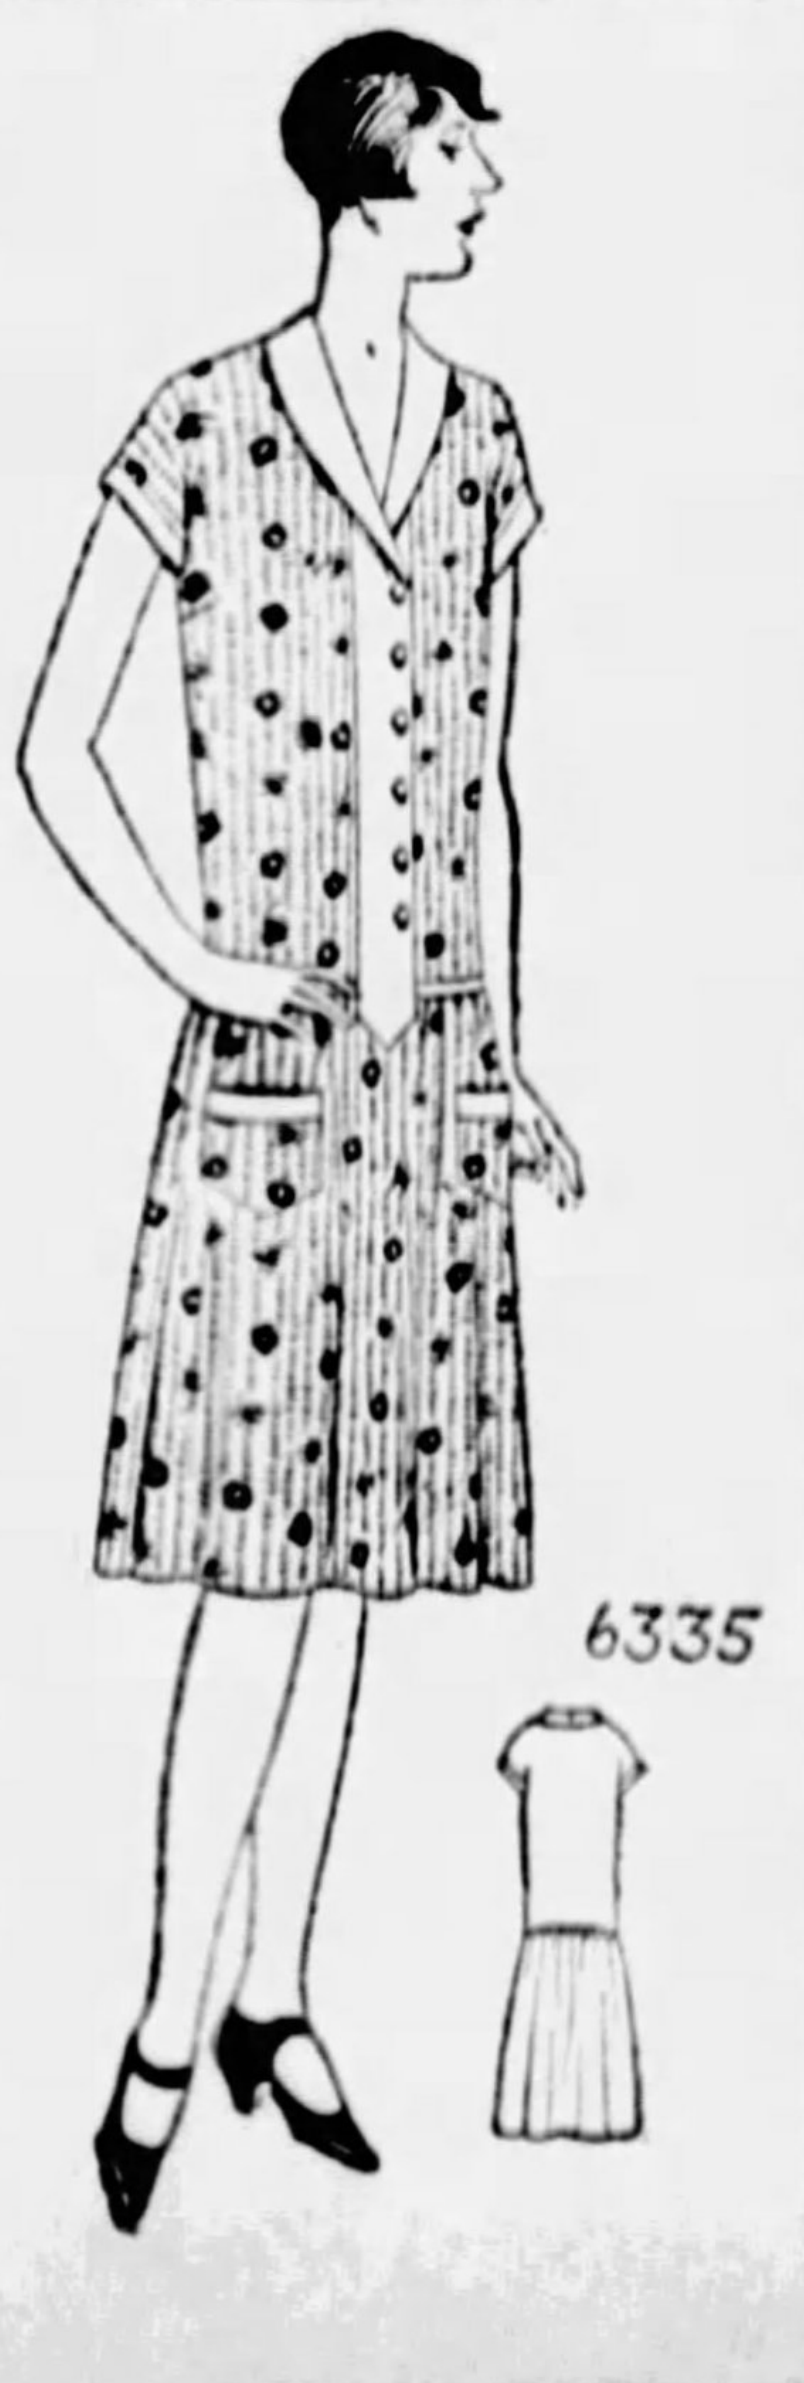
The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern



A QUAINT AND YOUTHFUL MORNING FROCK.

Printed voile and organdy are combined in this attractive model. Extensions that simulate a vest, outline the fronts of the waist and form a collar at the V neckline and over the back. The waist portions are lengthened by full gartered skirt sections trimmed with roomy pockets. Zephyr, gingham and percale, also dimity may be used for this design.

The pattern is cut in six sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. To make the dress for a 38-inch size as illustrated in the large view will require 3½ yards of 36-inch material, together with ¾ yard of contrasting material for facings on the fronts, collar, sleeve, belt and pockets. The width of the skirt at the lower edge with fullness extended is two yards.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Home-Made, but Ends Bad Cough In a Hurry

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Put this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and soothes away the inflammation. At the same time it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in obstinate bronchial coughs and "flu" coughs.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

News of Amusement World Detailed in Words and Pictures

ENTERTAINERS COMING -:- TO THEATERS -:- FOR CHRISTMAS

Ann Harding is the star of "The Trial of Mary Dugan," which will be presented in the Pitt Monday.

Boris Petroff and one of the Singer midgets, lilliputian group, which will present the holiday stage program in the Penn.

NEW REVIEW, MUSICAL COMEDY AND MELODRAMA AMONG COMING STAGE BILLS

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS.

CHRISTMAS week in the theaters promises a variety of entertainment, with a new revue, a popular musical comedy and a successful melodrama in the legitimate houses. It also will mark the resumption of vaudeville in the Davis, the opening of the new Enright in the East End and the beginning of sound pictures in the Sheridan Square, also in East Liberty. Mary Eaton, Oscar Shaw, Ann Harding, Rita Gould and Lew Hearn are among the stars who will be seen on the dramatic stage.

TODAY marks the seat sale opening at the box office of the Nixon for next week's attraction, Ned Wayburn's "Gambol" a revue. There will be a special Christmas Day matinee. Songs, breezy comedy and gorgeous costumes, combined with attractive settings are promised in this new production of the musical comedy stage. Ned Wayburn staged for Florenz Ziegfeld six of his annual "Follies."

Seats are available in the Alvin for the Christmas week engagement of the musical comedy, "The Five O'Clock Girl," in which Mary Eaton and Oscar Shaw come to that playhouse next Tuesday night. There will be three matinees, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday. The engagement is for next week only. Mary Eaton plays a poor little shop girl, who falls in love with the rich young man, portrayed by Oscar Shaw.

Seats are on sale in the Pitt box office for Bayard Veiller's dramatic play, "The Trial of Mary Dugan," which A. H. Woods will present in that theater. This is said to be the most unusual piece of theatrical property ever staged. When the audience enters the curtain is up and the stage is set to resemble the chambers of the Criminal Court of New York City. The entire action of the play takes place there. Mr. Veiller has seen fit to make the audience a part of the performance in that it represents the jury. The opening address of the district attorney and the counsel for the defense are directed to it. The play enjoyed a year's run in New York. Matinees Thursday and Saturday and a special holiday matinee Christmas Day are listed.

No Photoplays In New Policy

THERE will be no motion pictures, in accordance with the vote of Pittsburgh vaudeville patrons, under the new policy of Keith - Albee - Orpheum vaudeville, which is to begin next Monday afternoon, with the Watson Sisters and Francis X. Bushman, Jr., among the nine acts which will comprise the bill.

"Dream of Love," with Joan Crawford and Nils Aster, will be the screen attraction at the Penn beginning December 24. On the stage a varied program will be presented by Singer's Midgets.

The Stanley Company of America will open its fine new theater, the Enright, at Beatty street and Penn avenue, East Liberty, Friday night, December 28, with a special inaugural showing in Pittsburgh of Billie Dove in "Adoration." A stage presentation act, Vitaphone features and Fox Movietone News will be other program numbers to be shown regularly in the Enright.

Trojan Team On Film Grid

THE football team of the University of Southern California made the gridiron sequences in "Brotherly Love," the Earl Dane and George E. Arthur synchronized comedy coming to Loew's Aldine next week. All of the Trojans' luminaries are seen in action.

Jack Reid comes to the Academy next week with his "Record Breakers." This is his twenty-fifth season at the head of his own show and he will be seen in his familiar character, "The Information Kid."

The Photophone sound picture feature in the Harris the last three days of this week will be "The Cavalier," with Barbara Bedford and David Torrence starred. Four acts of spoken vaudeville headed by the Cadet Sextet.

Talking and sound pictures will be inaugurated at the Sheridan Square Thursday, December 27, presenting "The Toilers," with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Jobyna Ralston, Movietone News and other talking and sound effects.

BABY STARS TO BE SELECTED BY WAMPAS FROM GROUP OF 29 OR MORE

By REGINA CREWE.

(Copyright, 1928, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 20.

A MONTH from now the 13 baby stars of 1929 will be selected by the Wampas. Wampas is plural of a word coined by taking the first letter of each of the words forming the official title of the organization, Western Association of Motion Picture Advertisers. Each year the body selects a baker's dozen from among the girls who have brought new faces to the screen and have shown special promise during the year past. Frequently these baby stars attain actual stardom. As a rule each of the major studios is represented by a player. Thus far there are 29 candidates from among whom the lucky 13 will be selected. Some of the girls who seem sure to be among the winners are Anita Page, Josephine Dunn, Merna Kennedy, Jeanette Loff, Helen Twelvetrees, Nancy Drexel, Thelma Todd, Carol Lombard and Jean Arthur. All three of the Young sisters are entries, Loretta, Polly Ann and Sally Blane. So the family seems sure of its share of honors.

With "Ramona" still ringing in our ears, Edwin Carewe has staged a song contest to obtain the theme number for Dolores Del Rio's new picture, "Evangeline." There have been thirty some-odd numbers submitted, and a board of judges has heard them all. Among the judges were Joseph M. Schenck, Mike Levee and D. W. Griffith. There was nothing to identify the writers of the songs, so each composition had an even break. Although it hasn't been announced, "inside info" says that a young man named Al Jolson wins the prize.

Barrymores Are to Cruise

JUST as those who own automobiles sometimes tell their chauffeurs to meet them a few blocks away, John Barrymore and Dolores Costello have sent John's yacht, Mariner, ahead of them to Panama. It will take the vessel a leisurely three weeks to make the journey. Meantime John and Dolores have engaged passage on a steamer leaving here within a couple of weeks. They'll board the yacht at the old Spanish city and then cruise through those romantic Southern waters on a belated honeymoon.

Speaking of honeymoons, Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler are enjoying theirs so much that they have continued it with a trip to Hawaii. This extension-honeymoon is to consume another month or so. Ruby doesn't know it yet, but her gift from Santa Claus is a lavalliere containing two dozen diamonds set in platinum. That is to be one of her presents, anyway.

Watterson Rothacker, another of the youthful movie millionaires, has just handed over $100,000 for the 15-room Italian renaissance home which was the residence of Mary Pickford's mother. The home was built by Mary only 18 months ago, and was a surprise gift to Mrs. Smith (which is Mary's real maiden name) from her children, Mary, Lottie and Jack. Rothacker, although retired following his reorganization of First National, intends to spend at least six months of each year in California.

Cortez, Windsor Work in 'Life'

BOTH Richard Cortez and Claire Windsor are keeping very busy these days, although it is not so frequently that we see them play in pictures together. However, they are co-starred in Tiffany's production, "Life," which goes into work this week. It has an excellent cast throughout. In addition to the leads Montague Love and Helen Jerome Eddy have important roles.

George Fitzmaurice, director of "Lilac Time," "The Barker" and a long list of other successes both new and old, has come to the parting of the ways with First National. It is understood that "Fitz" receives some $75,000 per picture, which is a pretty stiff figure. He may decide to produce his own photoplays in future. The chances are that he will join another organization.

Paramount plans a total of 39 photoplays which will be classified as sound films. Of these, 22 will be talkies, while the others will have song and music synchronization. Twenty-four will be made in a silent version as well as the audible. So those theaters not wired for sound pictures, will still be able to show Paramount pictures.

Pittsburgh's Most Popular Pictorial Section

A picture that should be framed and hung in the nursery—a bright, colorful reproduction of Santa Claus in his shop, finishing his year's work at toy making. Every part of it, from the snowy background to the minutest doll, will interest the youngsters. Be sure to see it Sunday.

"Declaration of Independence"
By John Trumbull

An extremely interesting painting by an interesting artist. John Trumbull, who served as an officer on Washington's staff, incorporated into this painting the portraits of forty-seven men who signed the Declaration of Independence. Its beauty is rivaled only by its historic importance.

"Along the Cheat River"
By A. F. King

A colorful, refreshing landscape painting, the scene being a few miles above Cheathaven, West Virginia. The Cheat river twists lazily through a beautiful valley. Mr. King's landscape is soft and has a delicate charm.

School Set Flocks Back To Town Prepared For Busy Time

FROM university and college, boarding school and finishing school, our young people are flocking back into town again, all ready for Christmas and the holiday good times. Trainloads of them have been arriving all week, and even yet they are not all home. Just take a glance around in the street or the downtown stores and see how many of them are doing a bit of belated Christmas shopping in familiar surroundings.

From now until after New Year's these boys and girls are going to be very busy if they attend all the parties arranged for them. Nearly every night there is at least one dance and usually two or three are set for the same evening for the various school groups. One arranged for tomorrow night will be given by Mrs. Frederic Tremain Billings, of Wallingford street, and Mrs. William Fitzhugh Rust, of Murrayhill avenue, in the Twentieth Century Club. They are entertaining for Mrs. Billings' daughter and son, Lucretia and Frederic Tremain, Jr., and Mrs. Rust's son, William Fitzhugh, Jr. Lucretia is a pupil at Dobbs Ferry and is, I believe, expected to come home today, while her brother will arrive in Pittsburgh tomorrow from Choate. Mrs. Rust's son is a pupil at the Shadyside Country School.

AND while I am on the subject of the school group, three local girls arrived home from the Garrison Forest School in Maryland yesterday. They are Jane Marshall, youngest daughter of the Charles D. Marshalls, of Fifth avenue, whose sister, Margaret is a debutante this winter; Rita Borntraeger, daughter of the Carl H. Borntraegers, of Homewood avenue, and Rebecca Rolf Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rolf Williams, of Regent Square. Rebecca brought two of her classmates from New York, Dorothy King and Elizabeth DeRahn, to be her guests for a few days.

THIS has been a season of extremely interesting engagement announcements and weddings, and today adds one more to the list, that of Margaret Wallick McClintic. The Howard Hale McClintics, of Beechwood boulevard, are announcing their daughter's engagment to George Hutchinson Love, son of Joseph K. Love, of Johnstown.

Ever since her debut, Margaret McClintic has taken a prominent part in nearly all the philanthropic and purely social activities of the younger group here, and is one of the most popular members of this set. She hasn't set a date for her wedding, I believe.

ANOTHER party called off on account of illness! This is the dinner which Mr. and Mrs. T. Clifton Jenkins and Mrs. Alfred Elliotte Jenkins were to have given tomorrow night for Dorothea Jenkins and Elizabeth McCullough, both of whom, of course, are debutantes. The party has been postponed until early in the new year, —to be exact, January 4.

* * *

THEY are making great plans for the cafeteria which will be run by the Spence School alumnae at the charity ball scheduled for next Thursday night in the William Penn Hotel by the Federation of Girls' School Societies. Mary Rhodes is chairman, as I told you before, and she is planning an all-Hawaiian setting—decorations, orchestra and costumes. The girls will wear bright-colored outfits in red, blue and orange, and the men who will carry the trays also will dress as Hawaiians. The music will start at 10:30 o'clock and will continue until the ball is over.

I UNDERSTAND that plans are being made for a number of dinner parties to precede the concert of the Yale Glee Club on New Year's eve. The concert is to be given in Carnegie Music Hall, as usual, and afterwards the boys will attend the ball at the Pittsburgh Club.

HOME from Princeton for the holidays is William Wettach, a sophomore, who has arrived to spend the holidays with his parents, the C. D. Wettachs, of Walnut street.

MISS ROSEMARY HANLON, president of the Pittsburgh chapter of the Trinity College alumnae, has appointed this floor committee fo the annual dinner dance to be held Wednesday in the Hotel Schenley: William H. Connell, Jr., Paul F. Eichenlaub, Charles Loughney, John Feeney and M. J. Shortley.

AMONG the Princeton students returning for Christmas are Robert Fulton, son of J. F. Fulton, of Espy avenue, Dormont; John Metz, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Metz, also of Espy avenue, and Charles Randall Murray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murray, of Bowerhill road, Mt. Lebanon.

J DONALD M'CABE and Roy E. McCabe, sons of Mr. and Mrs E. C. McCabe, of Irwin avenue, Ben Avon, have returned home for the holidays. The former, a graduate of Princeton, has been teaching in the Princeton Preparatory School for the last two years, and his brother is a student at the same school.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS FAWCETT, of Brighton road, North Side, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Georgiana Elizabeth Fawcett, to Willard Stewart Morrow, also of the North Side. No wedding date has been set.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. ORVILLE T. BAILEY, of Waverly street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Mae Bailey, and Thomas J. Orner, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. I. Orner, of Huntingdon, Pa., which was solemnized last Saturday by the Rev. J. W. Briceland, of the Sheraden Presbyterian Church. Mr. and Mrs. Orner will be at home in Altoona after January 1.

Edgewood Women Hold Yule Party

NOTWITHSTANDING that it was more or less impromptu and changed entirely from the year book, it was an enjoyable program which the Edgewood Woman's Club heard yesterday afternoon. Mrs. K. C. Randall read Henry Van Dyke's "Even Unto Bethlehem," the new little book that gives the intimate human side of the journey "even unto Bethlehem" and of that first Christmas in a stable. Then Miss Hannah Gillender told something of the origin of Christmas carols, speaking of the first Christmas music as St. Luke describes it and then of what St. Francis of Assisi had done to bring the Christmas note back into religion when he assembled all the trappings of a stable in his little church. Carol music was once danced to, Miss Gillender stated. She sang one or two old carols and accompanied assembly caroling.

The afternoon was rounded out by Christmas refreshments from a beautifully decorated tea table centered with a shapely ribbon-tied basket of holly and tall red tapers in brass holders.

Eleventh Ward—R. I. Addy, brick dwelling, 1109 Heberton street, $8,000.

O. K. TRANSFER OF BEN MOSES

Federal Judge R. M. Gibson signed an order Wednesday permitting Ben L. Moses, Shadyside druggist, a government prisoner, to remain 30 days in the Montifore Hospital to receive medical and surgical attention. The court also approved the action of United States Attorney John D. Meyer in permitting Moses to be removed yesterday from the county jail, where he is serving a 60 day sentence for bootlegging, to the hospital when Warden John McNeill reported the physical condition of Moses had become serious.

Moses was committed to jail Friday. His counsel on Monday presented a petition asking that Moses be placed in a hospital, and a rule had been granted by the court upon the goverment attorney to show cause Saturday why he should not be placed in a hospital.

WARNS AGAINST YULE FIRES

Warning that tragedy may lurk behind the mask of Christmas gayety was issued to Pittsburghers today by Fire Chief Richard L. Smith. In a message to the public he recalled how often disastrous fires have marred the Yuletide.

To prevent such mishaps this year he urged that people refrain from using lighted candles on Christmas trees, and shun inflammable decorations. Care in using electrical appliances, often carelessly wired by householders, was suggested.

Tuberculosis League Yule Fete Tonight

The annual Christmas party tendered patients at the Tuberculosis League Hospital by the Squirrel Hill Community Club will take place at the hospital this evening. The program includes readings by Mrs. Esther James and vocal solos by Miss Jane Burt. The club will serve refreshments. James F. Malone, president of City Council, will give a radio talk tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock in the interests of the Christmas seal sale of the Tuberculosis League of Pittsburgh. Christmas seals still may be purchased at the booths.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

THE SHOES OF M. DORAN

By LOUISE PEPLE ARMSTRONG

OLD Miss Mary Osgood, Tom Winston's aunt, had invited them to visit her in Richmond for the week-end. "She's entertaining M. Andre Doran, a French singer, and his wife," Dolly explained, glancing over the pale mauve note bearing the Osgood coat-of-arms in silver at the top. "She met him in Venice just after he'd made his debut at the Paris Opera House. His wife's an American."

"I never could understand," observed Tom Winston, "how any sensible, able-bodied man could be content to sing for a living."

"That's old-fashioned and prejudiced," retorted his little wife with a smile. She knew Tom, who stood in awe of his aunt, would go with her to Richmond.

So next morning she took his tuxedo out of the cedar chest and had Jane press it before packing it in the suitcase along with her best evening gown. A week-end in the city—meeting a celebrity!

"Wonder what the wife'll be like?" she mused aloud that evening.

"What wife?" inquired Tom, knocking ashes out of his pipe and stuffing it into the pocket of his coat.

"I do wish you wouldn't do that, Tom," Dolly remonstrated, "Jane has to hang your things out of doors to get the tobacco-smell out of them!"

"All right. But what wife are you wondering about, honey?"

"Oh, M. Doran's wife, of course, silly! I suppose she's very beautiful and charming. Just from Paris, too, Aunt Mary says. Paris gowns and—"

Tom snorted. "More I hear of those two the less I look forward to doing the society stunt for their benefit."

Tom grinned at her. "Save your thrills," he cautioned. "They're probably fat and stupid. Most singers are."

Nevertheless, on the next Friday night, when Miss Osgood's butler, old Uncle Jake, held aside the red velvet portiers and announced the arrival of "M'sur an' Mme. Doran," Dolly gave a gasp of delighted satisfaction. As Uncle Jake stepped respectfully aside, M. Doran entered the room. A tall, extremely handsome man, with an aristocratic bearing, aquiline features, fair hair and a wealth of silver-blond hair. He didn't look French, he might have been Scandinavian - Baldur, the sun-god!

Old Miss Osgood fluttered about him, exclaimed over him in an adoring fashion. Next instant he was bending over Dolly Winston's finger-tips with courtly grace. She was vaguely irritated at Tom's suggestive grunt behind her. She knew that later he would make some silly joke of it. But this was the first time in her life that a man had kissed her hand!

"My dear Eileen!" Aunt Mary was saying.

At her flat tone Dolly looked up. Madame Doran smiled at them from the doorway. A mouse of a woman, wearing a simple, severely-cut brown velvet gown. But her irregular features, when she smiled, did light up wonderfully.

During the remainder of the evening Dolly wondered. Had this plain, American woman been very wealthy? Frenchmen, she knew, made no scruple of marriages of convenience. But no, she couldn't believe M. Andre was mercenary. He was so charming—talked so well. And he wasn't a bit egotistical or overbearing. He listened attentively to Tom's ideas of the stock market and the general trend of business. Dolly was vexed that Tom was choosing to play the American businessman tonight, and talk shop. He sounded like a small boy, showing off. She knew it was to make the French singer uncomfortable, and was glad he wasn't succeeding. But she noticed that Madame Eileen, by putting in a word here and there, proved how well she understood modern finance.

Daughter of a successful tradesman, Dolly thought. Yes, she had to admit it, M. Andre must have married his Eileen to further his career. What attraction should she possibly have had for a man of such looks, amiability and personality?

Miss Osgood arranged to have them driven about the city next morning. Tom and Dolly were to accompany her guests and see that nothing of historic interest was overlooked, for Richmond is rich in earmarks of the past. They must surely see Battle Abbey. One of M. Andre's own countryman had painted the stirring scenes of Confederate battles on its inner walls. He had been called to fight in the French army while in the midst of his task, and the Abbey had been closed against his return. And at the end of the great conflict, when he came back, having seen what war actually was, he painted out all that he had formerly done, and began anew! And there was Valentine Museum, the Poe Shrine, the old powder-horn of Revolutionary times which stood in Capitol Square, the castle on Gamble's Hill, called Pratt's Folly, and dozens of other interesting places.

So the four of them set out in the Fall sunshine. Though the linden-trees in the wide streets had shed their leaves the city was still a lovely, quiet place. When at last they alighted at Battle Abbey, Daniel, the chauffeur, announced that he would drive down the boulevard for gas and be back in 15 minutes. They wandered about, inside and out of the building, admired the formal garden in the rear.

"Daniel should be back by now," Dolly finally said. "Wonder what's keeping him?"

"Oh, Daniel," Tom observed casually. "Why, it was such a lovely morning, and I thought we'd enjoy the walk home, so I told him not to come back."

Madame Eileen looked annoyed, but said nothing. Dolly saw a shadow pass over the face of M. Andre. "How far is it . . . to the home of your aunt?" he finally asked, the jovial friendliness gone from his voice. "I'm not accustomed to walking anywhere," he added stiffly.

"Oh, then we must call a taxi, Tom," Dolly exclaimed. "Go into the Abbey . . ."

"It's only 10 blocks," Tom Winston said. "Surely nobody could object to walking that little way! But of course if you can't walk!"

M. Andre reddened under Tom's significant gaze.

"Oh, come, it'll do us all good," Madame Eileen said.

But Dolly saw she was simply trying to smooth over a difficult situation; and the handsome Andre looked positively venomous.

"Very well," he said shortly, "let us start."

The poise of Madame Doran was admirable. She chatted pleasantly, and yet her mind wasn't upon their conversation. What was she worrying about? Dolly saw her looking ahead at her husband who walked with Tom. She was looking at the feet of M. Andre, and suddenly Dolly noticed that he was wearing a pair of shiny, new patent-leather pumps . . . on the morning they had set out to explore the city!

The Frenchman was making no effort to respond to Tom's genial remarks. Once in a while he grunted, after a few blocks he actually limped.

At length Dolly decided to be frank. "Those shoes your husband wears—I'm afraid they're not good for walking!"

Eileen Doran sighed. "I know," she said. "An artist has little peculiarities—little vanities. Andre is vain about his feet. I love walking, but we never can. One's feet spread, grow a bit when middle age comes on. But Andre wears tight boots, and they have an unfortunate effect upon his temperament."

At last even Tom's conviviality was squelched by the silence of M. Andre. The remainder of the way was traversed without speech from any of the little party. But at the door of Miss Osgood's residence the Frenchman turned abruptly upon his wife and said: "Go in there and call a car—we go to the hotel!"

Dolly gasped at the abrupt, bullying tone, and at the slight to her and Tom. Eileen Doran smiled pathetically, started to obey the command of her lord. But Tom was before her. "Allow me, Madame! And please believe I had no idea a short walk would have such an unforunate effect upon your charming husband!"

"What did you do to Andre Doran?" old Miss Osgood demanded of her nephew late that afternoon. "I thought it was queer they didn't come in with you, and when I phoned the hotel Eileen said she was terribly upset about something. She said it's doubtful if he will be calm enough to sing tonight at the Mosque!"

"I walked him 10 blocks," Tom said defiantly, "and those fancy dogs he wore just about finished him. They not only did that; they brought his true beastly disposition to the surface. Aunt Mary, I just couldn't stand seeing Dolly being bewitched by a handsome hand-kisser. I really did it to—to disillusion her!"

Six Seconds For Safety

"All the time is train time at grade crossings."

So says the Pittsburgh Motor Club in its safety campaign to keep the sorrow of death and injury from Pittsburgh homes this Christmas.

The club is doing this through safety "wise cracks," which may be easily remembered during that important six seconds necessary to prevent an accident. Remember that 25,775 people were killed in this country last year in auto accidents.

YANKS NEED MAN FOR DUGAN'S JOB

RUMORS that the baseball deal recently made by the Washington club to get Third Baseman Buddy Myer back from the Red Sox would be followed shortly by another Senatorial dicker, this time with the New York Americans, were strengthened by the action of the management of the Yankees yesterday in handing an unconditional release to Joe Dugan, veteran third sacker.

Oswald Bluege.

Ever since the consummation of the Boston trade, it has been reported that a second swap was brewing in which Washington would turn Third Baseman Oswald Bluege over to New York in exchange for Shortstop Mark Koenig.

That the Yankees feel assured of getting a new third baseman from some source is indicated by the release of Dugan, as it is considered unlikely that Manager Miller Huggins would be willing to entrust the hot-corner job to Mike Gazella, who has never developed, or to Gene Robertson, who has not quite measured up to big league requirements.

BESIDES, it is being pointed out that the coming of Lynn Lary from Oakland in the Pacific Coast League might mean the benching of Koenig anyhow, and additional color is given to the reports of a proposed Bluege-Koenig deal by the fact that in Myer and Bluege the Senators have two third sackers, while two of their shortstop candidates, Reeves and Gillis, were let go in the deal for Myer.

So the dopesters have put two and two together and arrived at the conclusion that Bluege is to be traded for Koenig. If their figuring is not correct, considerable shifting will be done in the Washington infield before the 1929 season begins. If Bluege is shifted to shortstop, one possibility that has been suggested, it will mean the dropping or the benching of Joe Cronin, former Pirate. Bluege did no work at shortstop last season, as all of his 144 games were played at third base. Second base is also in doubt, as there are half a dozen candidates for the post, with Stuffy Stewart, who has failed more than once in the majors, supposed to be leading.

THE frequency with which Clark Griffith's name has appeared in print in connection with the Washington club's trading activities, and in all announcements about playing matters, has caused some fans to ask if Walter Johnson is only a figurehead.

The majority of diamond followers never thought Walter would be anything else. They figured that Griffith signed him as manager merely as a box-office play on account of the once great pitcher's popularity in Washington, and intended to manage the club himself, and developments are proving that their guess was not far from the mark.

Ed Morris.

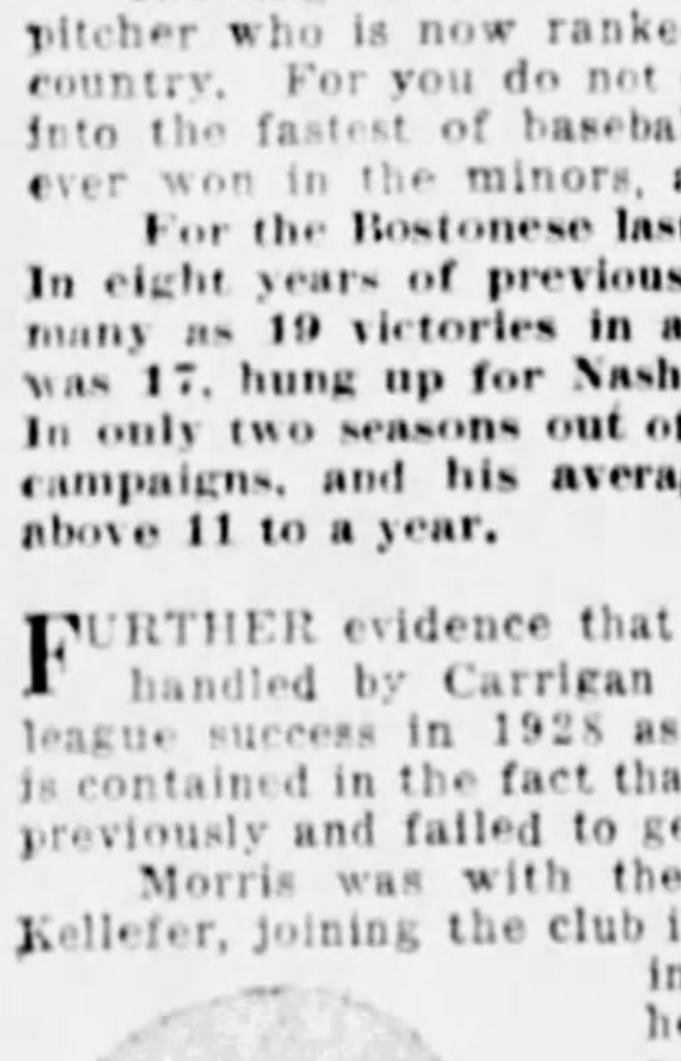
OTHER big league clubs have frequently expressed regret that they did not succeed in beatng the Boston Americans to such a prize package as Ed Morris, one of the pitching sensations of 1928, but, according to some baseball men, Morris might not have done nearly so well elsewhere as he did in Boston. They give Manager Bill Carrigan most of the credt for the development of Morris into such a great pitcher. It is recalled that Carrigan took Morris in hand in the early spring as a prospect that required special handling; roomed with him on the road, gave him much advice off the field as well as on it; shaped his habits, and worked on his imaginaton until he had filled him with self-confidence and overcome his fancied defects.

THAT clever handling by Carrigan really had a lot to do with the showing of Morris is indicated by the comparative records of the pitcher who is now ranked as one of the star right-handers of the country. For you do not often hear of a hurler who is able to step into the fastest of baseball company and win more games than he ever won in the minors, and yet that is true of the Red Sox find.

For the Bostonese last season Morris won 19 games and lost 15. In eight years of previous service he never was able to register so many as 19 victories in a single season. His highest earlier total was 17, hung up for Nashville in the Southern Association in 1925. In only two seasons out of eight in the minors did he have winning campaigns, and his average number of wins was only a fraction above 11 to a year.

FURTHER evidence that the manner in which he was coached and handled by Carrigan played as great a part in Morris' major league success in 1928 as the native ability of the pitcher himself is contained in the fact that two other major league clubs had Morris previously and failed to get anything out of him.

Morris was with the Chicago Nationals in 1922 under Bill Kellefer, joining the club in August, but he was dropped after pitching only 12 innings for the Cubs. In 1925 he was in spring training with the Cincinnati club under Jack Hendricks, but before the season opened he was shipped to Nashville.



Max Carey.

CHARLEY PETERSON, billiard veteran, may have cheated himself out of some kind of record by forgetting to keep score during a game with a friend in St. Louis. Playing 18.2, Peterson shot for one hour and three minutes without a miss. In the matter of time, his performance is believed to be without a parallel, but just how many points he made will never be known, as his extraordinary burst of scoring soon killed the affair as a contest and neither Peterson nor his opponent kept count. "I regret very much that I did not keep score," said Peterson. "I will not guess at the total, but I did play steadily for one hour and three minutes without missing. I was in fine stroke and simply could not miss. Never in my life had I played such a balkline." The highest official run at 18.2 in competiton is credited

PITT-IOWA TILT UNCERTAIN

M. Don Harrison, director of athletics at the University of Pittsburgh, denied today that the Pitt-Iowa basketball game, scheduled for December 29 in the stadium pavilion, was definitely on, as reported in a news dispatch from Iowa City.

Harrison said that should there be a generous abatement of the flu epidemic, that the game might be staged, but that he could make no definite statement at this time. Director Harrison has asked Iowa to hold the date open on the chance that the game can be played. It was this request, according to Harrison, that led the Iowa authorities to believe the game was o. k.

DODWELL NEW DUKE HEAD

The Rev. John F. Dodwell, C. S. Sp., has been appointed chairman of the Duquesne University Athletic Council, which post was made vacant by the departure of the Very Rev. Henry McDermott for Ferndale, Conn. Rev. Dodwell is a native of Philadelphia, but has been in Pittsburgh as a member of the faculty of Duquesne since 1920.

He has been prominent in athletics in the Bluff School since his coming. He has coached baseball, basketball and football in the preparatory school of the university. He has been faculty manager, director and adviser of Athletics at different times till the acquisition of John D. Holahan, graduate manager of Athletics, and Elmer F. Layden, athletic director. Before succeeding the Rev. McDermott, he was secretary of the athletic council.

CUE STARS IN TOURNEYS

THREE-RAIL ACES

These four knights of the green cloth finished their fight for the world three-cushion billiard championship at Chicago last night. Layton defeated Hoppe and won the title, and Reiselt downed Copulos and annexed the consolation prize.

ERWIN RUDOLPH RALPH GREENLEAF PASQUALE NATALIE

Along with Frank Taberski, these three cueists competed for the pocket billiard crown in the title tourney staged in Chicago in conjunction with the three-cushion championship event. The competition was to have ended last night, but a dispute has resulted in its being continued until tomorrow night and possibly longer. Greenleaf, playing Taberski for the crown, violated a tournament rule when he left the room more than once while the match was in progress. Taberski protested, and the tournament chiefs ordered the match to be replayed tomorrow night. Greenleaf needs one more win to clinch the title, and if Taberski should win, he and Greenleaf will be deadlocked in the race and will have to play again. Rudolph won the consolation prize by defeating Natalie.

Catholic Highs Form Court League

A high school basketball league, composed of Catholic high schools of the city, was formed yesterday at a meeting; eight teams are included in its roster. A schedule meeting has been arranged for January 2, at which time final plans will be completed.

The teams which will compete follow: Catholic High, Sacred Heart, St. Johns, St. Marys of the Mount, St. Justins, Duquesne University High, St. Rosalias and St. Francis de Salles.

ROCKNE TO SPEAK

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—Knute Rockne will be the principal speaker at the Loyola University football banquet to be held at the Hotel LaSalle tonight. In addition to the Notre Dame coach other prominent Middle-Western sportsmen will attend.

DEMPSEY-GREB CONTROVERSY ON AGAIN

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

COULD the late Harry Greb, at his best, have beaten Jack Dempsey when the latter was heavyweight champion?

The old question is being revived over in New York, and is finding the fans and writers fairly well divided.

It will be remembered that Greb always contended he could whip Dempsey in a bout of six or 10 rounds and clamored for same, but it wasn't forthcoming. The general impression was that Dempsey didn't want any of Greb's game in the ring after being figuratively blinded by the Pittsburgher's whirling speed in a workout at Michigan City when Jack was training for his battle with Billy Miske.

One of the dissenters from the opinion that Greb could have galloped his way to a decision over Dempsey, with both at their best, is Hype Igoe, veteran boxing writer of New York, who says Greb was too small to beat the Dempsey of Toledo, the ferocious tiger who knocked down the giant Willard seven times in the first round and beat him to a pulp and into submission in three rounds.

CONTINUING, Hype says, in his interesting analysis:

"It would have been unreasonable to suppose that Greb could have floored Dempsey or knocked him out. That would have eliminated that worry from Dempsey's mind, if ever he did fret about such things.

"The man who couldn't punish Dempsey in those days couldn't have hoped to beat him down. Greb did have the speed to outbox Jack. He did have the courage and the ability to score. But it is my contention that Dempsey, needing only one sock to bring Greb down to normal speed, would have followed him up and knocked him out inside of 10 rounds.

"It might be that Greb could have outpointed Dempsey in six. I'll give him credit for thinking so. Greb was the type of boxer who knew when he had a chance to beat a man. All told, I don't think he ever barred any man in all his career, but he DID say that he wanted his bout with Dempsey limited to SIX ROUNDS. At least, he had that much respect for Dempsey. He must have reasoned that he could scamper through six rounds without getting hit. He knew that he couldn't stand many of Dempsey's wallops.

"In my opinion then, boys, I hold that Dempsey would have beaten him at any distance and in a 10-round bout would have stopped him. There would have been one occasion when a great little man couldn't have whipped a great big man. However, it is merely an opinion. Too bad they never met. I know that Dempsey was nettled over some of Greb's talk. He told me that he'd knock out Greb if they ever met."

They'll be arguing that Greb-Dempsey thing as long as any followers of boxing survive who have seen the pair in action. It's a pity they never met, for that is the only way the thing could be settled in a satisfactory manner. Personally, I know that Greb, one of the greatest fighters that ever drew a breath, and at his best against the heavyweights, although he seldom scaled much more than 160 pounds, always had a hankering, right down to the untimely finish of his career, to tackle the so-called man-killer of the ring. He had the ambition and the confidence in his ability to win.

DOWN East, they're waiting to cast their glimmers on this K. O. Christner, 35-year-old daddy of two children in Akron, who breaks into the big time against Jack Sharkey in Madison Square Garden, New York, next month, following his victory over Knute Hansen in Cleveland a few weeks ago. As one of the columnists expresses the general anxiety to get a peek at the Ohioan, the fans will have to wait only 36 more days 'til Christner.

Jack Sharkey is fighting with Tex Rickard again, via the press. He calls Rickard names, accuses him of being the manager of all the heavyweights in captivity, exclusive of himself, says he wouldn't let Rickard manage him for $60,000,000 and challenges Tex to trot out his three "pets," Dempsey, Stribling and Paulino, while he makes mincemeat of them. Truly, the ballyhoo is on. We have here all the signs of the start of another heavyweight elimination tournament.

700,000 Fans Saw White Sox in '28

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—With a team that floundered in and out of second division and finally ended the season with an average of .525, the Chicago White Sox drew more than 700,000 customers through the turnstiles last season.

Local Soccer Star A Second Luque

By TOM BIRKS.

OUT Swissvale way, wearing the familiar Red and White of the Union Switch and Signal soccer football team, is a Cuban boy, Nemesio Fontela, who is regarded as one of the best goalkeepers ever to appear in local soccer circles. During the interval of the game with Clan Douglas, last Saturday, Fontela admitted that soccer is only one of his sports accomplishments, and that he is a far better pitcher in baseball than he is a goalie in soccer.

The writer never has seen Fontela in action on the diamond, but if his ability as a twirler compares favorably with his ability as a soccer player, Barney Dreyfuss and Donie Bush of the Pirates might do well to take a look at this boy, who is a fellow-townsman of Adolfo Luque, renowned moundsman of the Cincinnati Reds.

WAS STAR IN HAVANA

Fontela has made such a wonderful soccer reputation that the fans are forgetting the great Bobby Boyle, and when the writer watched Fontela on Saturday, he found that the fans had made little mistake in proclaiming the Cuban boy one of the finest goalkeepers in Western Pennsylvania.

Fontela is about five feet 9 inches tall and weighs about 175 pounds. He has been an athlete since childhood. This is his fourth year in first-class soccer. He started in Havana, Cuba, playing for the Asturias football club, staying there one season. Then he landed with the Esploradores Club, which was angling for his services.

The following season found him with the Cinfuegos football club, and following that engagement, he sailed for America to take up employment at the Union Switch and Signal works at Swissvale. While in Cuba he was the star pitcher of the Manba Baseball Club, and according to those who have seen him in action on the mound, Fontela has plenty of stuff, including a great fast ball.

LIKES WARM WEATHER

Fontela says that working nine innings on the hottest day does not fatigue him in the least, and should he stay around Pittsburgh he probably will get all kinds of offers.

While in Havana he won the pentathlon at the city games, winning the javelin, shot put and discus throw with plenty to spare.

So it seems that Jack Campbell did local athletics a favor when he decided to bring Fontela to Swissvale. He already has made a mark in soccer, being able to punch the ball half the length of the field when clearing his lines, but if his other sport ability stands up like the soccer end of the game, we feel sure that more is going to be heard of the boy from far-off Cuba.

FOX AND GETTO LIKELY EAST STARTERS

By

Howard Harpster

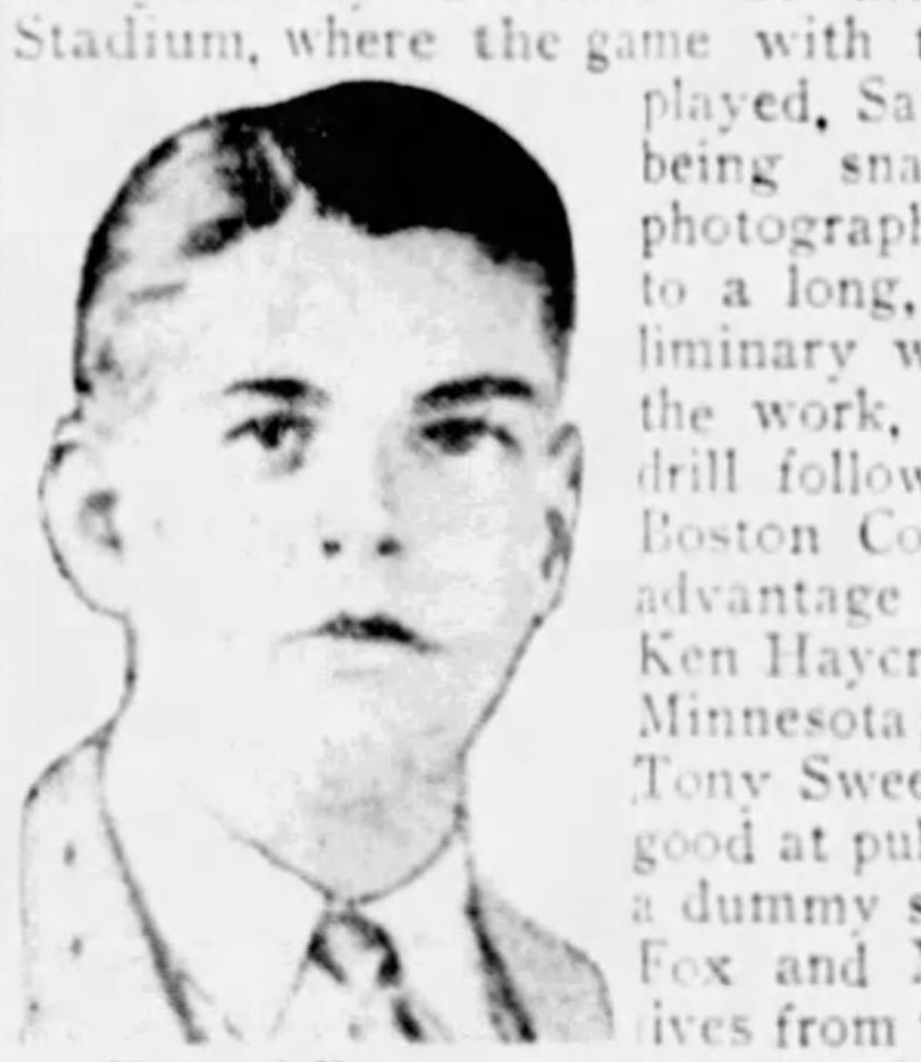
(Written Exclusively for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20.—The all-East team worked out yesterday afternoon at the San Francisco Municipal Stadium, where the game with the Western stars is to be played, Saturday, December 29. After being snapped by many newspaper photographers, the squad settled down to a long, hard drill. The usual preliminary warming-up exercises started the work, and then a lengthy passing drill followed. Al Weston, the flashy Boston College back, showed to good advantage on the throwing end, while Ken Haycraft, the all-America end from Minnesota; Delph, of Penn State, and Tony Sweet, from Tech, looked mighty good at pulling the passes in. Later, in a dummy signal scrimmage, Capt. Alec Fox and Mike Getto, the representatives from the University of Pittsburgh, looked to be in mid-season form in leading the interference and in opening large, gaping holes in the line. Both of these men, along with Capt. Aschman of W. & J., have a wonderful chance of being in the starting lineup when the whistle begins the ball game on the twenty-ninth.



Howard Harpster

I met Lloyd Yoder, the all-America tackle and Carnegie's great captain of 1926, today, and we spent a great deal of time talking over old times at Tech. Lloyd has a very fine position in San Francisco with the National Broadcasting Corporation, and is now living in San Francisco. He has the unique record of having played on both the East and the West teams.

We are to remain at our present headquarters at the Palace Hotel until tomorrow, when we leave for Palo Alto, where we will practice until game-time at Stanford University.

BABE, LOU TIED; SLUGGERS ARE FANNED OFTEN

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

BABE RUTH, Lou Gehrig and Bob Meusel, siege guns of the World Champion Yankees, once more have proved conclusively that any batter who is swinging always is dangerous.

Babe, Lou and Bob led the American League in runs driven in during the 1928 season, but the triumvirate piled up a strikeout total that is quite astonishing, the official records, released today, reveal.

Ruth and Gehrig tied in pounding over the tallies with 142 each, Meusel being second with 113.

The Bambino fanned more often than anybody in the league, he going over the whiff route no less than 87 times. Gehrig went out on strikes on 69 occasions, Meusel losing out to the pitchers in this manner 56 times.

So you will see that these real hitters do not do anything in a half-hearted manner.

Other batters who drove in more than 100 runs, according to the official lists, are Manush, of the Browns; Simmons, of the Athletics; Heilman, of the Tigers, and Goslin and Judge, of the Senators.

RUTH LEADS IN WALKS

Joey Sewell, of the Indians was the hardest player in the circuit to put down by strikes. Sewell missed fire just nine times in 155 games.

As usual, Ruth was far in front of all the parade in the rather important question of bases on balls. The feared hitter walked 135 times. Lou Blue, of the Browns was the only other hitter to obtain as many as 100 passes, he drawing 105. The records:

WORTERS, CONACHER RETURN

GAMES TONIGHT.
N. Y. Americans vs. Pirates, at Duquesne Garden (8:30).
Ottawa at N. Y. Rangers.
Toronto at Montreal.
Canadiens at Detroit.

By CARL W. SHATTO.

PIRATE stars of yesterday will lead the New York Americans against the Pirates of today in a National Hockey League game at Duquesne Garden tonight. The former Pittsburghers who are slated to play lead roles for the invaders are Lionel (Big Train) Conacher, captain and defense ace, and diminutive Roy Worters, holdout champion and goalie with a reputation second to none.

Whether Conacher and Worters will be greeted with cheers or jeers depends upon the attitude of local fandom, but there is little doubt but that these stars of the ice sport will serve as magnets to draw a capacity crowd to the Craig street arena tonight. It may be that Lionel and Roy were not always dear to the hearts of Pittsburgh fandom, but they always were in the limelight, and this, from a boxoffice viewpoint, is the more important.

VISITORS LEAGUE LEADERS

Accompanying Conacher, Worters and Manager Tommy Gorman here are a squad of skate and stick artists most of whom never wore the spangles of the Americans until this season. These newcomers to the New York fold are not new to the league nor to the ice sport. They are veteran campaigners who at present boast a winning streak of five straight games, and this great spurt has carried them to the crest of the National League.

Both the Pirates and the Americans arrived here yesterday, coming from New York, where the Gorman sextet handed the locals a 2-0 setback on Tuesday evening. While the Americans are riding the crest of a great winning streak, the Pittsburghers are wallowing in the trough of a no-goals slump, and it requires little of daring to announce that the Americans' chances of repeating at the expense of the Leonard and Cleghorn forces are not at all bad.

The Pirates have not scored a single goal in their last four encounters, and they have tallied only six counters in the 12 games in which they have engaged this season. In five home appearances the Bucs have tallied only twice, and both of those goals were registered on December 1, when the Chicago Hawks handed the locals a 3-2 defeat. In eight of their 12 games the Pirates have been held scoreless.

And the Americans' recent record would indicate that the Bucs' goal drought is to be continued. The scores of the New Yorkers' last five games are as follows: Americans 2, Boston 1; Americans 3, Boston 0; Americans 2, Montreal 1; Americans 1, Chicago 0; Americans 2, Pirates 0.

Even an apprentice statistician can figure out that the Pirates' present guests have allowed only two enemy goals in their last five encounters. No, the locals' scoring chances are nothing to cheer about.

But when the crepe is discarded and rose-tinted glasses are donned, it can be admitted that the Bucs' victory chances are considerably better than zero. The Americans have been "taken" in three times this season, and Cleghorn's men have been known to play some of the best clubs in the league to a standstill. The only certainty regarding this fight is that it will be productive of plenty of fast, hard hockey.

New Americans who will be in the New York lineup tonight are Johnny Sheppard and Punch Broadbent, starting wingmen, and Babe Dye and Rabbit McVeigh, who relieve them on the front line. Sheppard is a former Detroit Cougar, Broadbent is an ex-Montreal Maroon, and Dye and McVeigh were obtained from the Chicago Hawks. The robust Reise will pair with Conacher at defense, and Burch will be at center.

Late Chick Henry Former Local Idol

By JULIUS LEVIN.

OLDTIME hockey favorites in Pittsburgh today vividly recalled the brilliant exploits of Harold Cumming (Chick) Henry, former Pittsburgh star, who died yesterday in Montreal, a victim of pneumonia. Henry was ill only three days.

Garnet Sixsmith and Joe Donnelly, pioneers of amateur hockey in Pittsburgh, well remember the popular Canadian star when he played left wing on the famous Keystone Club, which operated at Duquesne Garden from 1907 to 1909.

WAS KEYSTONE STAR

Sixsmith, who with his brother, Art, were members of the Keystone Club along with Henry, claims that Henry was one of the fastest skaters ever to appear at a local hockey arena. Only a fair shot, Henry used his hurdling ability to good advantage on the ice, taking very short strokes and virtually running on skates. His speed played a big role in the success of the old Pittsburgh team in the early days of hockey here. Henry, according to Sixsmith, never drank nor smoked and was an idol with the fans here.

The Keystone Club in those days played seve-man hockey. The roster of the team included such well-known hockey celebrities besides the Sixsmith brothers and Henry as Peggy Duvall, Hod and Ross Stuart, Baldy Spricklie, Jimmy McKay and the late Eddie Roberts, who died in the world war.

McKay, now connected with a local sporting goods house, played at the net; Henry was at left wing; Garnet Sixsmith at right wing; Art Sixsmith at center, while Peggy Duvall and Hod Stuart played the points, now known as defense positions.

After leaving Pittsburgh, where besides playing hockey he was employed by the Mellon National Bank, Henry went back to Ottawa where he became connected with a banking house. Of late years Henry was auditor for a milk concern in Montreal.

FORMER STAR HERE

MONTREAL, Que., Dec. 20.—A former Pittsburgh hockey star and business man is dead here. Harold Cumming Henry, local business man, succumbed to pneumonia after three days' illness. He was a native of Ottawa and started his business career with the Bank of Ottawa. Henry went to the Mellon National Bank, Pittsburgh, in 1903, later returning to the Dominion for several years. Henry was a brilliant hockey player, first for the championship Ottawa team of 1901 and later for Pittsburgh professional team from 1907 to 1909. He was president of the Cliffside Athletic Club, Ottawa, which in 1909 provided a hockey team which was the first holder of the Allan cup and won the amateur championship of Canada.

THREE REDS GO

CINCINNATI, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—The Cincinnati Baseball Club has settled in full with the Columbus Club for Joe Stripp, former Senator third baseman, officials announced. They said Pitchers Jablonowski and Wykoff and Outfielder Bernie Neis, recently obtained, will go to the Senators.

CAWTHON ELECTED

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Dec. 20.—(INS.)—A star fullback for the past two seasons, Rainey Cawthon, Tallahassee junior, will captain the University of Florida outfit in 1929. Dale Vansickel, an all-America end, is alternate.

FELDERS MEET CONLEY CLUB TONIGHT

By JULIUS LEVIN.

RUSIN HALL, Homestead, the home floor of the M. J. Conleys, will serve as a magnet for the followers of professional basketball tonight when the famous Jeannette Felders invade the Milltown to engage Manager John Bresko's passers in a battle for first place in the Pittsburgh and Ohio Valley League.

Neither the Felders nor the Conleys have suffered defeat in the league race to date and the winner tonight will take undisputed possession of first place. The Felders, boasting a veteran team that for years has beaten the best teams in its class, have been showing championship form since the season opened, but in engaging the Conleys, composed mainly of former Schwartz Valley players, they will be opposing the strongest club they have faced so far.

STAR PLAYERS

Although very little has been said about the strength of the P. & O. League this year, this popular circuit includes among its players some of the best independent and professional stars in this vicinity, and as a result its supporters are being treated to excellent contests. Tonight's game brings together two of the strongest quintets enrolled in the loop, and a great battle is promised the followers of the contesting floor machines.

The game not only has stirred up considerable interest in the Homestead district, but in Jeannette as well. According to reports a large delegation of fans will accompany the Jeannette passers to the Milltown tonight.

Old floor rivals will renew a basketball feud of long standing tonight when the Rauhs entertain the Duquesne Lafayettes in the only contest scheduled in the Allegheny County League. Judging by the interest shown in the contest Columbus Temple should house a capacity crowd.

The Duquesne Lafayettes, champions of the league for two successive years, are a great drawing card in local floor circles, and inasmuch as they appear to have started just where they left off last winter, winning three straight league games, many fans will be out to see them in action tonight.

While the Lafayettes have a lineup that is considerably changed from that which represented the club last winter, the team is every bit as strong as the 1927-28 outfit. Eddie Klein and Joe Drotar have added much strength to Ed Minnick's quintet and their work to date has left no room for complaint. Joe Gubby, who in past years has appeared at guard, is holding down the center position in an excellent manner. Gubby is one of the main springs in the Lafayette machine and he must be guarded continually to keep him from scoring points.

DRIBBLES

The Greenfield Club of McKees Rocks will have the Morry Club of Braddock as its attraction in the P. and O. League tonight.

Tarentum Y. M. C. A. will meet the Community House A. A. U. champions next Saturday night on the Community House floor. Tonight Geneva College appears against the amateur champions, while a week from Saturday Westminster College will be the opponent of the North Siders.

The Duquesne Lafayettes are open for a game at home next Tuesday or Wednesday, according to Manager A. W. Had. First-class teams wanting either of these dates write him at 331 South First street, Duquesne, Pa., or call Duquesne 24433.

The Morry Club is open for games at home and abroad with first-class and light first-class teams. Write Manager Max Berkowitz, 712 Fourth street, North Braddock, or call Brandywine 1678.

George Ramsay, former Morry center, has been signed to play with the Rauhs in the County League. Ramsay will be eligible to appear in the Rauh lineup next week.

No games will be played in the County League next Monday night, the Lafayettes and Miele-Franchinas mutually agreeing to postpone their contest originally scheduled for Columbus Temple. The game will be played off during the last week of the first half, according to Mike Foglia, manager of the Miele-Franchinas.

DOUBLE WINDUP CARDED FOR TONIGHT

Dominick Profio, of Cecil, and California Joe Gans, Negro, of McKeesport, will appear in the top spot, and Johnny Carey, of Erie, and Phil Scello, of McKeesport, in the other long-distance battle.

Profio will be making his debut as a main-bouter in the ring in which he made his first professional appearance a few months ago against Jackie Murray, clever Negro of the Hill. He has gained a big following because of his knockout punch. In Gans he faces a seasoned opponent who may prove too ringwise for him.

Scello and Carey both are favorites with the Tube City fans.

In the two six-round preliminaries, Tom Malco, of Soho, will box George Kerston, of McKeesport, and Joe Collura, of Beechview, will meet Young Ribnickey, of Monongahela.

Dan Billick, Duquesne featherweight, returns home tomorrow from New York to finish his training here for his bout with Jackie Rodgers on the Christmas afternoon card at Motor Square Garden, which will be headed by a 10-rounder between Cuddy DeMarco and Rudy Ceder. Billick has scored knockouts in his last two starts, winning, respectively, in the second and first rounds.

Rudy Ceder and Young Saylor clash in the main bout of a show at the Auditorium in Johnstown tonight. Mickey Hart, of New Kensington, boxes Johnny Chiodo, of Johnstown, in the semi-final, and Hugh Fetzer, of the North Side, meets Johnny Wildner, of Johnstown, in one of the preliminaries.

Young Guido, of Sharon, plans to make a trip to Cuba after the Christmas holidays. He will do some boxing while there.

Ike McFowler, Negro heavyweight of Johnstown, who knocked out George Gemas in the third round at Oil City last Monday night, will box the best opponent obtainable in the Jolly Bowl at New Castle Christmas afternoon.

Seven amateur boxing bouts under the auspices of the Twenty-seventh Ward A. C. will be staged in the Elks' Temple this evening. A show of 12 bouts, featuring Irish Gorgas and K. O. Hoffman in the main event, has been arranged for Slovak Hall, Lawrenceville, tomorrow night.

Mike Smithhammer, who was to meet Tom Harris in the first bout at Motor Square Garden Christmas afternoon, is ill with influenza and will not be able to appear. Another opponent will be lined up for Harris, or a sub bout arranged.

TEX, SHARKEY TO CONFER

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—A definite agreement between Tex Rickard and Jack Sharkey concerning the Boston fighter's match with Young Stribling, planned for Miami, Fla., in February, is on the schedule for tomorrow. The promoter announces that Sharkey and his manager, Johnny Buckley, are due tomorrow to talk business and that he expects his original plan to hold the bout February 26 will go through.

Miller	G.	Worters
McCaffrey	R. D.	Reise
Holway	L. D.	Conacher
Milks	C.	Burch
Darragh	R. W.	Broadbent

Community House Wins Thrown Out

Failing to abide by the league rule anent the proper registration of players Community House has been deprived of three victories scored in the Greater Pittsburgh Institutional League, the games being awarded to the opposition.

This action was taken at a meeting yesterday as a result of a protest filed by Hilltop Y. M. C. A. Community House thus drops from first place to last, Kingsley House taking the lead with four victories and one defeat. Y. M. H. A. and East Liberty Y. are tied for second place with three victories and one defeat each.

The Y. M. H. A. Reserves were awarded a victory over East Liberty Y. M. C. A. Reserves for the latter team's failure to call a game at a specified time. In a recent contest it was agreed to call the game at 9 o'clock, but the officials failed to halt play while Y. M. H. A. was leading.

Duquesne Defeats Butler Y, 31-25

BUTLER, Dec. 20.—The Duquesne University basket ball team went to Butler last night to play a practice game with the Butler Y quintet and returned to Pittsburgh with a 31-to-25 victory. The game was exciting throughout, being featured by the scoring of Bernlohr of the local team, who obtained five goals, and Benedict, Vernon and Stevens of the Pittsburgh team.

The Y team was sadly off form in foul shooting, annexing only one in 10 attempts, while the Dukes counted seven out of 14.

DUQUESNE—31.		BUTLER Y.—25.
Benedict	F.	Bernlohr
Lubic	F.	Rose
Veron	C.	Wolfgong
Rosenberg	G.	Lefever
Stephens	G.	Zinn

Field goals—Benedict 4, Vernon 4, Stephens 3, Rosenberg, Bernlohr 5, Rose 4, Lefever 2, Zinn 2. Fouls—Duquesne 7 out of 14, Butler Y, 1 out of 10. Referee—Buck Snyder.

Waverly Motor Oil means more life—longer life for your car

ENDURANCE—lasting lubrication—is now, more than ever before the most essential feature of a motor oil. For safe operation, the new high speed, high compression motors require a "long wearing" oil. This is one reason for the ever-increasing popularity of Waverly All-Pennsylvania.

Waverly can always be depended upon to absorb wear because it is 100% Pure Pennsylvania Petroleum—the finest crude in the world refined by the Famous Waverly Process until every last trace of the non-lubricating elements has been removed. Drain your crank case and fill it with Waverly Motor Oil today. It's the cheapest, surest motor life insurance you can buy.

THE scheduled soccer games for Christmas Day and New Year's Day have been shifted, according to West Penn officials. On Christmas Day, National Tube and Pittsburgh Rovers will meet, and on New Year's Day, Heidelberg and Dunlevy, rivals of old, will clash.

TOMMY HOLLERAN QUITS AS COACH AT THIEL

GREENVILLE, Pa., Dec. 20.—Dr. Thomas V. Holleran, once famous star of the University of Pittsburgh backfield, has announced his retirement as coach of the Thiel College football team, a post he has held for the past six years since his graduation from Pitt.

Holleran declared he had decided to give his entire attention to his dental practice, and that he has taken off the grid togs forever. His friends, however, suspect him of something aside from his declared intention to retire.

Coming here more than six years ago, Holleran placed Thiel athletics on the highest plane in the history of the college. Although his arrival was heralded with much enthusiasm, little more than the usual funds were available to build up a team. For the past six years he has had little more than the material which gravitated to the college in the form of students and with that material he built up a grid machine that has been renowned for its clean playing and courage.

With the close of the present year the grid campaign reached its apex. With a heavy schedule Thiel came through sufficiently strong enough to hold to a tie its two ancient rivals, Allegheny and Grove City, and with this record Holleran bows himself out of the picture. He will always be known here as the man who did more with less than any other coach in the district.

While Holleran's latest contract expired at the close of the season, it was universally expected that he would sign another which was to have been offered him, probably at the annual football banquet after the holidays. The announcement, however, appeared to be a final one, so far as Thiel is concerned, although the best of feeling obtains between Holleran and the Thiel authorities and townspeople.

Rumors of offers being made by several larger schools have trickled through here, as they have each year since Holleran's arrival. Annually he has received several alluring contracts which he refused in favor of the Thiel post at a considerably lower figure.

"Ham" Fish, Jr., Scores Army Grid Policy

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—West Point's eligibility rules in football, which kept the Army from meeting Navy this year on the gridiron, were criticized here last night by Representative Hamilton Fish, Jr., as "undemocratic and unsportsmanlike."

The criticism, made by the one-time all-American Harvard tackle at the Eastman College football dinner, was coupled with the hope that West Point "would step down" from its position and permit the two service teams to resume their annual football game.

SPORT COMMENT

By JAMES J. LONG

to Roger Conti, of France, who clicked off 732 against Louis Cure in Paris, on November 2, 1926.

DURING the recent National League meeting, according to Joe Vila, Max Carey and Moose McCormick were discussing football. McCormick said that teams should be judged by their work on given days and not on a full season. "You've got to judge them when they're right, when they feel like playing, and not when they're out there just because the schedule calls for it," he said, bringing from Carey the remark that there are many baseball players who should be judged in the same way.

"You're right," said McCormick. "There was Tilly Shafer, for instance. If he had played only when he felt like playing he would have been the greatest ball player in the world. But unfortunately, when he was with the Giants, he didn't feel like playing every day."

"IN THAT connection," Carey put in, "think of the things that Ty Cobb might have done if he had played only when he wanted to. What days that guy could have had!"

"As a matter of fact," McCormick commented, "he had a lot of them, because I think there never was a ball player who liked to play as well as Cobb did, or who was so full of fire every time he stepped on the field. As for the things he might have done, look at the things he did. Neither you nor I will ever see them equaled, let alone surpassed."

John Ross Roach.

ROSS ROACH, goalkeeper for the New York Rangers, backs up Roy Worters in the assertion that Georges Venzina was the greatest of all hockey goalies. And Worters himself is everything that they say about him," Roach added. "There is no set system for a goal minder. You can't say that any particular style is the best, nor can you say that a goalie should be of a certain height or weight. Venzina was a big fellow, and so is Clint Benedict. Worters is short and the rest are of about medium height. Then there are the tumblers, and the fellows who never fall. Some play a good shot with their hands that I might play off my chest. Both get results, so they must be termed equally correct.

"SOME players are more skillful than others at fooling us. For sheer trickery and change of pace, Nels Stewart of the Maroons is far ahead of his rivals. He can drive from any position while appearing to be standing on the ice in a trance. Howie Morenz is dangerous because of his speed, but we can be pretty certain that he's going to shoot while on his left foot.

"Babe Dye has the hardest shot in the league, and Carson Cooper, of Detroit, is next. Billy Burch is blasting them in this year, but I think he hardly carries the same power or speed as Dye. Burch's shot ruses, which makes it one of the hardest to handle. As far as teams go, the Maroons bother me most."

WILLS ON WAY TO BOX FIRPO

ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands, Dec. 20—(AP.)—Harry Wills, the pugilist, and his manager, Morris, passed through here today en route to Trinidad to fight Luis Firpo.

The news like a voice from the past that Harry Wills has bobbed up in the Virgin Islands on his way to a battle with the one-time "Wild Bull of the Pampas" caused considerable surprise among boxing followers who have come to look upon this pair of top-notchers of a few years ago as definitely out of the heavyweight picture.

LAYTON COPS CROWN

By

Chas. R. Ellis

Former World Three-Cushion Billiard Champion.

(Written Exclusively for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.)

Jharley Ellis

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—The final day of the billiard championship yesterday, saw temperamental Otto Reiselt and Unlucky Gus Copulos in the first match for the consolation prize of $1,000 and Gus was at least consistent, his ill luck holding until the last. Can you imagine a player averaging one in an inning for the complete tournament and finishing without a victory to his credit? Just that happened to Gus, scoring 125 points in the same number of innings. A strange coincidence is noted in Reiselt scoring also 125 points in 125 innings and his only victory was the one over Copulos, 50 to 37, in 34 innings. Gus, in losing, has made more friends and found more people who respect his ability than some winners who have appeared in this hall the past few days. Otto took an early lead and held it. Each time Gus became dangerous, a little break or an inspiration carried the victor a few points nearer the goal, and a donation of 10 points on scratches was quite a factor.

In the first evening affair, a pocket match between Rudolph and Natalie, for the pocket consolation, Rudolph lost over 50 balls on scratches, but managed to nose out his opponent by two balls when Natalie, with the balls all over the table, missed one of not more than 12 inches from the pocket. Rudolph's victory was a popular one. The score was 125-123 in 37 innings.

Johnny Layton, of Sedalia, Mo., won the world's championship at three-cushion billiards here last night when he defeated Willie Hoppe of New York, 50 to 23, in 24 innings. In the final game of the tournament Layton went through a field of cueists that contained, besides Hoppe, Gus Copulous and Otto Reiselt, without the loss of a game.

Frank Taberski, of Schenectady, N. Y., protested his game with Ralph Greenleaf, eight times national champion, yesterday afternoon. The committee decided Taberski and Greenleaf should meet again tomorrow night. Taberski had demanded a forfeit, when Greenleaf left the table twice, contrary to the tournament ruling. The committee ruled, however, that Referee Joe Orr had erred in giving Greenleaf permission twice and the referee should be replaced. Greenleaf needs a victory to clinch the title, while a victory for Taberski would force the championship into a tie between the national champion and the Schenectady shot maker.

SCHAEFER TAKES LEAD

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Jack Schaefer took the lead over Welker Cochran for the first time at the halfway mark in their special 4,800-point 18.2 balkline billiards match last night. With four runs of more than 100 points, the highest 196, Schaefer added 636 points to his total in the sixth block, giving him 2,400 points against 2,368 for Cochran.

W. & J. Should Have Re-Booked Dukes

By JESS CARVER.

THE Double-u-and-Jayers are having some difficulty in closing their '29 football schedule. This is the good word from out of Little Washington, where Graduate Manager Theurer is seeking to land two opponents for the Red and Black for early season dates.

Theurer, when he first turned his attention to next year's grid card, decided to shelve the district rivals, all of which are naturals, and book some of the clubs from out in the Ohio Conference. So he set about dickering with one or or two schools from that league, but when the organization decided its members must play more Conference games next year, the Presidents were booted out of two early ball games. In the mean time, the local schools had about completed their cards.

Where Wash-Jeff pulled the boner was in not re-booking the Dukes for another tussle. To tell the truth, W. and J's action in dropping Duquesne after the 12-6 setback suffered at Washington this fall was construed by some to mean that W. and J. was afraid of the Dukes. This, of course is untrue and unfair, but there is no denying that it left queer taste in the mouths of many.

Wash-Jeff was highly commended for its action in booking Duquesne when other members of the Big Four wouldn't. It is only a question of a couple of years until Pitt and Tech will see the light and play the Bluffites — and Harry Stansbury of W. Va., gave further proof of his acumen by signing a two-year, home-and-home agreement with the Dukes when Wash-Jeff dropped 'em.

It might be possible for Duquesne to rearrange its card and schedule W. and J.—though I doubt very much if John Holohan would consider the step. The Duquesne card is sufficiently attractive for next fall with Holohan switching dates in order to take on the Presidents. It is too bad that Theurer and Andy Kerr couldn't see the way clear to keep Duquesne on the schedule however, and it may be that they'll regret this action in the future.

INTEREST LACKING

Unless they are getting a cut rate on the guarantees ask by the Ohio Conference boys, Theurer and his advisors will find that they will not make any more money by playing the Ohioans than they would by continuing to meet the local teams. There is little or no interest in the doings of the Ohio Conference hereabouts. Name if you can the last three football champions in that league—or the last two if you cant think of three.

Wash-Jeff will run into about the same sort of legathric attendance interest in Ohio Conference schools as Pitt is due to meet when it tries to fill the Stadium with Ohio State.

The Dukes must be handed no small amount of credit for the ball they played in defeating the Butler Y. M. C. A. quintet at Butler last night. The Butler aggregation did not line up as it was generally expected, but Bernlohr kept the Bluffites defense busy all evening. The six-point margin of victory just about told the story.

Prior to the contest, Coach Chick Davies of the Dukes "scouted" Ohio Northern, watching the team that will oppose the Dukes here in the city's collegiate opener Friday as it battled with Slippery Rock State Teachers at Slippery Rock.

St. Vincent's Bows To Waynesburg

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Dec. 20.—Waynesburg College floormen triumphed in easy fashion over St. Vincent's College here last night, taking the long end of a 40-25 score with Allison, Ullom and Campbell featuring. At half-time, Waynesburg held a 14-11 advantage, but scored heavily in the final period. The lineup:

WAYNESBURG—40.		ST. VINCENT—25.
King	F	Lucker
Allison	F	Campbell
Ullom	C	Wherle
Smith	G	Yankovich
White	G	Manion

Substitute—Porter. Field goals—Campbell 7, Lucker, Wherle, King 2, Allison 5, Ullom 4, Porter 3, White 2, Smith. Fouls—Waynesburg, 6 out of 17; St. Vincent's 7 out of 15. Referee—Max Hannum.

YOU see them all through the winter. Cars frozen-up and steaming, in spite of the fact that an anti-freeze was used.

Why are they still in the freeze-up class? Why do their owners have to pay freeze-up repair bills and lose the use of their cars when they have already paid for anti-freeze? Simply because the anti-freeze evaporated, and left them without protection.

Glycerine WON'T evaporate

Get real anti-freeze protection for your car with Radiator Glycerine. Glycerine won't evaporate. It won't boil at operating temperatures. You don't have to keep putting in more. One filling lasts all winter.

Radiator Glycerine has other important advantages. It won't hurt the lacquer finish of your car if spilled on it. It has no odor to annoy you if you drive a closed car. And it is as safe to use as water—it has no mysterious ingredients.

It saves you worry

Get rid of the all-winter worry over freezing with one filling of Radiator Glycerine. Have the cooling system checked for possible leaks, put in the Radiator Glycerine, and give yourself a pleasant winter of driving without freezing worries.

Investigate to-day. Get it at your garage, or get in touch with any distributor listed here for full details. It lasts all winter—put it in now.

Motor Leaders Aim to Cut Unemployment; One Record

By B. C. FORBES

DETROIT, Dec. 20.

INDUSTRIAL Detroit is becoming conscious of its responsibility for the steady employment of workers. The automobile industry used to have extreme peaks and valleys. It could not get enough labor at the height of its busy season; then it laid men off by the thousand, without exhibiting any concern whatsoever as to the fate of those thrown idle.

A more humane attitude toward workers is developing.

THE Graham brothers, Joseph, Ray and Robert, formerly influentially identified with Dodge, and who last year took over the Paige concern and organized Graham-Paige, have perhaps the most advanced labor ideas of any concern in the whole industry. They began their business life in a small way and in a small town where the employer felt a personal interest in his workers and felt obligated to take care of them during spells of depression. When work or plants had to be shut down the financial necessities of the men were taken care of until money-making was resumed.

NO FEWER than 86 per cent of the men who worked with the Graham brothers when they were in the glass-making business joined them when they entered the automobile field. Even now they advance "market money" to men if laid off temporarily through building operations or other cause, and so loyal has been the attitude of the men that not one cent has been lost.

"We would not dream of going out and bringing in two or three thousand men to work for us several months and then tell them 'you're through,'" they explained. "We get more fun out of the relationships we have had with the boys in our organization than we would in trying to make money for ourselves in a way that would not let us treat the men right."

THE local newspapers report that A. C. Bennett, of the Packard Motor Company, has just appeared before the Senate Committee on Education and Labor in its investigation of ways and means to avoid or modify future unemployment, and that he told the committee Packard had met the seasonal unemployment problem by thoroughly analyzing the market and then drawing up a monthly production schedule. In this way, he declared, the number of employes had been stabilized.

"What we have done," he declared, "has been fundamental. I see no reason why the same thing could not be applied to other industries."

He explained, too, that rather than lay men off, the Packard company would, if occasion arose, reduce the number of working hours.

Senator Couzens, chairman of the committee, emphasized the importance of arousing the consciousness of employers regarding their responsibility for taking steps looking towards the solution of the unemployment problem.

IT WOULD be folly to contend that all motor manufacturers concerned themselves sufficiently about stabilizing employment. Two or three motor manufacturers, in fact, are rather notorious locally for the ruthlessness with which they drop men, not only ordinary workmen, but those higher-up. Merchants and other local business men, however, have complained so bitterly of violent ups and downs in employment that hopes are rising that there will be co-ordinated efforts by and by to keep employment on a more even keel throughout the year.

IN MOST cities you are told that there are too many doctors, lawyers, dentists and merchants—in fact, that competition is overdone in nearly every line. But in Detroit you are told that there are not enough professional men and not even enough well-run stores in various sections.

Luke C. Leonard, who sold cigars when he first came to Detroit not so many years ago, and who has since become a millionaire mostly through operations in real estate, tells me: "Detroit is the best city in the country for young men to come to. It is full of opportunities for the right kind of fellows. The city has grown so rapidly and is still growing so rapidly that the needs of the people have not been adequately met in quite a number of lines.

"This city has the strongest foundation of all for real prosperity, namely, very high wages. The automobile industry pays its workers more than almost any other industry in America. Unlike the textile industry, for example, it is thriving and growing. It gives employment to so many other lines that Detroit cannot but go ahead."

I HAD the privilege of addressing a large gathering of business men, but felt compelled to award Detroit the blue ribbon for one distinction, namely, for being the worst congested city, trafficwise, on the whole continent. Seeing that Detroit is the towering motor city of the world, I urged them to bestir themselves to set Detroit up as a model city for traffic facilities. Detroit would be the logical city to lead the world in solving the motor traffic problem, would it not?

May I add that Detroit is rapidly developing a vigorous civic consciousness and that it is not at all impossible that it will before long start leading the way.

HEAVY SELLING ERASES GAINS IN STOCKS

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Heavy selling came into the stock market today, coincident with the beginning of the widely predicted year-end stiffening of money rates. Early gains of 2 to 10 points were cut down, or wiped out, and several issues sold 3 to 10¼ points below yesterday's final quotations. An irregular recovery took place in the early afternoon.

Call money renewed at 7 per cent and advanced to 8 when banks called $15,000,000 in loans. Time money held firm but another advance of ⅛ of 1 per cent was made in bankers' acceptances.

Violent fluctuations in some of the high priced specialties featured the early trading. Radio jumped 16 points to 356, broke to 343 and rallied above 350. Montgomery Ward moved up 4 points to 137¼, fell to 131½ and rebounded to 135. Wright Aeronautical ran up 7 points to 262, tumbled to 250, rebounded to 258 and then fell back again. International Nickel advanced 2¼ points to 269¼, fell to 258 and rebounded to 262 on the announcement of merger negotiations with Monds Nickel of Canada.

National Tea dropped 10¼ points below last night's close, and Abitibi Power, American Smelting, American Radiator, Allied Chemical, Granby Copper and Curtis sold down 3 to 5 points.

In the early afternoon, Victor Talking Machine was brought forward by operators for the advance and marked up 6 points, presumably in expectation of an early announcement of merger terms with the Radio Corporation. Johns Manville climbed 6¼ points, and Spicer Manufacturing was marked up 4⅛ to a new high at 48. Yellow Truck, North American and American Zinc were marked up 3 to 4 points.

Except for the declaration of a couple of extra dividends and an increase in the annual dividend on Magma Copper from $3 to $4, there was little in the day's business news to influence the price movement. The Kansas City Southern and Erie Railroads reported substantial net gains in their November earnings statements, but the rails took little part in the day's trading.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—The cotton market opened steady today at advances of 7 to 13 points and the active months soon showed net gains of 15 to 18 points, with January selling up to 20.31c and May 20.32c, on covering and some local and commission house buying.

The census report showing 13,148,411 bales ginned up to December 13 seemed to be smaller than expected and probably stimulated the buying. The advance, however, met considerable realizing and prices had eased off 3 or 4 points from the best by the end of the first half hour.

Private cables said there had been continental and Bombay liquidation in the Liverpool market, but that it had been absorbed by trade calling and that there was a better inquiry for cotton cloths from South America and the continent.

The advance on the ginning report was checked by realizing and the market was quieter late in the morning, with fluctuations rather narrow and irregular. January contracts eased off from 20.31 to 20.23, but the market was holding steady around 20.25 for that position at midday, when the general list was 8 to 12 points net higher.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Selling Wave Hits Stocks.

A wave of selling swept over the market around noon today and caused a material recession in quotations following an upturn which has carried issues to new highs for the recovery during the first two hours of trading. Market observers calculated that the market was about due for a reaction on the theory that advance which had been in progress since early Tuesday had lifted prices to a level which showed attractive profits to traders who had purchased stocks around the low levels at the close of last week. The market absorbed the selling well and there was no drastic breaks. Fears of money stringency encouraged the sellers today. Banks called $15,000,000 up to noon. Call loans opened at 7 per cent and held at that figure throughout the first half of the session, but it was reported that time money was scarce and that borrowers were bidding 8¼ per cent for 30-day accommodation, 7¾ per cent for loans up to four months and 7½ per cent for longer dates. Later in the day the rate went to 8 per cent. The opening of the market was featured by a rather sensational bulge in the steel stocks, led by United States Steel common. Central Alloy was also in urgent demand, as was Republic on reports of a consolidation involving these companies. Bethlehem displayed an unsteady tone and worked lower under the weight of moderate selling. The coppers also scored wide gains in the early market, but both this group and the steels forfeited a good portion of their gains when the noon-hour selling movement developed.

Ford, Ltd., Strong.

Ford Motor, Ltd., the English Ford company, was one of the strongest stocks on the New York Curb this morning, opening with an overnight gain of about a point and absorbing a fair-sized volume of offerings at 11½ to 11¾, the highest level for the issue since listing a few days ago. In the last hour the stock rose to about 14. It was reported that the quotations in London were slightly above those prevailing in New York.

Equipment Stocks.

Reliable authorities are agreed that the indications are for encouraging improvement in the inquiries and orders for cars and locomotives in the coming months. Equipment buying has been negligible for several years and replacements are expected to be on a much larger scale from now on. This opinion has been responsible for quiet purchases of American Locomotive, American Car and Foundry, General American Tank and others during setbacks.

Magma Raises Dividend.

Magma Copper is the latest of the big copper companies to take favorable dividend action, the company's capital stock having been placed on a $4 annual basis at today's meeting. The previous rate was $3 a year. Granby Copper late yesterday declared a quarterly dividend of $1.50, placing that issue on a $6 basis, as against $4 heretofore. Anaconda directors meet next Monday and it is expected that this board also will order larger payments to shareholders. Anaconda is at present on a $4 basis. The more optimistic prophets have predicted a $7 annual basis for Anaconda, but there are many in the Street that think a $6 rate is more likely. The Street continues bullish on the copper stocks, which have been doing well considering the dullness of the general market. It is believed a new buying movement is not far off. Several million pounds of copper have been sold for export over the past few days and the Western Union is in the market for a large tonnage. There is talk of much higher prices for copper metal during 1929, but it is known that leading authorities in the industry are not predicting any sharp upturn from the current selling price, and many have expressed the view that the maintenance of the prevailing quotations would bring highly satisfactory results to all the leading producers. It is pointed out that any good advance from now on probably would bring many of the smaller high cost properties into production and this could have some effect on the statistical position of the metal.

National Bellas Hess.

The National Bellas Hess Company is contemplating splitting the common stock three for one and is planning expansion in the retail store field. Last October the company purchased the mail order business of the Chas. Williams Stores, with annual sales volume of $17,000,000. National Bellas Hess capital consists of $6,184,700 7 per cent preferred and 200,000 shares of no-par common stock.

St. Paul's Earnings Bulge.

H. A. Scandrett, president of St. Paul Railroad, said today that net operating income for December should be around $1,500,000. This compares with deficit last year of $15,672.

Big Investment Demand.

Over the next 30 days there will be billions of dollars available for investment, due to record-breaking dividend and interest payments, bonuses, etc. Many investors anticipating this money are buying good securities. This, according to some brokers, accounts for the strength of certain high-grade common stocks. One house reports odd lot invesements in excess of $1,000,000 last week. A large part of the securities purchased was shipped to interior points. From an investment standpoint the demand for common stocks over the past two years has grown more rapidly than the demand for high-grade preferred stocks. Many preferred stocks are selling at prices that yield not much more than the average bond, and are very scarce.

The Electric Stocks.

General Electric and Westinghouse have been two stocks in good demand over the past several months. Electrical development over the next few years is expected to show giant strides and this should mean large earnings for the electric companies. A large amount of General Electric was purchased between 190 and 200 by important financial interests, but this buying, though large, was not sufficient to keep the stock from declining 20 points or more from its record high.

November Rail Earnings.

Reports of earnings for November for the railroads will begin to come out in a few days, and most of the carriers are expected to show favorable comparisons. It is possible these statements will be followed by a better demand for some of the leading railroad stocks. Many commission houses still favor the rails over the industrials, because they feel this group could be among the leaders on an advance, and would show more resistance should another selling movement develop soon.

Brokers' Comment.

A private wire from Josephthal & Co. to H. S. Edwards & Co. says: "Yesterday's rally seems to have been based more than anything else upon the expectation of a large decrease in brokers' loans this afternoon, which has induced much short covering and is likely to cause further trouble for the shorts if the decline in loans is anything like the reports."

Eastman, Dillon & Co. says: "From the character of trading during the past week there is reason to doubt that there will be any change of importance in the loan report to be issued after the close today. In fact it would be no surprise if a slight increase were shown. In view of the likelihood of further advance in the call rate during the remainder of the month it would appear advisable to accept trading profits on further rally."

J. S. Bache & Co. says: "We are inclined to share the view of the more conservative observers. We believe that nothing more than trading turns should be attempted at this stage. Aided by temporary favorable conditions the market invites constructive enthusiasm, but we would guard religiously against extending one's commitments to a marked extent during this stage."

NEVILLE ISLAND PLANT TO BE ENLARGED

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

PLANS for the pig iron, coke and cement plant on Neville Island are being altered to provide for twice the capacity originally proposed. The Davison Coal and Coke Company, formerly the Sharpsville Furnace Company, is now understood to have decided to build a new blast furnace in addition to the stack already on the property. This will require a proportionate increase in the size of the by-product coke plant.

Recently the Neville Island blast furnace and 200 acres of ground were bought from the American Steel and Wire Company. The furnace had been idle for several years due to its isolation from other plants of the United States Steel Corporation. It was originally built during the war and was intended as a nucleus for a large armor plate plant which never was constructed.

THE price of pig iron has been unprofitable for merchant blast furnaces for several years, but the unusual location and the tieup with coke and cement production will give the plant exceptionally low costs.

Coal will be shipped down the Monongahela River by barge at a saving estimated at $1 a ton under the cost of coal shipped by rail. The coal will be coked in a by-product plant which can be heated by blast furnace gas. The output of by-product gas can be used to operate the cement plant and a part of it can be sold to local utilities. The cement factory will use blast furnace slag as its raw material.

THE pig iron produced can also be shipped down the river at a great advantage over other merchant pig iron makers. There are sufficient steel mills and foundry plants along the rivers to easily provide a market for the output of two blast furnaces. Within a year the new plant of A. M. Byers Company will be in operation at Ambridge. This will also be a big pig iron user. The Davison furnaces will be the only merchant stacks located close to Pittsburgh which can both receive coal and ship their product by water.

W. J. Rainey, Inc., has purchased a large block of coal lands on the Monongahela River. It is understood that this has been obtained to supply the by-product coke plant with fuel on a long-term agreement.

George S. Davison, president of the Gulf Oil Corporation, is also president of the Davison Coal and Coke Company.

THE fact that about 90 per cent of Pittsburgh's river freight has been carried by fleets entirely owned by the companies served, has tended to keep the public unaware of the full extent of the savings in freight costs. Most of the progress in this direction has been made since the war. Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation pioneered in the movement and other steel companies followed as soon as the savings became manifest. The J. & L. river fleet showed a profit in the first year of its operation.

Recently it was testified before the Interstate Commerce Commission that the transportation costs of assembling the materials for the manufacture of one ton of pig iron at Youngstown were $2.37 in 1913. In Pittsburgh they were $2.63.

THEN came the swing to river transportation. Instead of hauling bee hive coke from the Connellsville district by rail, the Pittsburgh mills moved coal down the river to by-product plants near Pittsburgh. Youngstown was unable to take advantage of any river transportation. The result was that in 1918 the comparative cost of assembling the materials to make a ton of pig iron were $3.28 for Youngstown and $2.49 for Pittsburgh. In 1928 they became $4.44 at Youngstown and $3.11 at Pittsburgh.

This fact alone insures the supremacy of Pittsburgh in the steel industry. So long as Pittsburgh has an advantage of $1.33 a ton over Youngstown in making pig iron the district can feel secure.

CHICAGO BOARD

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—With Liverpool wheat quotations failing to reflect fully on yesterday's advances here, the Chicago market averaged lower early today. Advices at hand said wheat shipments from Argentina were expected to increase soon, as receipts at the seaboard have begun to enlarge decidedly. Opening unchanged to ⅜@⅝c off, Chicago wheat afterward held near to the initial figures. Corn, oats and provisions also were easier, with corn starting ¼ to ⅝c down and substantially declining still more.

At noon wheat was ⅛@⅜c net lower to ⅛c advance, and corn ⅛@⅝c down.

Selling of wheat in Chicago today apparently was based not only on relative weakness of the Liverpool market and on expected increase of Argentine wheat exports, but also on assertions that talk of improved domestic milling demand had been exaggerated. Mill purchases of wheat in Chicago were said to total only 100,000 bushels whereas consumer use of wheat in the United States is almost 2,000,000 bushels daily.

Forecasts of generally fair and cold weather tended to pull corn values down. Corn arrivals in Chicago today, however, amounted to but 101 cars, and country offerings were not large. Primary receipts of corn today, taken as a whole, were much smaller than either a week or a year ago.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—The raw sugar market was unchanged early today at 3.93 for spots duty paid with no sales reported. Raw sugar futures were unsettled during the forenoon session owing to the circulation of 115 December notices. The issuance of these caused considerable liquidation in the spot month, resulting in declines of 3 points, but later positions held relatively steady on covering and buying by houses with trade and Cuban connections. The market opened unchanged to 3 points lower and at midday showed no variation from initial figures. Aside from the liquidation of the present December delivery, most of the trading was in the form of exchanging from the near to the later positions, with the trade as a rule inclined to limit fresh commitments and await developments in the spot market.

In refined, in addition to fair withdrawals on old contracts, a little better new business was reported, with prices unchanged at 5.25 for fine granulated.

LONE STAR HOLDS GAIN IN LOCAL STOCK MARKET

Prices moved over a narrow range in a generally quiet market on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today.

Yesterday's bulge in Lone Star Gas, on which that issue went to new high ground above 69, did not attract any profit taking in the stock as might have been expected in view of the fact that the price jumped more than three points for the day.

In the early trading today Lone Star was firm at 69 to 69½, with holders showing no disposition to sell. The current advance is based on several factors, none of which has been officially commented upon. Primarily, the earnings are showing a marked gain over last year, while the gossip in the street is to the effect that an ultimate link-up of pipe line and gas properties in the Mid-West and Southwest will find Lone Star going into the deal at an attractive figure. There is also talk of a stock dividend.

The newly listed Liberty Dairy Products shares were strong but quiet, a trade taking place on the opening today at 22, a gain of a full point over the last previous price. Liberty is a combination of dairy properties in this territory built around the Hermes-Groves Company. Miscellaneous manufacturing issues were quiet and steady. Suburban Electric Development, which declared an extra dividend of 12½ cents in addition to the regular quaraerly of 37½ cents, held the gain made in yesterday's market, when it moved up from 26 to above 27. Standard Sanitary was handled at slightly above 48, the price to which it dropped early in the week on the report that the company would go into a merger with American Radiator on an exchange of four Standard for one Radiator. The report was not official, but it brought enough selling to break Standard from around 53 to 47⅞ on the New York exchange, with local prices following the movement.

Human nature is a constant factor.

It is unsafe to assume that your widow, perhaps unskilled in the problems of investment, will be immune to the lure of the ticker, if she receives the proceeds of your Life Insurance Policies to be used without restraint.

She cannot afford to assume the risks which you, as a man of affairs, may take legitimately.

The safe way, and the kindly thing to do, is to create a Life Insurance Trust with us, that the future financial safety of your family may be beyond the realm of chance.

The Life Insurance Trust may be made as flexible as you wish, with ample leeway for unforseen emergencies—the major idea being to safe-guard the principal sum.

Let our Trust Officers work out a plan for you.

GROVE CITY, Pa., Dec. 20.—The local postoffice is doing the largest business in its history. Last week 25,000 letters and 1,800 parcel post packages were handled.

WHAT'S WHAT IN RADIO PROGRAMS

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

WHAT constitutes "it" in models?

James Montgomery Flagg, illustrator and portrait painter, will tell what artists seek in models who pose for pictures, in a talk on "Feminine Beauty," during the Lehn and Fink Serenade over KDKA at 8 o'clock.

"Marion," by Rapee, will be sung as a tenor solo by James Melton during the Seiberling Singers' program over WCAE at 9 p. m. He will sing also the Neapolitan Love Song from Herbert's "Princess Pat."

A studio program from KQV at 9:30 o'clock will feature Paul Nelson, baritone; Harriet Werle, accompanist, and Karl Emerson Williams, reader.

"Take Your Tomorrow," "How About Me?" and "I Want an Automobile That Goes Da-Da-Da-Da-Da," will be sung by Irving Kaufman, comedian, on the Sparkers' program at 8:30 tonight over KDKA.

OUT OF TOWN PROGRAMS

Songs by Sir Landon Ronald, English composer and conductor, have been arranged in orchestral form for a WJZ concert at 10:30 tonight. Vocal and instrumental music will be presented in special arrangements as the background of a story concerning a band of gypsies, headed by their chief, Alecko. Their customs and history are explained to the visiting stranger, with the help of spirited music under the direction of Efram Spiegel. The program opens with an orchestra selection, "Moonlight Love."

The introduction to Act 3 of Wagner's "Lohengrin" will be played as the opening number of the hour of Slumber Music through WJZ at 11 tonight. A string quartet will play a selection from Romberg's "Maytime."

9:00 P. M.—Sonora hour: Carolina Lazzari, contralto.

Miss Lazzari will sing "The Erl King," by Franz Schubert, a song of tremendous passion and power. Her other selections will be an aria from one of her most famous roles, "Amour Viens Alder," from "Samson and Delilah," of Saint-Saens, and James MacDermid's "Sacrament." In the last she will be assisted by the symphony orchestra, using a special orchestral arrangement by the composer. The hour will be completed with selections by the symphony orchestra, salon orchestra, the Belleclaire Ensemble, the Sonora Male Trio and the Picadors.

10:00 P. M.—A Royal Command to Liszt.

The engaging of Franz Liszt as chapel master of Weimar is tonight's episode in the series of dramatic moments in the lives of famous composers. In his position as chapel master, Liszt produced all the plays in the opera house, and it was to him that all young composers brought their work for trial. It is some of these compositions, now famous, of course, that will be heard in this radio hour, but it is principally Liszt's own works that will be played in the presentation on the air of the ceremony that commemorated his appointment.

10:30 P. M.—The Merrymakers.

Veteran Whose Pipe Started Battle Dies

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Thomas Larson, who was credited with having started a Civil War skirmish by lighting his pipe while on guard duty, died today at 87. He often recounted how a Confederate sentry fired at the glow of his pipe, the bullet taking away the pipe bowl.

CHRISTMAS TREES

Any person caught cutting or removing Christmas trees from the Mansfield Morse farm at Connelton, Pa., will be prosecuted to the limit of the law. E. K. MORSE.

In Memoriam 1-B

In loving memory of my mother Mrs. Elizabeth J. Vell, who died two years ago today, December 20, 1926:

When the evening shades are falling, and we sit at home alone
To our sad hearts comes a longing, for you Mother to come home.
No one knows how much we miss you.
No one knows the bitter pain,
We have suffered since we lost you,
Home will never be the same.

Sadly missed by family.

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Emma Azinger who died 3 years ago today, Dec. 20, 1925:

What is a home without a mother,
All things this world may send
But when we lost our darling mother
We lost our dearest friend.

Local Option Proposed On Blue Law Observance

Another effort at modification of the Pennsylvania ''Blue Laws'' will be made at the session of the Legislature which meets next month.

The sponsor for this movement is Assemblyman Michael M. Musmanno, of Pittsburgh. He is a new member and as soon as possible after his inauguration will offer his bill and start a campaign which he trusts will end in its passage.

''Blue Laws'' is a term applied to a statute passed in 1794, prohibiting all work except that of necessity and charity on Sunday. Scarcely a session of the Legislature during the last three decades has passed without a vigorous attempt to repeal or amend this law. These movements have been warmly supported by members from Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and other large centers of population, but thus far the rural districts have always stood united for the retention of the ancient statute.

Arguments that the 1794 law does not meet the requirements of modern conditions of working and living, especially in the larger communities, thus far have failed of effect. Apparently the author of the new bill realizes the opposition that would confront an effort to repeal the law, and for this reason does not seek that end. His desire is to make the old statute less drastic and he hopes to secure this object by having a local option amendment passed.

Mr. Musmanno's bill, if passed by the Legislature, would allow Sunday sports and amusements in any township, borough or ward in which a majority of the voters favored such activities.

A petition of 15 per cent of the voters in any of these districts would be necessary to secure a vote on the question and for each item—baseball, football, theaters, etc.—there would have to be a separate petition and a separate vote.

Antedating universal prohibition in this country there were many states and numerous smaller political divisions that prohibited the sale of liquor through local option elections. There were many minor communities in Pennsylvania in this category.

The large bodies of workers in the densely populated centers of Pennsylvania, who would gladly welcome healthful sports and reasonable recreation on Sunday, will indorse this new local option movement.

There certainly can be no objection to permitting residents of any district in Pennsylvania to express their desires on Sunday observance and this local option bill should gain the votes of many members who would oppose a measure for the abolition of the old Sunday law in its entirety.

Constitutional or other objections may crop up with regard to this particular bill. However, it will cause discussion. As a result, perhaps, the Legislature will pass some reasonable bill either repealing or modifying the ''Blue Laws.'' The present situation—constant and open violation of some of the strictest limitations in the hoary statute—is intolerable.

Carnegie Museum's Work Earns Extension Fund

Carnegie Museum is the pride of Pittsburgh. It is the one great show place of the city and the resort of thousands on Sundays and lesser numbers on the other days of the week.

It is scarcely necessary to recount the good that is daily derived from this magnificent institution by the thousands of students of the schools and universities of Pittsburgh as well as by persons in all other walks of life.

Within recent years similar institutions in other cities, like the Field Museum in Chicago and the Museum of Natural History in New York, have engaged in important scientific ks outside their walls that have added to their prestige and th.

The Carnegie Museum has been prevented from engaging in like activities through lack of funds for such purposes. It is gratifying to learn that Pittsburgh Council has placed an item in the budget granting $15,000 to the museum to expand its work. This appropriation is made with the understanding that equal sums are to be granted by Allegheny County and the Pittsburgh Board of Education.

It is hoped by all progressive Pittsburghers that nothing will occur to prevent the fulfillment of this project. Carnegie Museum should keep pace with the march of progress.

First Airplane Show To Be Held in March

Pittsburgh is to have an aircraft show—its first—in March. Members of the Aero Club and those interested in aviation here, are to assist in giving the public opportunity to see an exhibition that promises to be as novel and interesting as was the first automobile show.

It is expected the exposition will include 30 to 40 exhibits, ranging from small aircraft that sell for $2,500, up to the passenger airplanes, having three motors and a carrying capacity of 12 to 16 persons, that cost about $50,000. Most of us will choose one of some type or other. If we do not make a purchase outright, we will make selection on the ''window shopping'' scale. That will be all right, too, and a good thing for aviation. That is the way many of us ''bought'' cars at several automobile shows. And eventually a car actually was sold to everybody and his brother. Also his sister and his mother and his aunt.

So we look forward to the airplane show. We look forward to it because it will give us opportunity to learn how to talk knowingly about the ''stick'' and employ other technical terms of aviation, just as we used to talk knowingly about the carburetor and such things, with only the faintest idea of what they were. Most of all we look forward to it because we are going to ''buy'' an airplane. If not with money, then with wishes.

City Charter Committee Will Welcome Your Ideas

One of the very important measures that Pittsburgh will present to the Legislature assembling on the first day of the new year will be a charter for a new Pittsburgh authorized by the Metropolitan plan adopted at the recent state election.

The campaign for proper municipal recognition made it plain to every one that Pittsburgh should take her rightful place among the urban communities of the country and rank fourth instead of ninth in size.

Much thought and care by able minds has been expended on the Metropolitan movement and now it has been decided to invite the public as individuals or bodies to come forward with suggestions.

A Public Contact Committee will meet every week day at the headquarters of the Metropolitan Plan Committee, in old City Hall, from 3 to 4 o'clock. At this time the public will be welcome to present its views and out of this multitude of counsel great good should come.

Tales That Are Told

And Then What?

A WEALTHY business man was wooed and won by a certain chorus girl. But on the eve of her wedding he told her that he had lost most of his money on a stock exchange speculation.

"There's just about enough left for us to take a small suburban house without servants—that is, if you still want to marry me, you darling?"

"What does money matter so long as we have each other?" sighed the chorus girl rapturously.

So they were married.

But on the day after the wedding she found out that he really had lost his money.

So Different

WITH a charming air of romance and pleasant sentimentality the group of golfers were discussing in front of the huge club fire how each married man present first met his wife.

Various tales were related until it finally came to Skeet's turn. Now, Skeet was a much-married man and he looked it.

"And where did you meet your wife?" they asked him.

Skeet blushed and looked very uncomfortable for a moment. Then he pulled himself together.

"I didn't meet her," he answered resentfully. "She overtook me."—London Answers.

Libellous

THERE came a peremptory knock on the door, and into the editor's room walked a very angry man.

"Yes."

"My name is Morgan T. David. Yesterday your paper printed an article about me. You called me a thief, a robber and a lot of other things?"

"We did," said the editor.

"Well, I'm here to tell you my middle initial is T. and not H. If you can't spell my name correctly, please leave it alone."

As Requested

A RATHER supercilious youth entered a barber's shop and asked for his hair to be cut a la mode.

The knight of the shears set to work, and whilst his customers was engrossed in the contents of a humorous weekly, cut off all his hair.

The youth suddenly caught sight of his shaven poll in a mirror and was very annoyed.

"What have you done that for?" he demanded angrily.

"I cut it just as you said," declared the barber. "You wanted it all mowed, and there you are!"

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

ANOTHER one about bald-heads. The guys in the small-town barber shop were talking about this and that, and one of them says, "I don't believe in them hair tonics, anyhow! I reckon they never done anybody any good."

"Why, Sure Nuff Hair Grower done me a lot of good," he says.

"But you're as bald as a elephant! How could it help you?"

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

WE spend a lot of time in this world being sore at the other fellow—

Thinking how he's Done Us Dirt—

Speculating on what great successes we would have been if we hadn't been held down and imposed upon—

All of which is quite true. Someone has done us dirt. Someone has held us down. But few of us ever discover who that Someone is!

Mr. George Bernard Shaw once said this very wise thing in discussing the grievances of the Irish against the English:

"ALL I HAVE TO SAY TO AN IRISH CARPENTER IS THAT AS LONG AS HE HATES AN ENGLISH CARPENTER HE WILL BE A SLAVE NO MATTER WHAT FLAG HE FLIES."

That's great truth and it goes for all the rest of us as well as for the Irish carpenters.

YOUR WORST ENEMY IS NOT THE MAN WHO HATES YOU, BUT YOUR HATE OF THAT MAN.

YOUR WORST PERSECUTOR LIVES IN YOUR OWN HEART.

Big men do not waste time hating. This is not because they are good but because they are wise.

Hate squanders time and energy and gives nothing in return but more Hate.

If you MUST wreck your life, take ground glass or rat poison or some other form of light, pleasant refreshment. But do not Hate—for that is the most agonizing of all poisons.

It poisons physically as well as mentally. This is not a fanciful statement. Any doctor will confirm it. Hate involves the glands and blood vessels in its functioning—Hate literally spurts its venom through your veins and heart and other vital organs. Your own Hate can harm you more than your worst enemy.

Be indifferent to people, forget them, avoid them, but do not hate them.

Men will write eulogies about you if you become the Innocent Victim of another's malice—

They may drop honest tears if you bump yourself off—

THE BASIS OF LIFE

By Garrett P. Serviss

LIFE marches from the mineral to the plant, from the plant to the animal. The plant takes the elements from the air and the soil and combines them into "the food of life." From the plant the living substance is transferred to the animal. The natural chemical process by which the plant prepares food from pure mineral matter, thus feeding on stone, as it were, has been called the fundamental basis of the whole of terrestial life.

But this process has always seemed mysterious, and until lately science has been unable to imitate it. The first recognizable substance that the chemist finds thus produced in the plant is a sugar, either a glucose or a fructose. By drawing carbon dioxide from the air and water from the soil, the plant produces carbonic acid, and from this it is able to prepare the so-called hydrocarbates which constitute sugar.

The agent employed by the plant in this process has long been known to be the light of the sun. But the puzzle has always been to understand how the sunlight was used. It was also known that the plant employs a green coloring matter named chlorophyl (which gives their color to the leaves), but the part played by that was also a mystery.

The whole process automatically performed by the plant was called "photosynthesis," i. e., "putting together with the aid of light." Now, after long years of vain efforts, a fair imitation of nature's photosynthesis has been made in the laboratory.

Prof. E. C. C. Baly, of the University of Liverpool, has recently explained before the Royal Institution in London how it is done. In substance the process used is the passing of a stream of aluminum or zinc or magnesium hydroxides or carbonates through water irradiated with light. The suspension of the substances in the water is obtained by using a pure powder, which is carried through the water in a continuous stream by a current of carbon dioxide gas.

In the course of the experiments it was found that if the powder was colored green, (the leaf color), the process instead of occurring only in ultra-violet light, went on just as well in visible light, thus suggesting the role of the green coloring matter which the plant uses in full sunlight. But next it was found that green was not an essential color—at least not in the laboratory process—for pink lights served just as well.

In summary Professor Baly says that "so far as we have been able to carry the investigations the processes in the living plant and in the laboratory show most striking resemblances, not only in the compounds which are formed, but in every feature which is characteristic of either of them."

The quantity of carbohydrates synthesized for equal areas exposed to light in the case of living leaves and in the laboratory has been shown to be about the same for both. The one lesson gained, the Professor says, is that 'the definitive factor is the very large amount of energy which must be supplied to the carbonic acid before the synthesis of the simple sugars takes place. The synthesis proceeds at an energy level which is far higher than in the case of the reactions of ordinary chemistry. The reason no one has succeeded till now in inducing these reactions is because no one has hitherto been able to supply the large energy increment necessary."

The inference drawn is that "health and vitality essentially depend on the high energy level being maintained; any lowering will lead to poor health and weak vitality. The most important sources from which we can absorb high energy are fresh food and ultra-violet light. From the one we learn the necessity of the rapid distribution of our food supply before its high energy is lost; from the other we gain a real understanding of the benefits of ultra-violet light therapy, and, more important still, of the dangers of its misuse."

Bible Passages

Faith

(Mark 11; 12-26)

AND on the morrow, when they were come from Bethany, he was hungry:

And seeing a fig tree afar off having leaves, he came, if haply he might find anything thereon; and when he came to it, he found nothing but leaves; for the time of figs was not yet.

And Jesus answered and said unto it, No man eat fruit of thee hereafter for ever. And his disciples heard it.

And they come to Jerusalem: And Jesus went into the temple, and began to cast out them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the money changers, and the seats of them that sold doves;

And would not suffer that any man should carry any vessel through the temple.

And he taught, saying unto them, Is it not written, My house shall be called of all nations the house of prayer? but ye have made it a den of thieves.

And the scribes and chief priests heard it, and sought how they might destroy him: for they feared him, because all the people was astonished at his doctrine.

And when even was come, he went out of the city.

And Jesus answering saith unto them, Have faith in God.

For verily I say unto you, That whosoever shall say unto this mountain, Be thou removed, and be thou cast into the sea; and shall not doubt in his heart, but shall believe that those things which he saith shall come to pass; he shall have whatsoever he saith.

Therefore I say unto you, what things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them.

And when ye stand praying, forgive, if ye have ought against any: that your Father also which is in heaven may forgive you your trespasses.

But if ye do not forgive, neither will your Father which is in heaven forgive your trespasses.

Phantom Foes

JUST to take life lightly,
Gladly, for today,
Looking at things brightly,
How it clears the way!

If we would go singing,
Spite of loss or lack,
It would send cares winging,
Never to come back.

Could we but cease fighting
Dismal fears that throng,
Leave to heaven the righting
Of earth's every wrong.

Then we would see truly
Loveliness and light,
Earth would blossom newly
With our heart's delight.

Eden's ways would brightly
Dawn for you, for me,
Just by seeing rightly
Phantom foes would flee!

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—This is a true story which, if fictionized, would make magazine editors edge you toward the door, adjust your tie and suggest dropping around next summer. It began in a shabby genteel boarding house in West Fifty-seventh street, so characteristic of the 90's. She was studying art. He was a young mining engineer.

There were idyllic strolls in the moonlit park and hand-holding on the front stoop. Then came his first big job—a call to South Africa for three years. She would gladly wait for him to return and her life became a drab and agonizing wait for the mail man.

For a year his letters were glowing with the fervor of his devotion. And then one evening at dinner she opened an envelope, turned white and slumped to the floor. It read: "I have learned I can live without you. It is best that we discontinue all communication."

Time wrought its unfailing healing, and after several years she married another. She was happy, but woman's most cherished possession, pride, was hurt. Her husband understood and was indifferent to her casual flirtations. She was trying to see if she had lost her charm.

No further word had ever been received from the man in South Africa. Her husband prospered, and with this prosperity came travel to all corners of the world—even South Africa—and wherever she was her eyes were constantly searching the crowds for him.

The old wound festered and became an obsession. She was fairly certain her love for one who had grievously hurt her was dead, but more than anything else she wanted to see him again—just to make sure. In moments of introspection there had been fleeting doubts.

A few weeks ago she sat at a window of her home, idly watching a building excavation next door. Among the workmen, she saw a figure swinging a pick who seemed familiar. At the same instant he looked up and their eyes met. It was he. And her husband, arriving a few minutes later, will never know why she greeted him so rapturously.

Free filling stations for pocket lighters are in a half hundred stores around town. A press agent, aching for a little newspaper space, concocted the idea for a theater lobby, not thinking it would become popular.

A devoted first nighter and his wife, who have not missed a premiere this season, kept track of their theatrical expenses up to date. It totals $915 and they have seen 60 shows. Most experienced theatergoers, however, do not care for opening performances. They would rather see them after they have been running a week and the crudities are ironed out. If one sees one first night crowd, he sees all. They rarely vary—the critics, the agency proprietors, the costumers, those who think first nighting constitutes celebrity, friends of the players, the rail birds, and the aromatic gentlemen who act as "angels."

The Rialto owes the veteran George M. Cohan, another thump on the back. This season he brought out his own musical comedy—of which he was author, director and producer—at popular prices. He proved again that an excellent performance can be given at that price and, what is more important, proved it could be presented without one suggestive line or off-color situation. In the welter of cursing and deliberate flings at perversion this season, the novelty was as refreshing as stepping out of a soggy night club into the bracing tang of the seaside.

There was an unusual appeal for the first nighters in Cohan's newest star, Polly Walker, who thrilled and danced through her part without a mistake, but who visibly trembled like an aspen leaf. That sort of nervous eagerness usually presages success.

Metropolitan phobias lead to one thing and another. A rich lady at a hotel lives in perpetual dread of germs and insists every employe who enters her apartment wear sanitized rubbed gloves. One must be rich to indulge such idiocy. If you are poor, off you go to a coo-coo castle with the rest of the Napoleons.

FASHIONS—DOCTORS

By Herbert Kaufman

FOR the first time in a hen's age fashions and physicians seem to agree.

Doctors now declare that the physical exposure dictated by current styles will tend to make women stronger than men.

They distinctly don't approve of Miss Netticoat and her famous petticoat—not to mention the ankle-length flannels, knitted skirts, thick stockings, high shoes, heavy corsets, chemises, fascinators, dolmans and miscellaneous folderols in which young Nancy daily garbed herself.

Calves, like lambs, it seems, are best raised in the open with plenty of sunlight and air.

The higher the skirt, the fewer the chances for coughs, colds, housemaid's knee and a hundred other ills that presumably originated in reticent limbs.

A far cry from the girls' boarding school at which Capt. Marryat saw panties on the piano. Or to a historically famous occasion when the royal chamberlain snootily rejected a public gift of silk stockings for his mistress, with the statement that "the Queen of Spain has no legs."

For ages the female figure was wrapped in mystery and yardage. Present-day imagination can't imagine how the race survived its former clothing cocoons—the sealed bedrooms of yesterday and hermetically shut parlors where "company" gaped and yawned in unventilated solemnity.

And yet such conditions produced housewives with sufficient energy to rear a dozen youngsters, make their clothes, cook their meals, darn, mend, bake, churn, do the family wash and snatch spare minutes for church, quilting, a peep at Dickens and a glimpse of Godey's Ladies' Book.

And lots of them are still alive at eighty.

Survivors of that generation have something to say for its coarser flour, plainer meals, active lives, early hours, calm backgrounds—for stair climbing and the regular use of Shank's mare.

Hothouse civilization has yet to make a complete case against that simpler and rugged period.

OH, THESE WOMEN

By Leola Allard

A LADY in New Jersey saw the neighborhood tailor shop in flames the other night as she was returning from a movie. She left her escort and dashed into the building, coming out with her $5,000 fur coat tucked under her arm. She barely escaped.

That's all she cared for sables.

A Denver woman was assured the other night by her family bootlegger, whose face beamed when he told it, that not a single one of his customers had the flu, although there was an epidemic in the neighborhood.

But, anyway, they don't get the flu.

A six-year-old child in Los Angeles came home and threw her books on the table. "That new teacher," said she, "isn't teaching us as much as we learned last year, mother, but she is such a good sport."

The German prince who was to marry Gloria Vanderbilt, encountered financial difficulties, and is reported to be hunting another American heiress.

If it is a question of letting a prince or a million slip through one's fingers, a girl would get more warmth out of the coin. Then she can get a prince of an American husband for nothing.

Women, I have noticed, are taking their stock losses with a smile, and you'd be surprised how many of them are gam'ling on the market.

Yet in Chicago last week a big brokerage house issued orders to keep women out of the place during business hours. The reasons they gave were that women ask too many questions, make eyes, expect immediate attention when they have only a few shares of stocks, and keep asking to be reassured as to what the market is going to do when even the Lord doesn't know.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

You blame your children because they do not provide it.

There are many instances when men and women do not give the financial aid they might easily provide their parents.

In most cases men and women with families have a hard time to get along—life is a struggle.

The things they must do without, the luxuries their families must forego may be causing them sorrow and regret.

But every parent has a right to think that children will not permit them to suffer through lack of necessities.

On the other hand, parents have no right to expect more, if their sons and daughters have all they can do to get along.

Parents too often do not realize the difference in living costs.

They do not consider the increased demands in education which must be provided children who are to take a responsible place in the world.

Perhaps your son or daughter is thinking of you more than you have any idea, but to get the off-spring on its feet seems first consideration.
